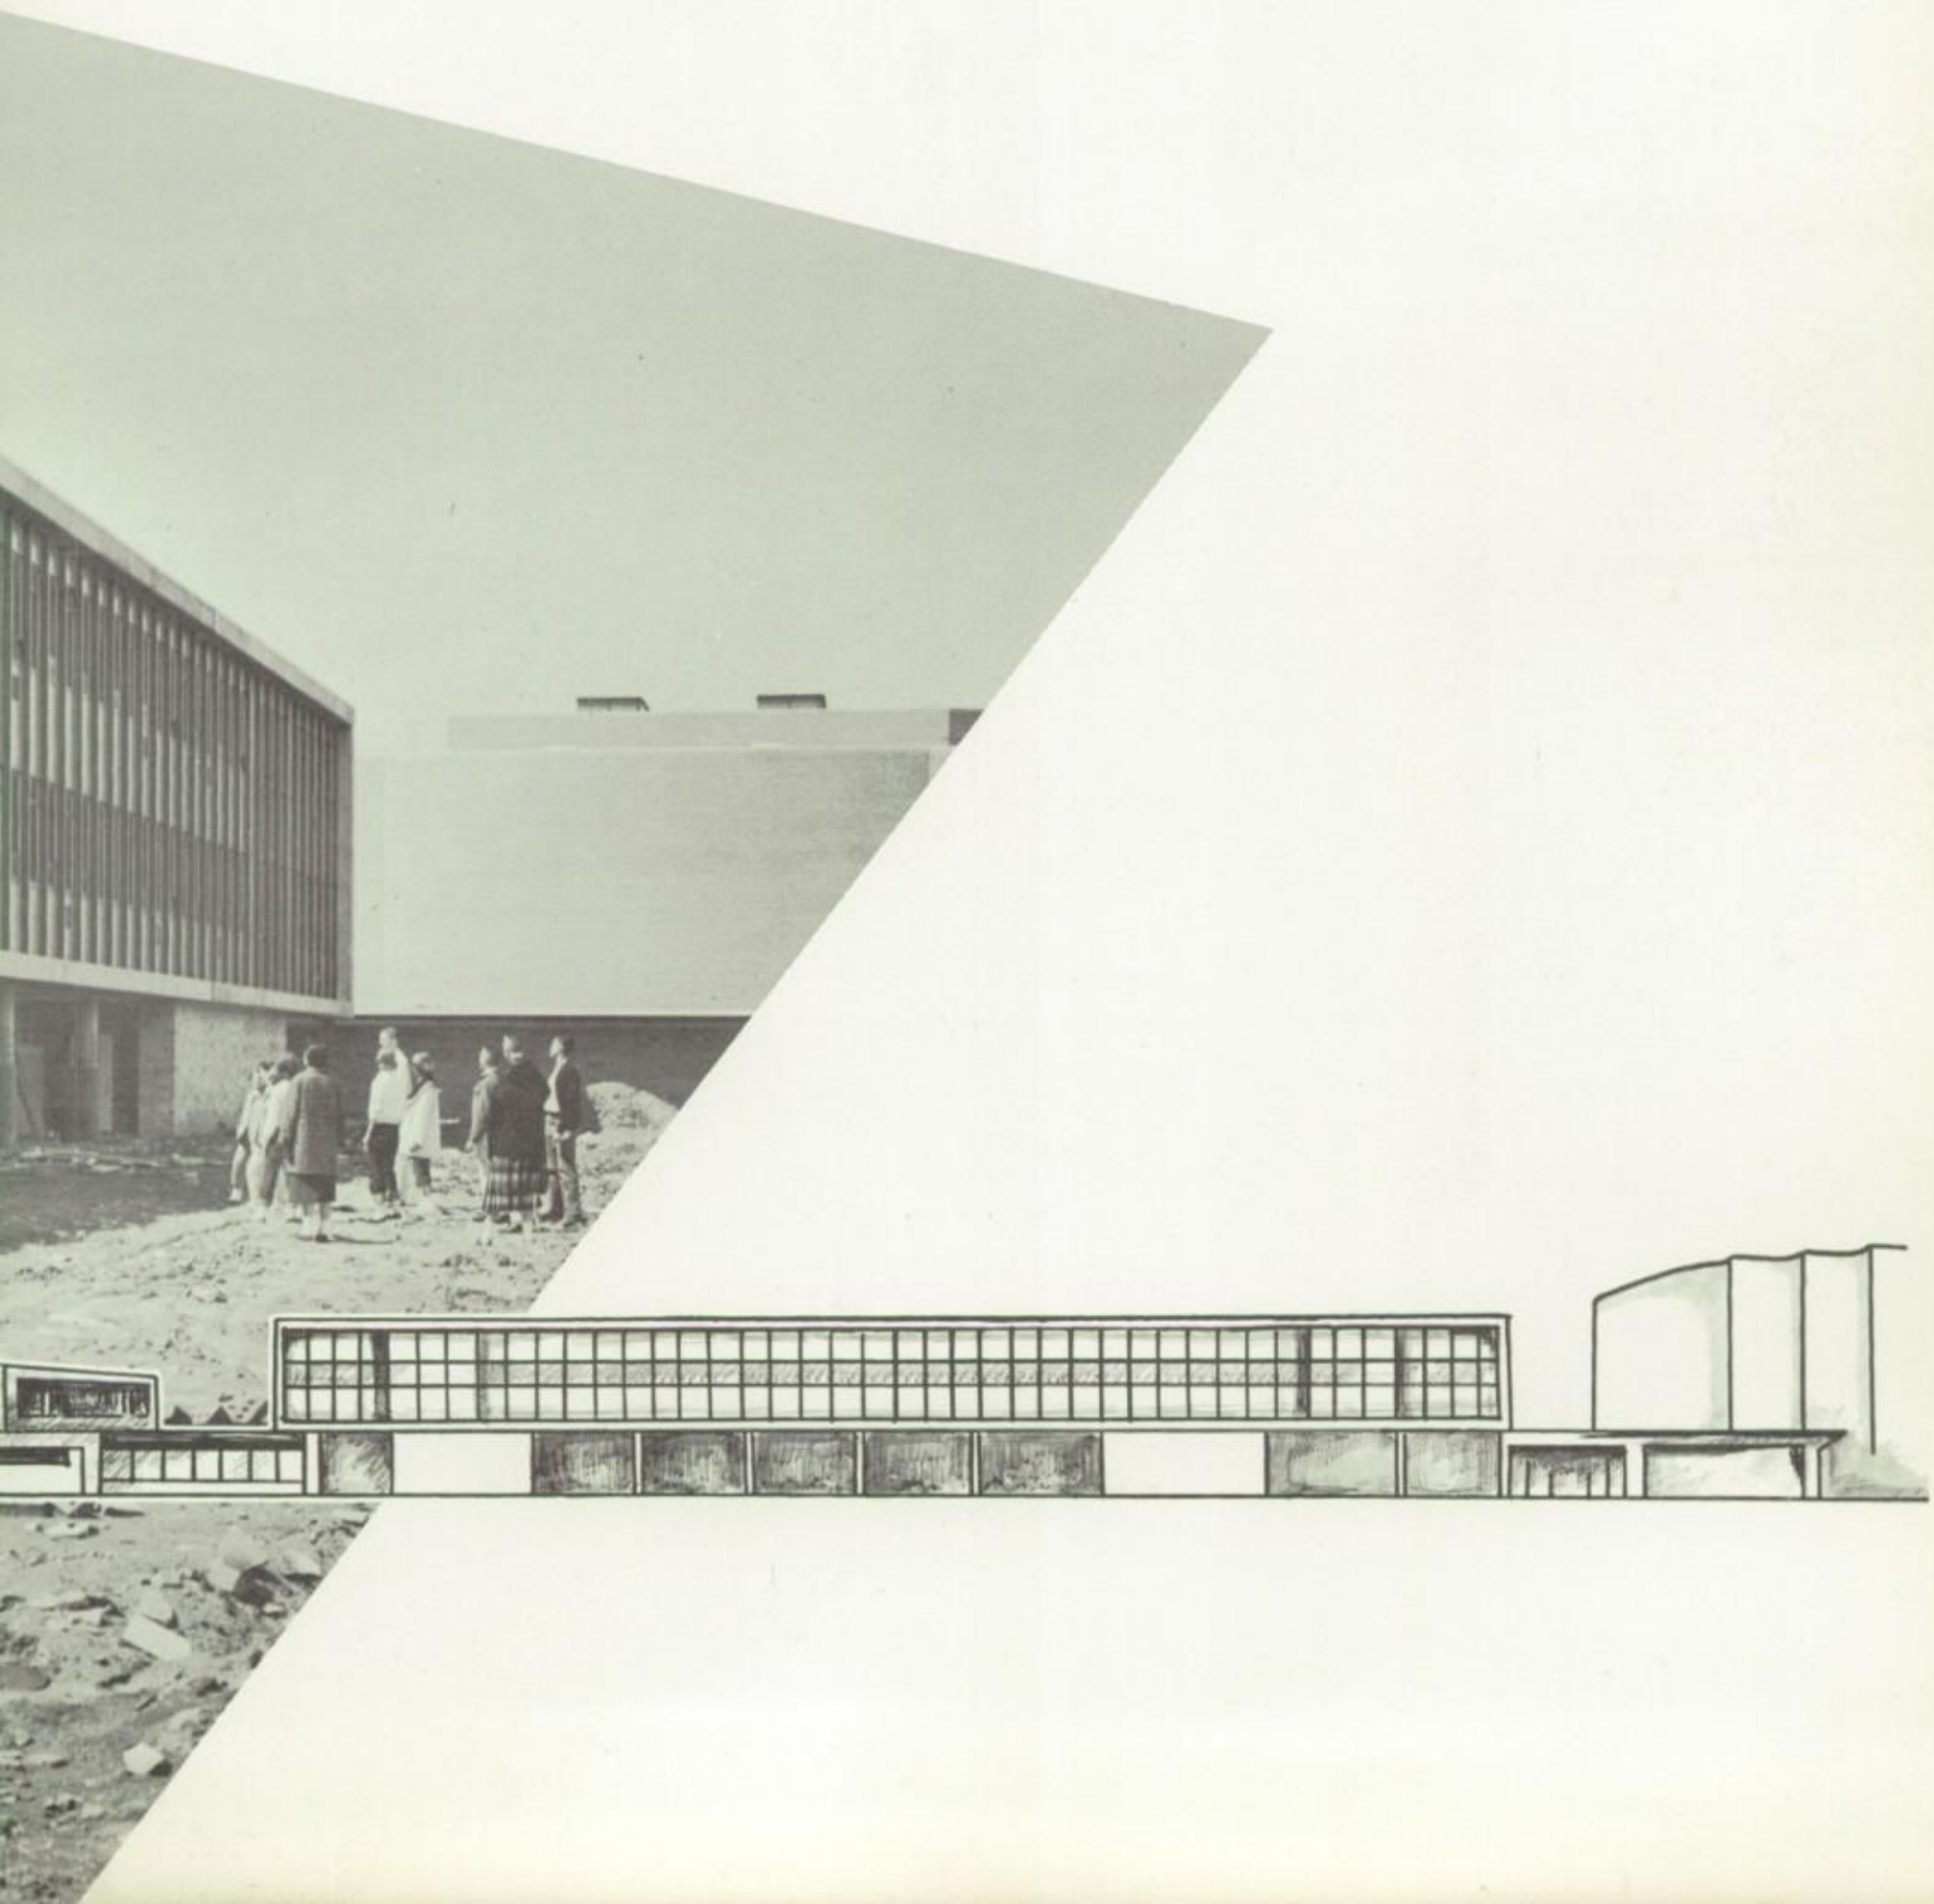
Blueprint for Growing Expectations

As we watched the beautiful new Moline Senior High School develop from a blueprint into the actual modern structure that now appears on Twenty-fifth Avenue between Forty-first and Thirty-fourth Streets, we realized that we too had developed step by step this past year. With growing expectations and high ideals we viewed the growth of the building and anticipated its completion as we did our school activities. Just as the architects meticulously designed the blueprint for the building, our faculty engineered a blueprint for developing us into well-rounded, intelligent young adults. In learning, organizing, appreciating, growing physically, and gaining experience under the guidance of our teachers, we strived to fulfill the aims of our high school year.



Days At School

Were Filled With Studying, Fun, And Friendship

Sputniks split the atmosphere, Asian flu and the "Chemise look" swept the country, but the unique life at MHS progressed with the main topic of conversation being "next year at the new high school."

With just thirty minutes to "enjoy" lunch, the students packed the cafeteria and overflowed to the benches in the halls and the ever popular stair steps during one of the five separate lunch periods. "Music to munch by," piped over the loud speaker system, was occasionally shattered by a booming voice announcing coming events or the sound of a tray spilling its contents on the worn tile floors.

"Through rain or snow, we go, go, go," because students lacked sufficient gymnasium facilities. The chant continued with occasional interjections of "next year . . . ", as the MHS'ers trudged to Turners Hall, the YMCA swimming pool, or the Field House for their gym classes.

An enlarged counseling program was inaugurated this year, with two counselors for each grade level. Disciplinary problems and absences were handled by the respective counselors as well as advice and help in planning the future careers of the students.

"Shifts" occurred, not only in lunch periods, but also in the assembly and lyceum programs. As the 428 members of the sophomore class alone filled the auditorium, the programs were duplicated for the junior-senior assembly.

With an increased number of college-bound students the trend toward enrollment in college preparatory courses proportionately increased. From the sixteen required and seventy-eight elective subjects offered, schedules of varied content were formed with a trend towards English, advanced mathematics, and science courses.

Early morning silence was broken with the arrival of students in varied excuses for transportation. Roadsters with duals, customized hotrods, and sleek late model cars lent the typical teenage atmosphere to MHS.

"Hey Joe, wait up!" "Have you got your trig done?" "Wasn't that a hard exam yesterday?" These were common expressions as the tardy bell sounded amid the confusion and rush to first period classes.

Mixed emotions filled the proud Moline students as final report cards were distributed. Talking of "next year . . . " and "This summer I'm going to . . . " filled the air as the MHS'ers left behind them the old building filled with years of sentiment and looked toward future years in the "new high school."

Despite crowded conditions in the halls these students seem to be enjoying their lunch on the steps.

Scrambling for the ball as it hangs in mid-air are these members of a girls' gym class.

Three o'clock! School's out! "Step aside, we're coming through," these students are saying as they "pour" out the door.

"Braving a blizzard" these boys make a dash for the door as they come from the annex between classes.

Reflecting contrasting moods, these two students sit in study hall, one a scholar, one a dreamer.

In Clubs, Sports, Fine Arts

We Learn to Work Together in Harmony

Chaos reigned as 1475 summer, suntanned students crowded into the worn MHS halls for the first day of classes. The Medalist, All-American school newspaper, the Line O'Type, welcomed them with news of freshman impressions of high school, additions to the teaching staff, and predictions for the year.

In the feminine student division, the Girls' Athletic Association, the Home Economics Club, and Y-Teens greeted prospective members at the annual "welcome picnics." Sports-wise the students were looking toward homecoming. Their hopes, however, were dashed as the Alleman Pioneers, substituting for the East Moline Panthers, victims of Asian flu, downed the Maroon gridsters in frigid folly.

Parental pranks highlighted the family nights at mother-daughter, dad-daughter GAA playnights, while representative language clubs — French, Latin, and Spanish — met to discuss and learn more of foreign culture and customs, such as the traditional breaking of the pinata.

Ending the fall activities calendar, Hi-Y organizations prepared to take over the city for a day, as the local "Youth in Government" program materialized. Full of the Yuletide spirit, the music department presented the annual Christmas vespers, and the LO'T-Student Congress Santa Claus presented toys to underprivileged children in the Share Joys, Buy Toys campaign.

Fun-packed holidays faded as the final semester exams filled the minds of students during the first month of the new year. Beginning the second semester, preparations were made for the production of "Brigadoon," the last musical production presented in the old building. Chants of "On to state, Moline!" echoed around the school as the Maroons advanced to the sectional division of the state basketball tournament.

Announcement, Senior Ball, baccalaureate, commencement, and Swing-out committees were chosen to prepare for senior graduation exercises, as rehearsals began for the senior ADC production of "Arabian Daze" with talent varying from "Ed Sullivan II" to "Handmaidens of Scheherazad."

Final adieus spoken, hopes and wishes for the future extended, the students parted for varied summer activities, ending the term for the old building as a place of high school learning.

Language clubs offer many hours of enjoyable activity and increase the students' knowledge and understanding of foreign peoples.

Many hours were spent by boys out for sports, affording many exciting hours for the student body in cheering them on to victory.

Taking part in a typical play rehearsal are the members of the cast for "Brigadoon."

"Decking the halls" in the Christmas spirit are members of the Student Congress, "hanging" the tree, which stood in front of the auditorium.

Teachers

Counsel Us In Drafting Future Plans

Preparing for the future, MHS students in addition to required courses chose elective subjects which afforded them the opportunity of studying for the trade or profession they sought to follow.

Discussing careers and plans for further education with the counselors, the MHS student obtained advice on choosing a field for which he showed aptitude. Planning a course of study which would enable him to proceed to this chosen field was also completed with the cooperation of the counselors and advisers.

Home economics, both as a class and an organization, offered the girls the opportunity to become better acquainted with homemaking skills. The family living courses sought to instruct them in preparing for a home and family.

For the male portion of the student body, the industrial and technical knowledge of the instructors coupled with work in "the shop," offered the boys a basic understanding of a trade useful to them.

Futures in business administration required study in the basic classes of bookkeeping, accounting, mathematics, and the technical courses in typing, shorthand, transcription, and office practice. To practice what was taught, a class in distributive education required the student to find and maintain a job of his choice and to report on this position and any advancement or trouble encountered.

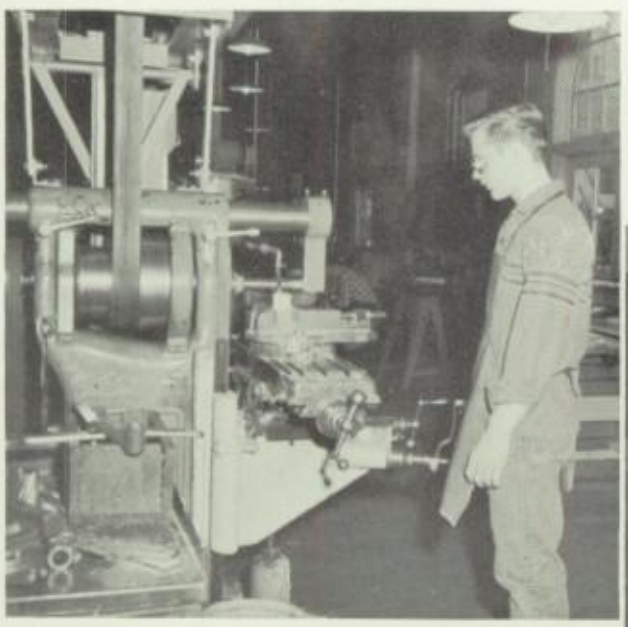
As the time grew near to begin thinking of advanced study, the "college day" program offered students an opportunity to meet and discuss with the various college representatives, requirements and facilities of the varied institutions.

The time finally arrived when the hours of study would "pay off" as scholarship tests were administered.

With the final report card and plans for the future bright, the students, parting to proceed on the road to advanced study and practical applications of the knowledge gained in seeking their future, met the future confidently.

Gaining practical experience, a member of the Distributive Education class works on the sign printing at Block and Kuhl's.

Snip and sew! as students learn the handy craft of making their own clothes.



Learning the operation of the large machines in the industrial arts building trains boys for future work in industry.

Clickety clack! Keys fly as students learn to type for future use in school and secretarial work.

"This is what we have to offer," the college representative tells interested seniors during a conference on College Day.

Through Organizations

We Make Our Place In the Community

Overlooking the community is the high school from which come future leaders in the community.

Through their participation in community affairs, the MHS students learn to serve and to share. In the Hi-Y "Youth In Government" program, the boys filled the various city political positions and presided over the municipal functions, thus "learning by doing."

Civics classes also studied the functions of a city by interviewing various officials and taking part in a mock trial with the students serving as the jury.

That "it is better to give than to receive" the MHS student learns in various ways. A gift is remembered whether it be a gift of time spent in helping others less fortunate or a present to an underprivileged child. The firm hand of MHS was extended to the community in the form of Future Nurses aiding in the Augustana speech class for children. Warm hearts made possible the annual Christmas party where underprivileged children's faith in Santa Claus was rewarded as the "jolly gent" presented them with gifts.

Participating in Junior Red Cross and serving in and contributing to community drives molded the character of the students to function with the community as a unit. Sharing responsibility of the Kiwanis Peanut Day sale, the Jaycees' Pancake supper, and the muscular dystrophy campaigns, gave the MHS'ers a chance to serve and work with the community.

Junior Achievement, with its miniature corporations, gave the student a chance to meet the industrial and professional community on a common basis. To meet and discuss, design and produce, sell and divide profits, were not the only objectives of this organization. Meeting the people of the community and developing a spirit of consideration for others, their needs and their views, made the venture a "community project."

" . . . and five thousand teenagers met and listened as Jesse Owens spoke." The Quad-City Youth Rally, held in the field house, proved successful in uniting the young people in a spirit of brotherhood and dedication of service to the welfare of mankind.

Above all, God molds a model community. The Holy Week Services gave students a chance to reconfirm their faith in God and rekindle the desire to be "a good and faithful servant." To be able to "get-along-with-others" is a part of this design for the student, not to be merely a part of the community, but to be an active part of the community.

Serving the community by entertaining children at the Augustana speech clinic are members of Future Nurses Club.

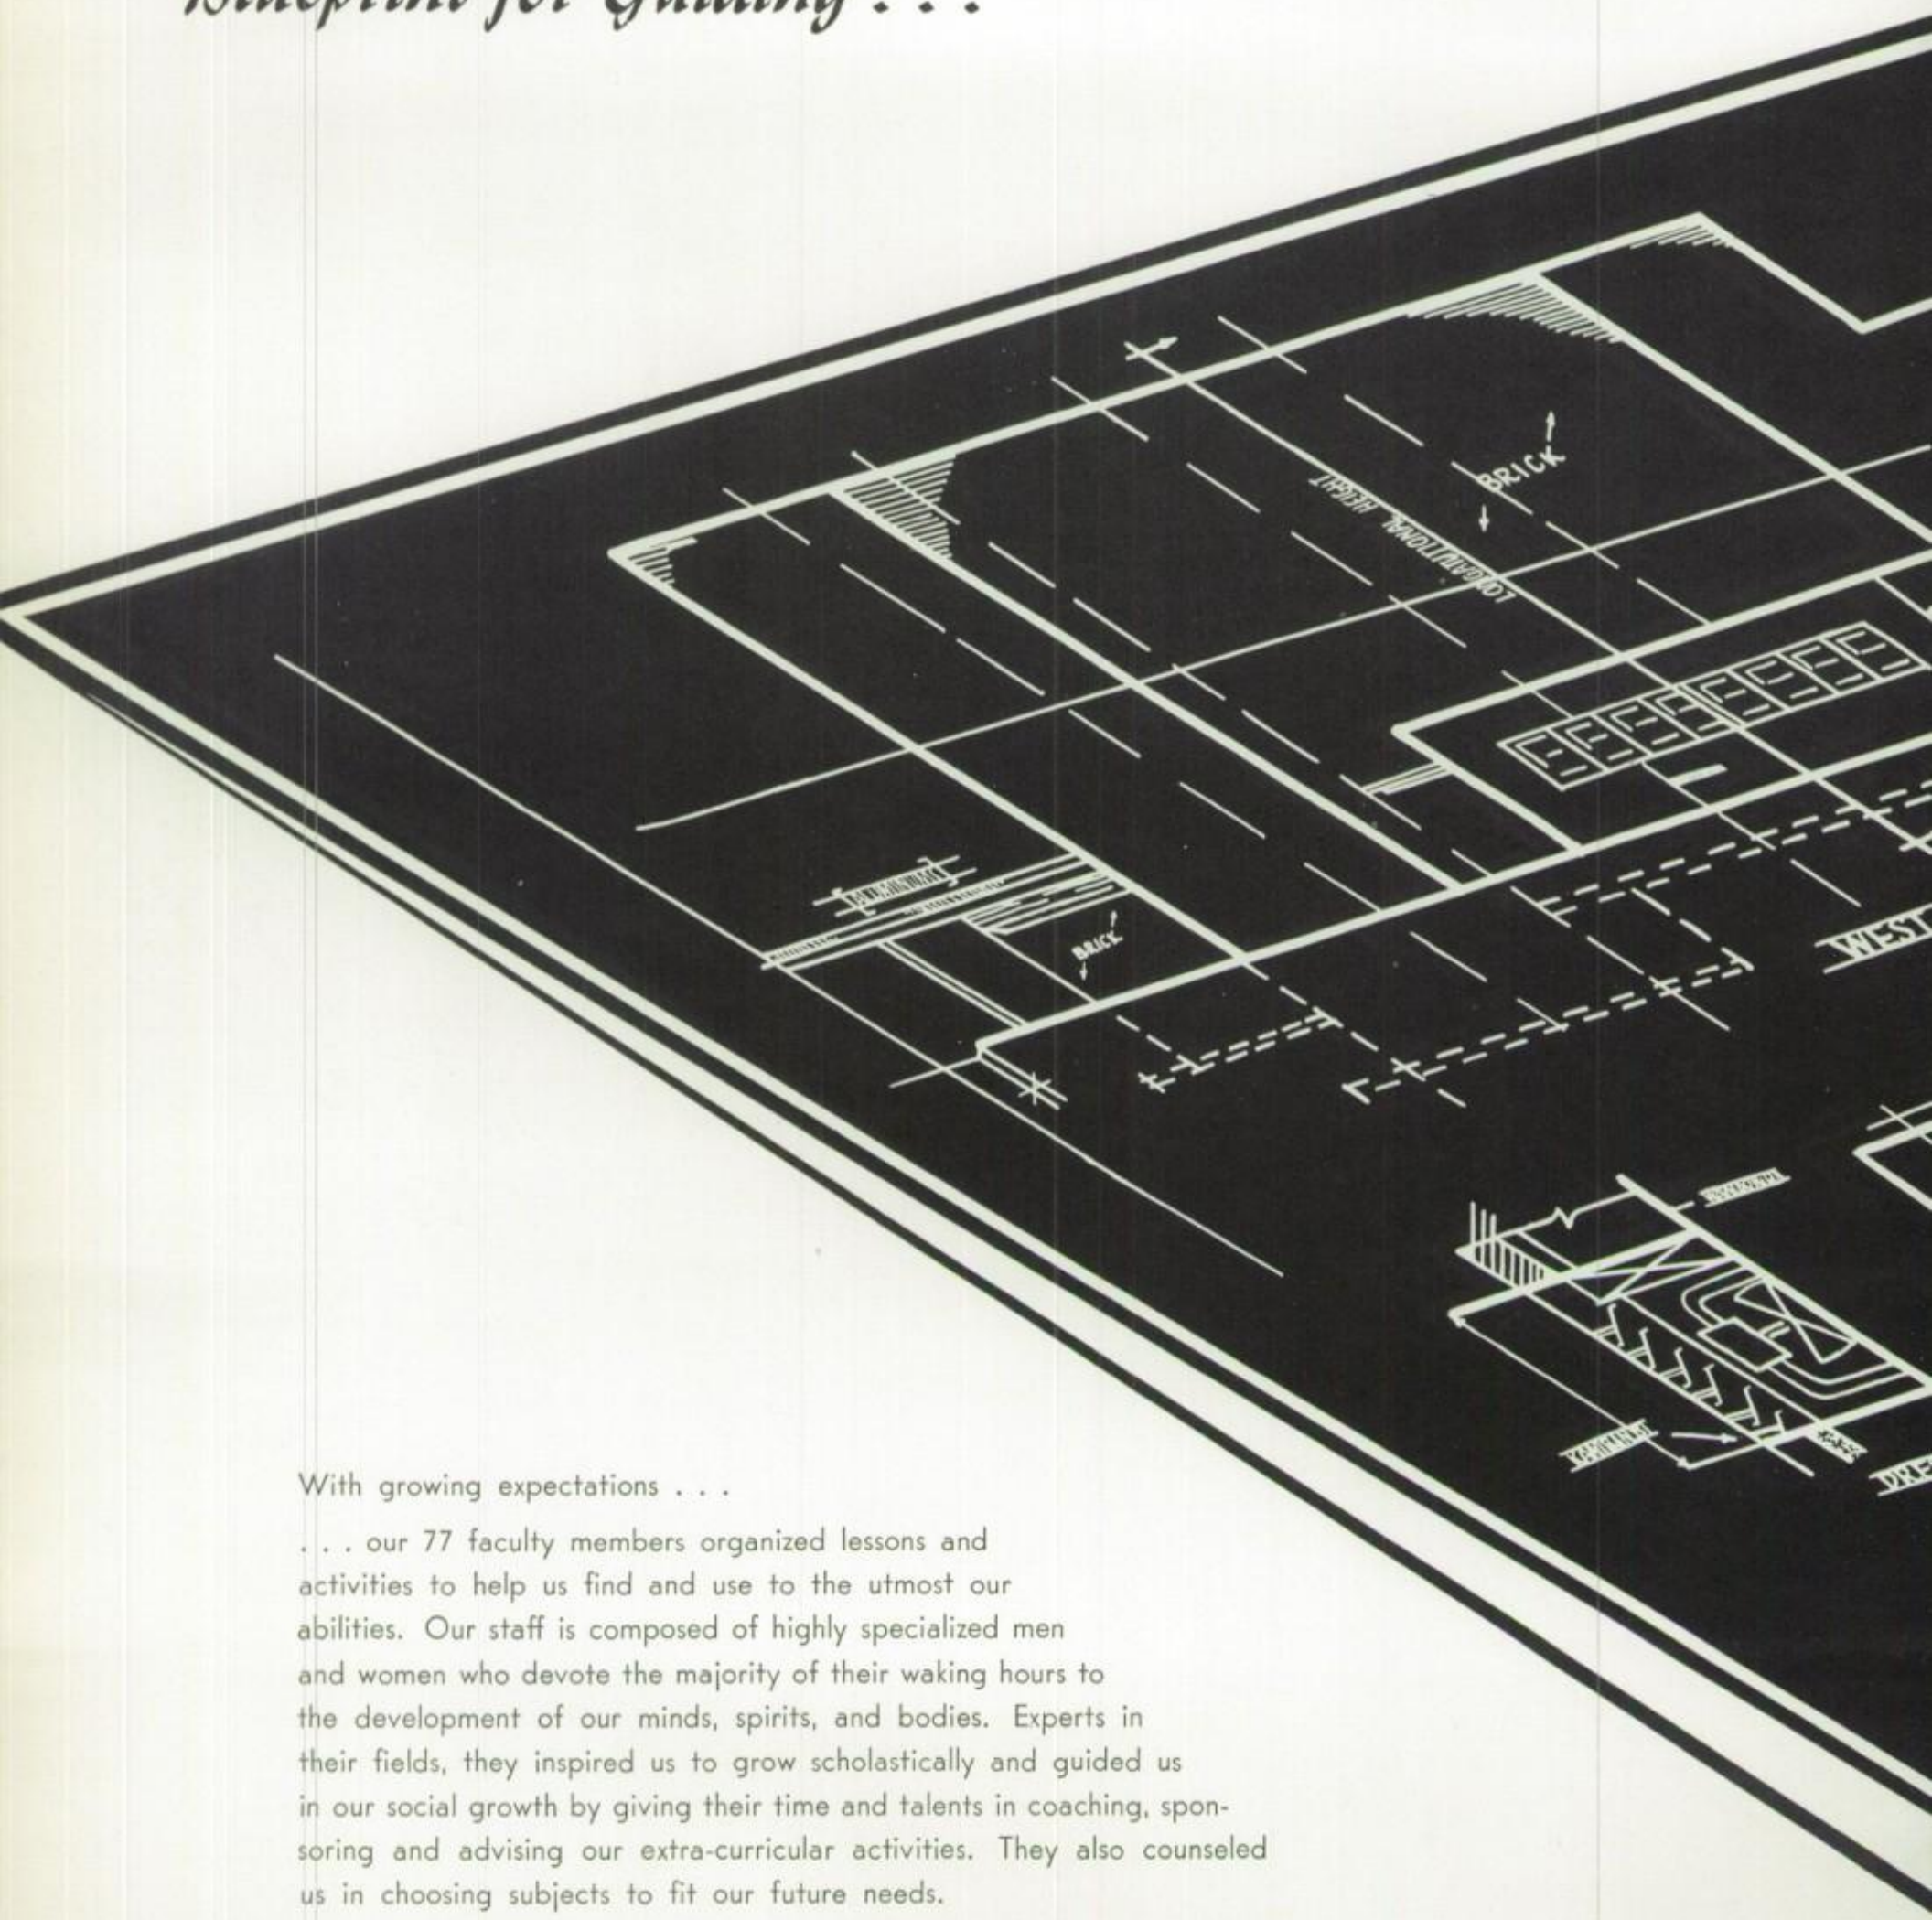
"I do solemnly swear . . . " Civics students pledge to judge fairly while serving as the jury for a mock trial.

Christ is risen! Students attended their own church services sponsored by Hi-Y and Y-teens during the week before Easter.

"Youth In Government" gave the Hi-Y boys a chance to run Moline for a day. Pictured here are the candidates for mayor, Stuart Nelson, Don Fritz, and Bill McCormick as they look over plans for the day.

"Stand back or I'll shoot!" this young man exclaims as he plays with a Christmas toy purchased with money collected during the Share Joys — Buy Toys campaign.

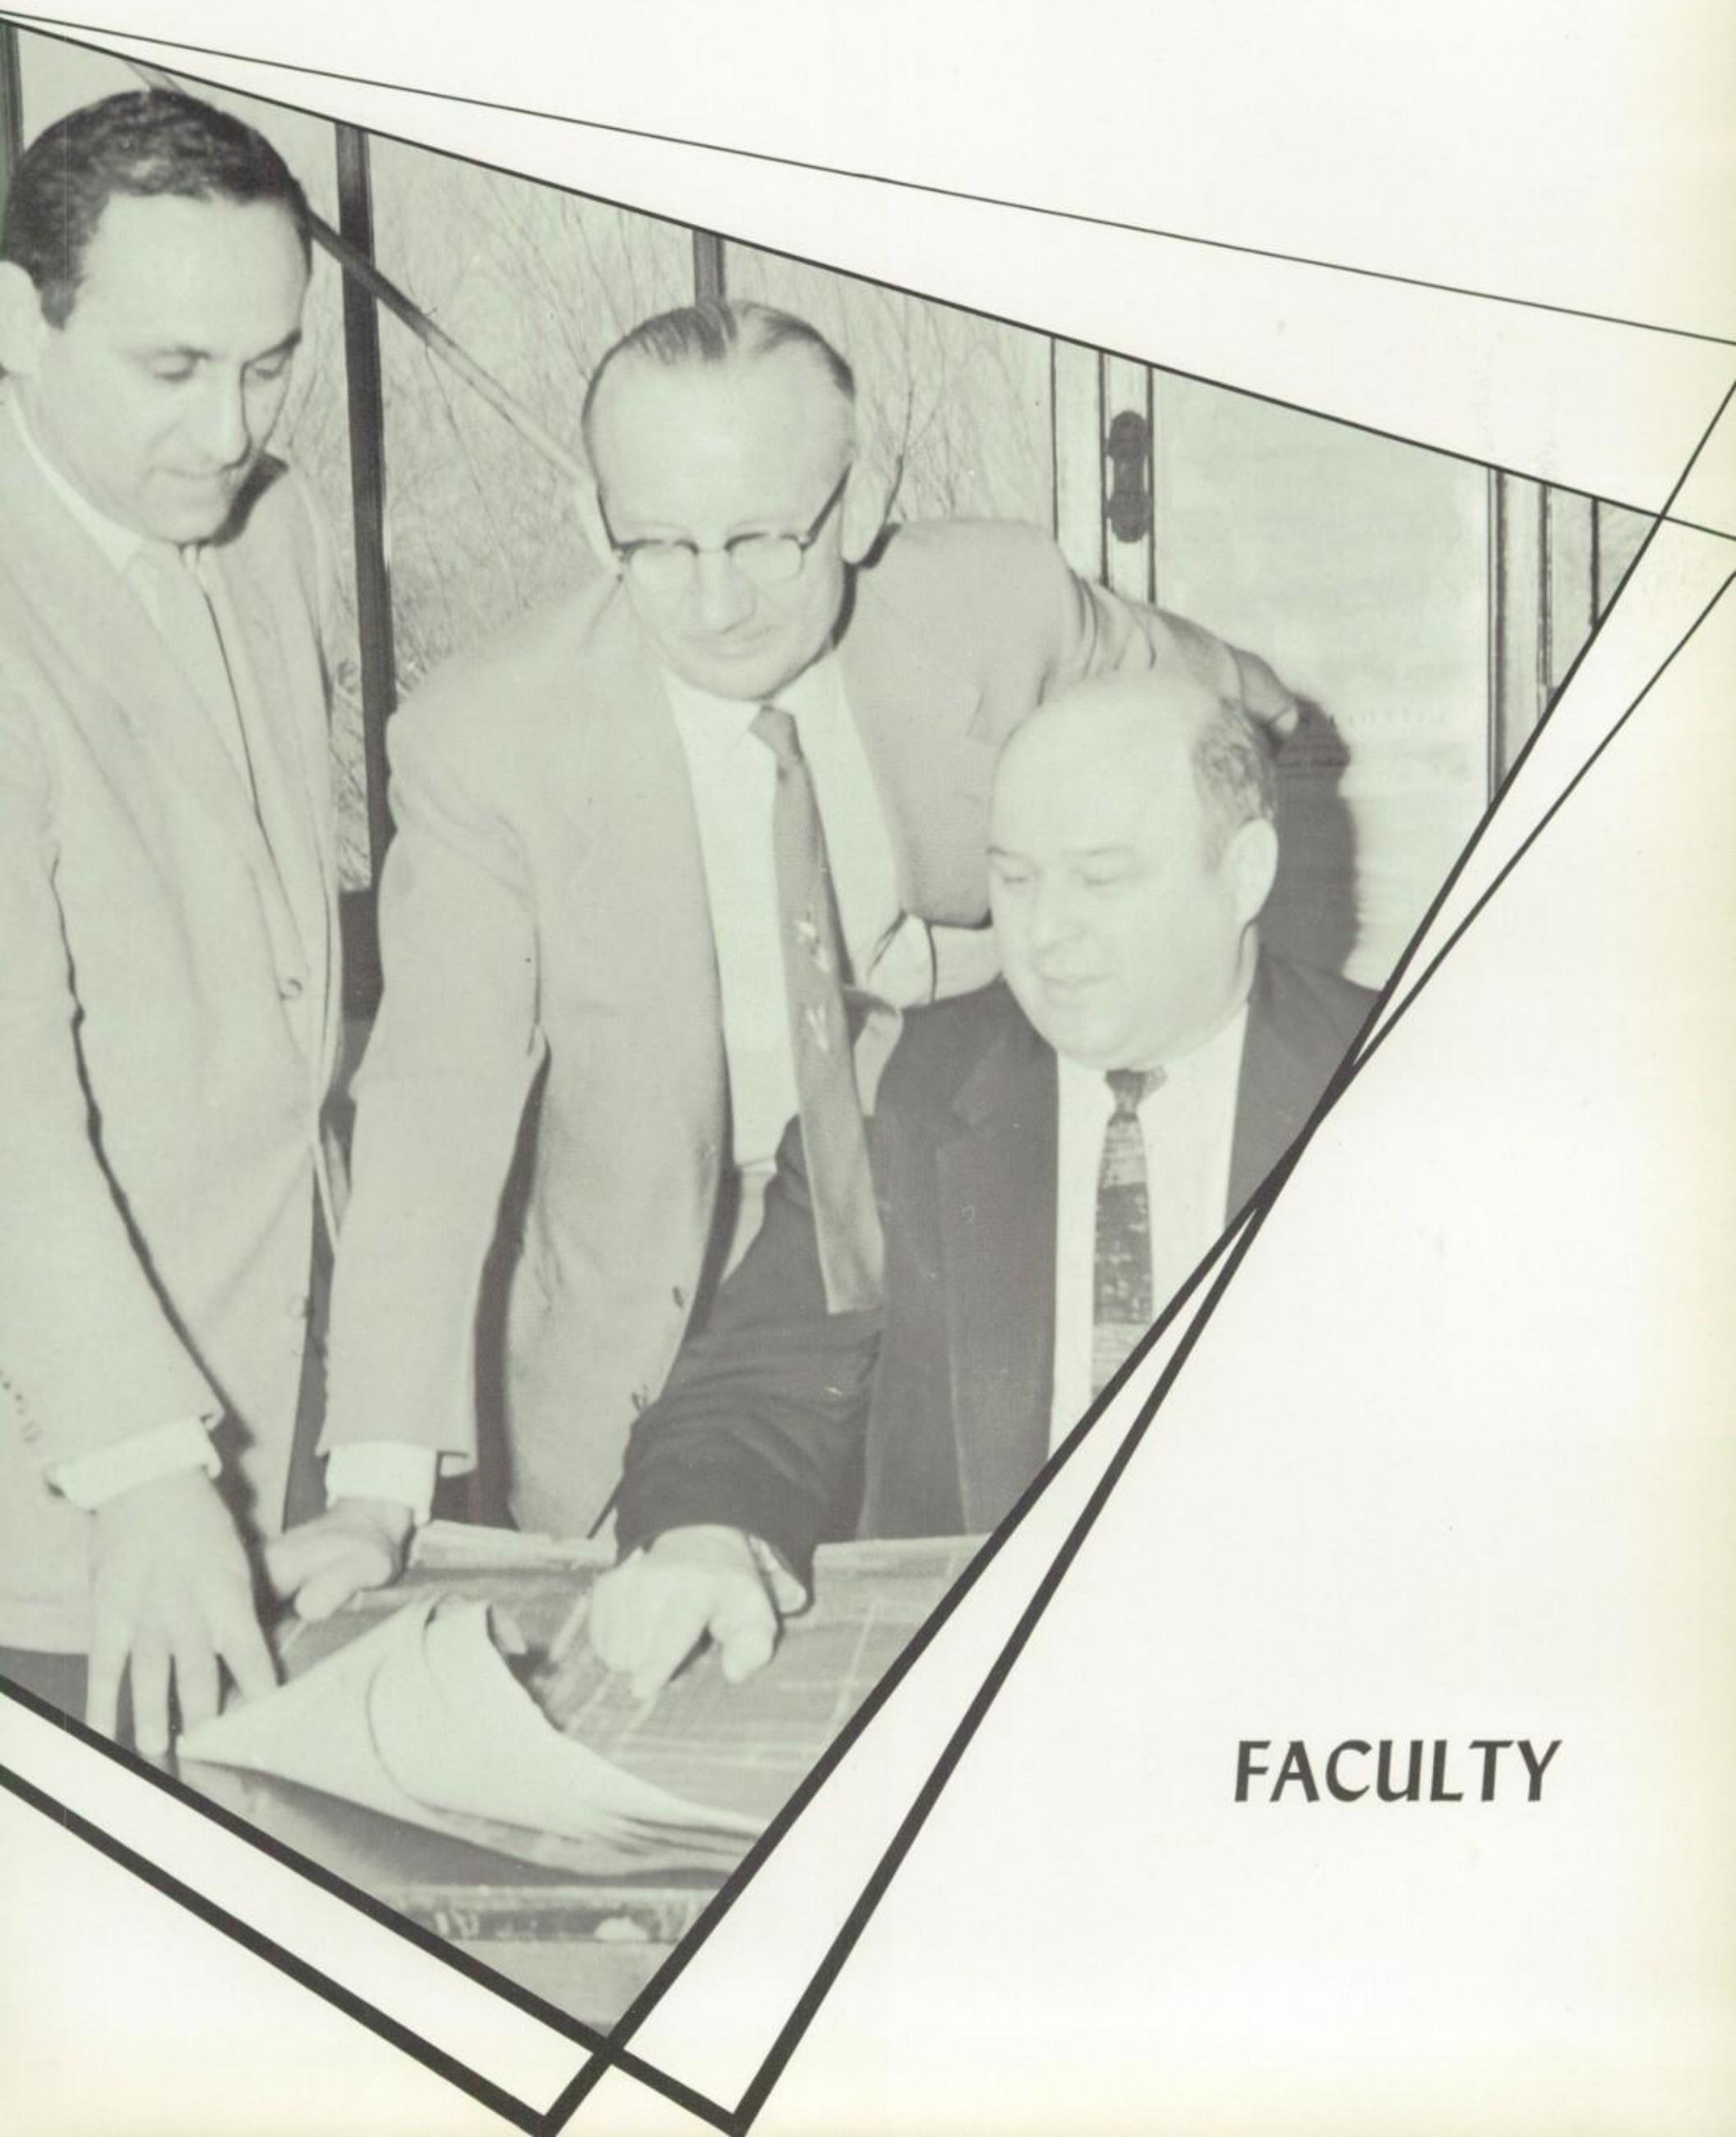
Blueprint for Guiding . . .



With growing expectations . . .

. . . our 77 faculty members organized lessons and activities to help us find and use to the utmost our abilities. Our staff is composed of highly specialized men and women who devote the majority of their waking hours to the development of our minds, spirits, and bodies. Experts in their fields, they inspired us to grow scholastically and guided us in our social growth by giving their time and talents in coaching, sponsoring and advising our extra-curricular activities. They also counseled us in choosing subjects to fit our future needs.

These exacting engineers eagerly await entrance into the new high school where the excellent facilities will place at their disposal newer and more effective tools to carry on their work.



FACULTY

Serving his third year as superintendent of the Moline educational system, Dr. Dwight M. Davis executes the policies decided upon by the Board of Education in addition to working with school personnel, preparing the school budget, and recommending to the Board for their consideration plans to improve the educational program.

Equipping the new senior high school, hiring teachers, planning the construction of new buildings and housing of the junior high schools to relieve the growing enrollment are a few of Dr. Davis's problems. He also presides over Board meetings and lends his assistance in whatever matters concern the educational system.

Administration Directs School's Progress

Determining the policies of things to come, the Board of Education members meet at least once every month. They are elected to perform their various duties on the Board, they suggest improvements, and they also visit schools because of their interest in the welfare of the school system. Taking time out from weighty decisions are members of the Board of Education and administrators. Seated, Marvin Schiess, administrative assistant; Dr. Dwight M. Davis, superintendent of schools; Dr. R. E. Ruggles; Mrs. Helen Parker, president; Melvin Reynolds, assistant superintendent; Henry Parsons. Standing are Stoddard Small, R. V. Shrader, Roger Potter, and Merritt Faust.

A monthly visitation by the supervisors and directors of special activities is made to offer suggestions to help the classroom teachers in their particular subject. Looking over supervisory plans are Frederick Swanson, music; Philip Mahoney, director of special services; E. Lee Barnett, director of vocational education; Ray Smith, director of physical welfare; Marie Ringquist, supervisor of art education; Geneva Henss, school nurse; Roberta Lynch, director of audio-visual education.

Mr. Lamont Hultgren, serving his second year as principal of MHS, is a man of many responsibilities. This busy man amiably supervises the physical operation of everything within the building which includes the counselors, teachers, student body, cafeteria, and custodians. Managing all athletic and dramatic events throughout the year is also a big job for this cheerful man.

Chief among his many duties is seeing that the curriculum is the best possible for Moline's teenagers and maintaining a satisfactory teaching personnel. In a friendly helpful way he works with both faculty and students, lending his advice in whatever way he can.

School Adds Two Counselors For Each Class

Assisting the principal in administrative work, making out student schedules, working with the counselors, and caring for the welfare of the students in the building are the main duties of Mr. Norman Ziebell, assistant principal.

This year marks the beginning of a new kind of counseling system at MHS. Two counselors, a man and a woman, direct each class. Each counselor has become acquainted with students in a personal way, which enables the student to feel free in talking over his problem.

In addition to counseling, they assist students with their programs, check on absences, and help in planning class social functions. The senior counselors aid the class members in picking colleges and notify them of the scholarships for which they are eligible. Each senior counselor also keeps informed about job vacancies in the area to assist prospective graduates in gettting positions. The junior and sophomore counselors help the underclassmen in selecting the proper courses for their careers.

The English curriculum has several objectives: to teach young people to express themselves clearly in spoken and written language and to read with understanding and comprehension. MHS offers thirteen courses which require the services of sixteen teachers.

All sophomores are required to study a general English course, which includes composition and grammar and the reading of favorite classics and the best books. Construction of plot, reality of characters, and historical setting are aspects of each classic which the class members enjoy studying and discussing. Each student is required to write eight themes a semester and read four books for book reviews. Building strong vocabularies is another important factor in sophomore English work.

An honors course provides more reading and more writing than the standard course. To enroll in this course, a student must express a desire to be a member of the group, have the recommendation of his previous English teacher, and have a straight A record in English and high marks in other subjects.

In the junior year students have a chance to develop particular interests in English by choosing one of the four available courses. American literature, in which prose and poetry by American authors are studied, attracts a large portion of the college-bound students. This year two classics, "The Scarlet Letter" by Hawthorne and "Moby Dick" by Melville, and the literary magazine, "The Atlantic Monthly," were added to the course. An investigative paper is required as well as themes and book reports.

An honors course is also offered for juniors. This year there were two such classes. Another special junior course is English-J in which the work in American literature classes is combined with the study of journalism and training for work on the publications.

Communications, a course in which grammar and composition are studied but in which the reading is more general than in the other courses, is also offered. Oral English is required of all juniors, one period weekly being devoted to giving individual speeches, panel discussions, and reports.

Although senior English is elective, college-bound students generally enroll in English literature, in which they study Shakespeare, Milton, Stevenson, and Tennyson in addition to many other popular authors and poets. Composition, a one-semester course, is a study of grammar and theme writing which prepares pupils for college rhetoric. English contemporary is offered one semester for seniors. A one semester remedial reading course is offered to students who wish to improve their reading speed and comprehension.

The library, constantly used by English students, provides books for book reports and reference material for investigative papers. In the spring each English teacher submits lists of books to be ordered for department needs.

Individual social studies courses include world history, United States history, government, economics, business law, and commercial geography.

Sophomores are required to take world history, a study of the major cultures of the world with special stress upon the relationships of the past with the present. Juniors take United States history, a study of the United Nations and other world organizations as well as the complete history of the United States and the Latin American countries. Written reviews of historical books and a term paper are required in both history courses. Each senior must take a one-semester course in government. To become familiar with local election procedures, the party system, and the rights of citizens, the classes visit the city council, welfare office, local courts, and board of education. Every prospective graduate must pass an examination on state and national constitutions.

Geography, law, and economics are one-semester elective courses. Geography includes the religion, climate, population, natural resources, and form of government of all major countries; law considers contracts, taxes, real and personal property in relation to an average citizen engaged in typical business; economics concerns banking, international trade, insurance, and stock market operations.

Although mathematics is certainly a field in itself, its relation to other branches of science is emphasized; for example, the equation of algebra becomes an indispensable tool in physics and chemistry. Plane geometry is open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Advanced algebra stresses the equation as a means of solving problems. Solid geometry and trigonometry, offered to seniors primarily, concerns the "measurement" of three dimension figures. Seniors who need a review of basic math principles are required to enroll in a non-credit refresher math class.

Three elective science courses: biology, chemistry, and physics attract 522 students. In biology the student learns the fundamentals of plant and animal life, the use of the microscope and dissecting tools, and the recognition of local flora and fauna. In chemistry he learns the basic facts about composition of matter and its changes. In physics he learns modern scientific developments and the fundamentals of mechanics, heat, sound, light, magnetism, and electricity.

Industrial arts acquaints boys with basic ideas and skills of welding, auto mechanics, metal and woodworking, and drafting. Drafting includes mechanical and architectural drawing, tool and structural designing. Woodworking and cabinet making teaches the use of hand tools and the basic power tool operations. Machine shop helps boys to set up and operate basic toolroom machines and the vocational aspect of the shop.

Arts, Languages Add Culture

Developing a sense of awareness of his own sensitivity to beauty and good taste and confidence in expressing himself creatively is the objective of the art courses. Advanced classes study drawing, painting, three-dimesion construction, and printing; also illustration, advertising techniques, and sculpture. Crafts classes do creative work with leathers, metal, wood, glass, plastics, and jewelry. Pottery classes handle clay, creating original ceramic pieces.

More than three hundred students report daily for work in the vocal and instrumental music groups. Beginners' choruses learn breath control, correct diction, clear enunciation, and proper tone quality. Members of the girls' choir and operetta workshop, quartets, sextets, trios, and soloists are chosen by tryouts. The band and orchestra learn to play their instruments harmoniously, to develop smooth phrasing, and to master basic techniques.

Four years of Latin and two of French and Spanish help students to become acquainted with the language and customs of the country and to understand English words and sentence structure. This year two hundred-fifty enrolled in the four years of Latin. The first two years, students study basic word forms and vocabulary; the third, they translate Cicero's speeches; the fourth Vigil's "Aeneid." Translations, grammar, and conversation are emphasized in French and Spanish.

Home economics is based on the principle that the family is one of the major institutions with which education in a democratic society should be concerned. Foods and nutrition, clothing selection and construction, good grooming and enjoyment of leisure time are phases taught in foods and clothing, open to all girls. Family living is open only to seniors. Foods classes plan and prepare nutritious and well-balanced meals and learn the techniques of cooking. Clothing classes study color, design, and textiles. The girls progress from the making of a simple dress to a suit or coat. Family living teaches the meaning of marriage and child care. This course also considers home decoration, in which girls choose a house plan, furnishings, and a decorating scheme.

Typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, office practice, and distributive education comprise the courses in business education. Anyone may take typing, offered each year. Shorthand, open to juniors, prepares for advanced shorthand in the senior year. Bookkeeping is offered for two years, advanced bookkeeping in the senior year. Office practice is offered both semesters in the senior year. Office practice B concerns actual office stenographic work; office practice A emphasizes the operation of the basic office machines.

Distributive education prepares the student for careers in retailing or selling. Fifteen seniors enrolled in this year's DE course with Miss Ruth Vertrees as co-ordinator. Her picture appears in the English section, page 17.

Four years of physical education are required for graduation, sophomores meeting twice a week; juniors and seniors, three times a week. Seniors are also required to take first aid. Because the school lacks many physical education facilities, classes use the YMCA swimming pool, Turners gym, Wharton Field House, and Browning Field in addition to the high school gym. Exercises and group games played in the gym classes emphasize sportsmanship and the rules of the game. Students are placed in swimming classes according to their ability and know-how in the basic skills of swimming. Gymnastics classes add an interesting variation to the physical education program.

To learn to use a car safely and lawfully, pupils enroll in the driver training classes, each class meeting one hour a week. In the safety classes, which meet twice weekly, the students learn the fundamentals of driving. Four new dual control cars are supplied each year by local automobile dealers for student use. Early in the course, each student secures a temporary driving permit obtained by passing two preliminary tests. The four instructors prepare for their work by attending an intensive course in driver education sponsored by the Chicago Motor Club.

Mrs. Iva Owen is the co-ordinator of the educable mentally handicapped program. She assists the students in many ways, such as deciding the subjects they should take.

Administering first aid, aiding in dental inspection, keeping health records of the students, and promoting a healthful school environment is the job of the school nurse, Mrs. Geneva Henss.

Printing daily bulletins, handling all money transactions, operating the switchboard, answering telephones, keeping school records, managing a bookstore for the students and faculty, and checking attendance are a few of the many duties of the hard-working office staff.

Maintaining a neat, spotless school is the job of the custodians. They also repair and build useful things for the school. Providing wholesome, nutritious food is the job of the cafeteria workers. They arrive early each morning to prepare two menus for five lunch periods.

Checking the list of prospective graduates are the office force: Mrs. Madelene Denen, registrar; Mrs. Olive Hayden, bookstore manager; Mrs. Ethel Burt, bookkeeper; Mrs. Lucille Kendall, attendance secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Bjurstrom, secretary.

Without the help of Mrs. Emma Weckel, cafeteria director, and Mrs. Helen Weckel, bookkeeper, MHS students would be a mighty hungry group of teenagers.

Mr. Ralph Gaffney tries out the finished product of many hours of work which he and the other custodians have done in their spare time.

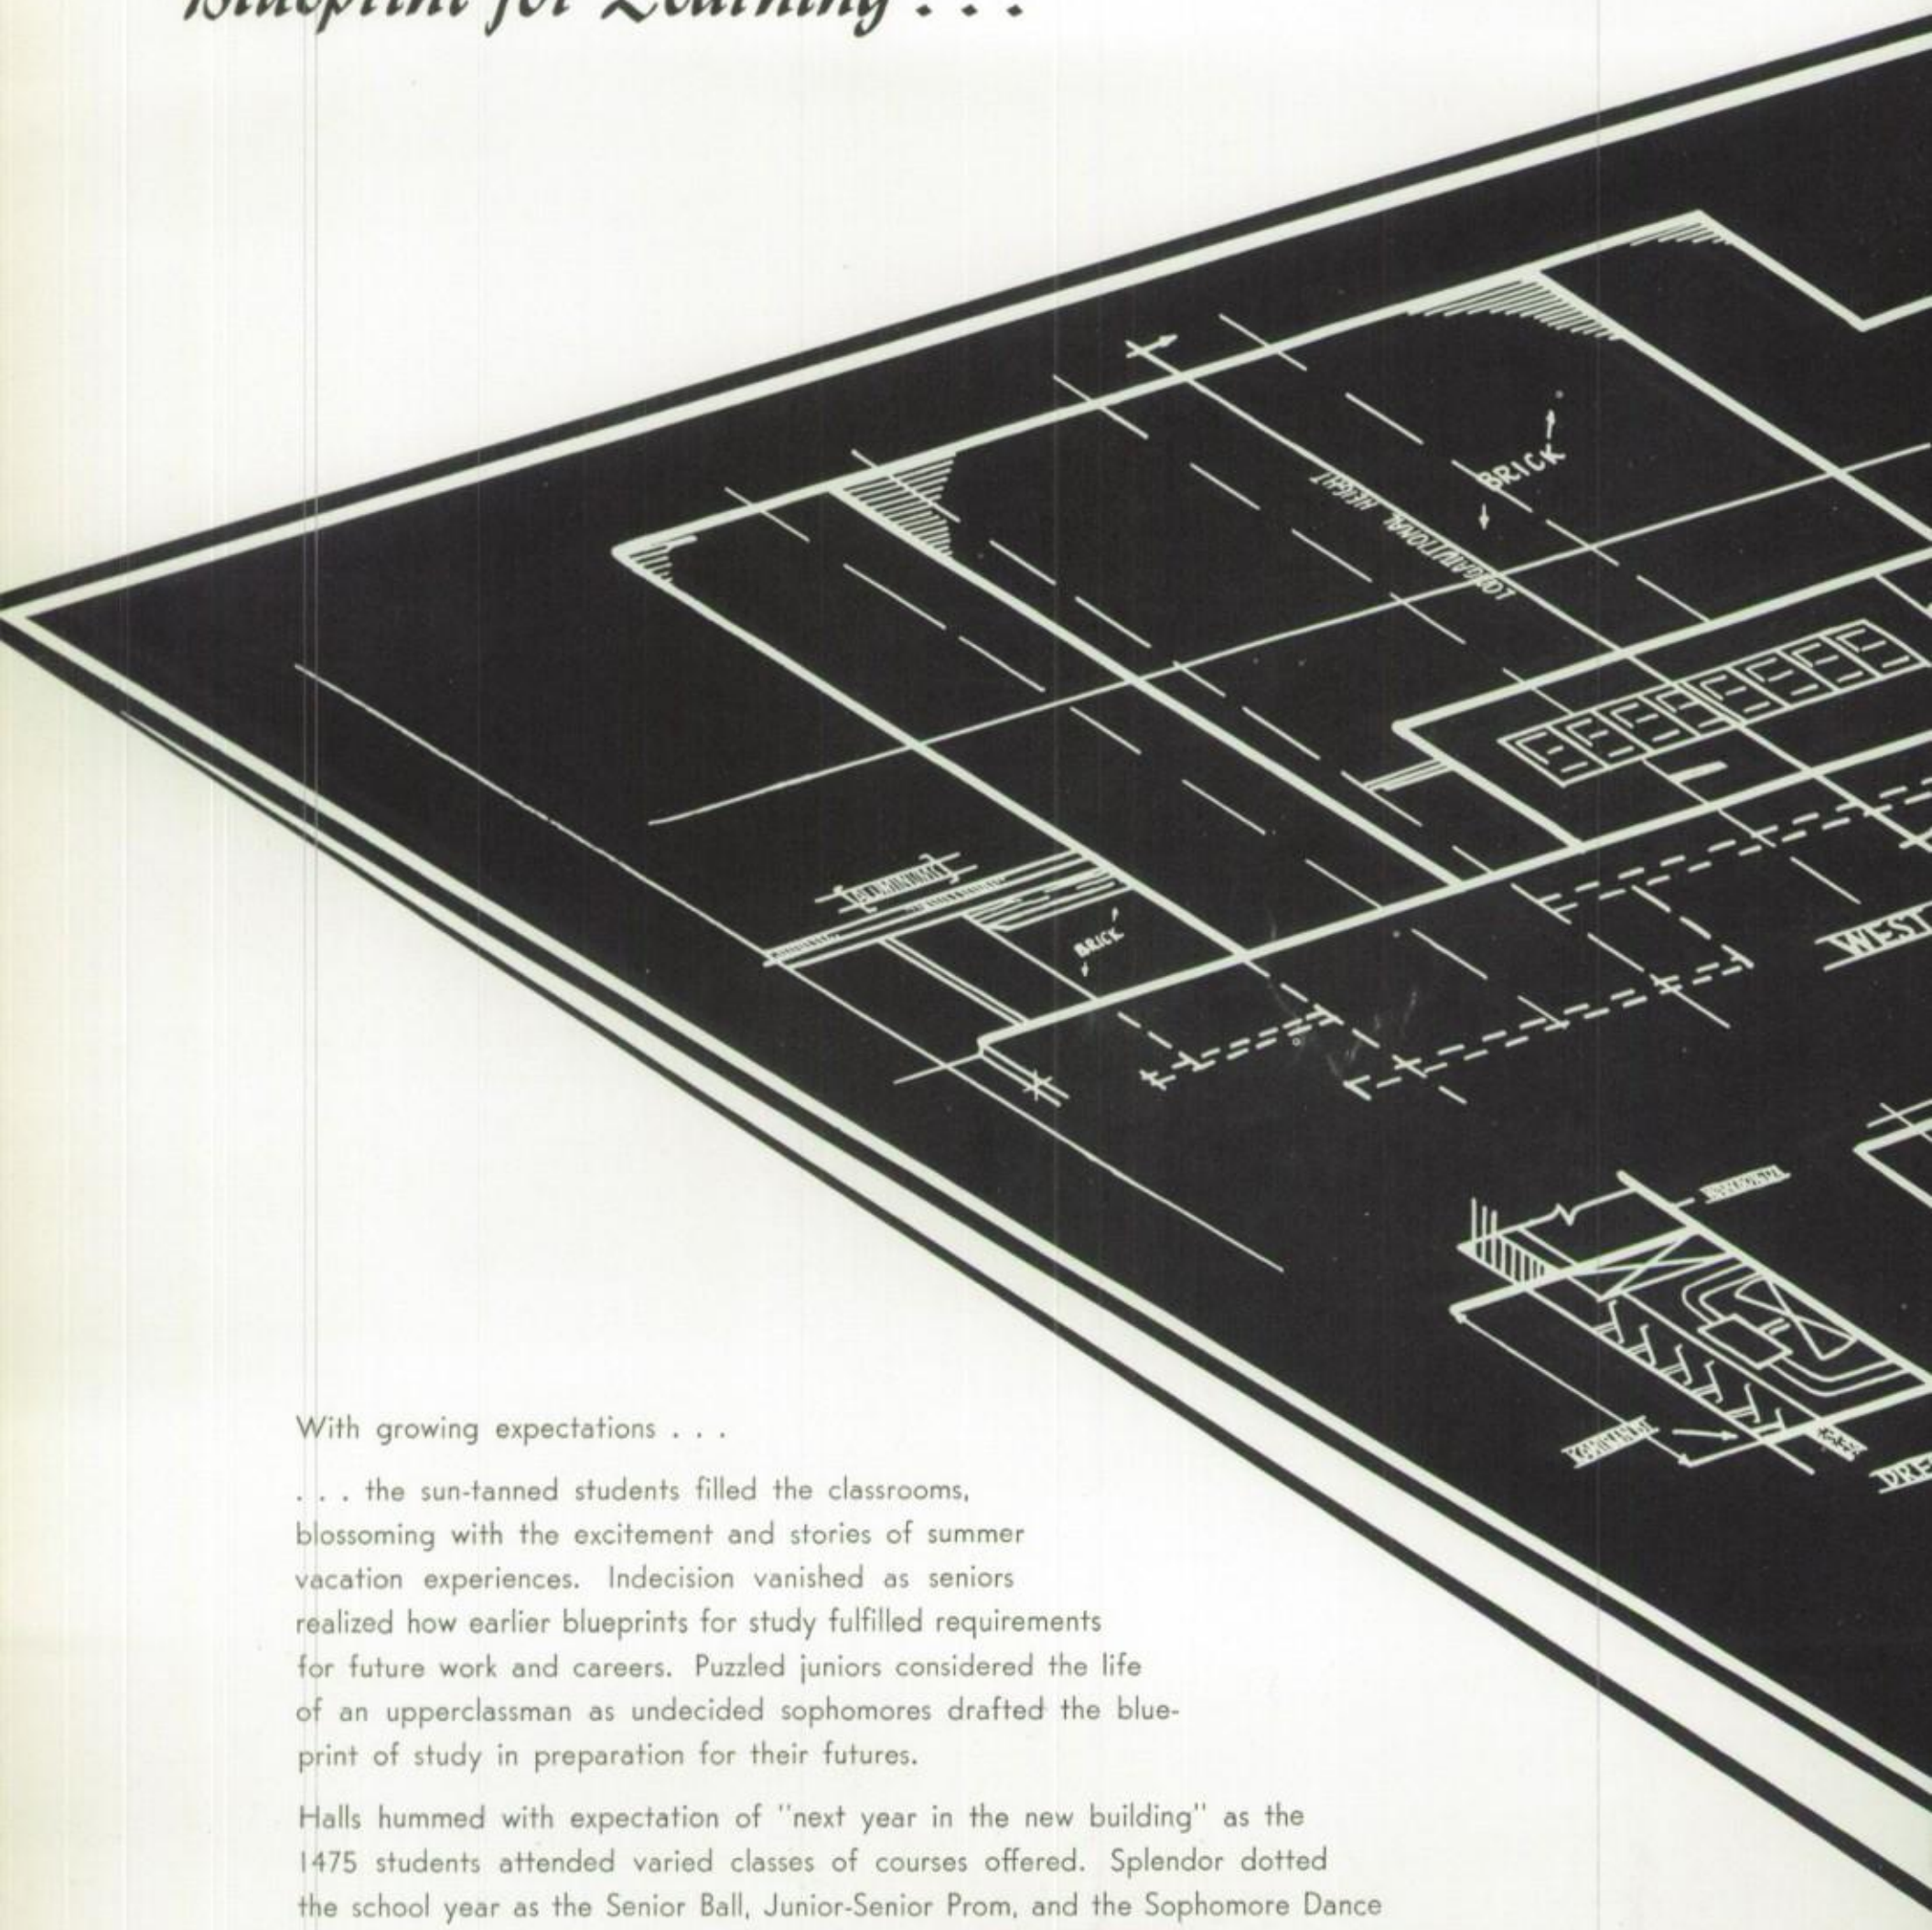
Blueprint for Learning . . .

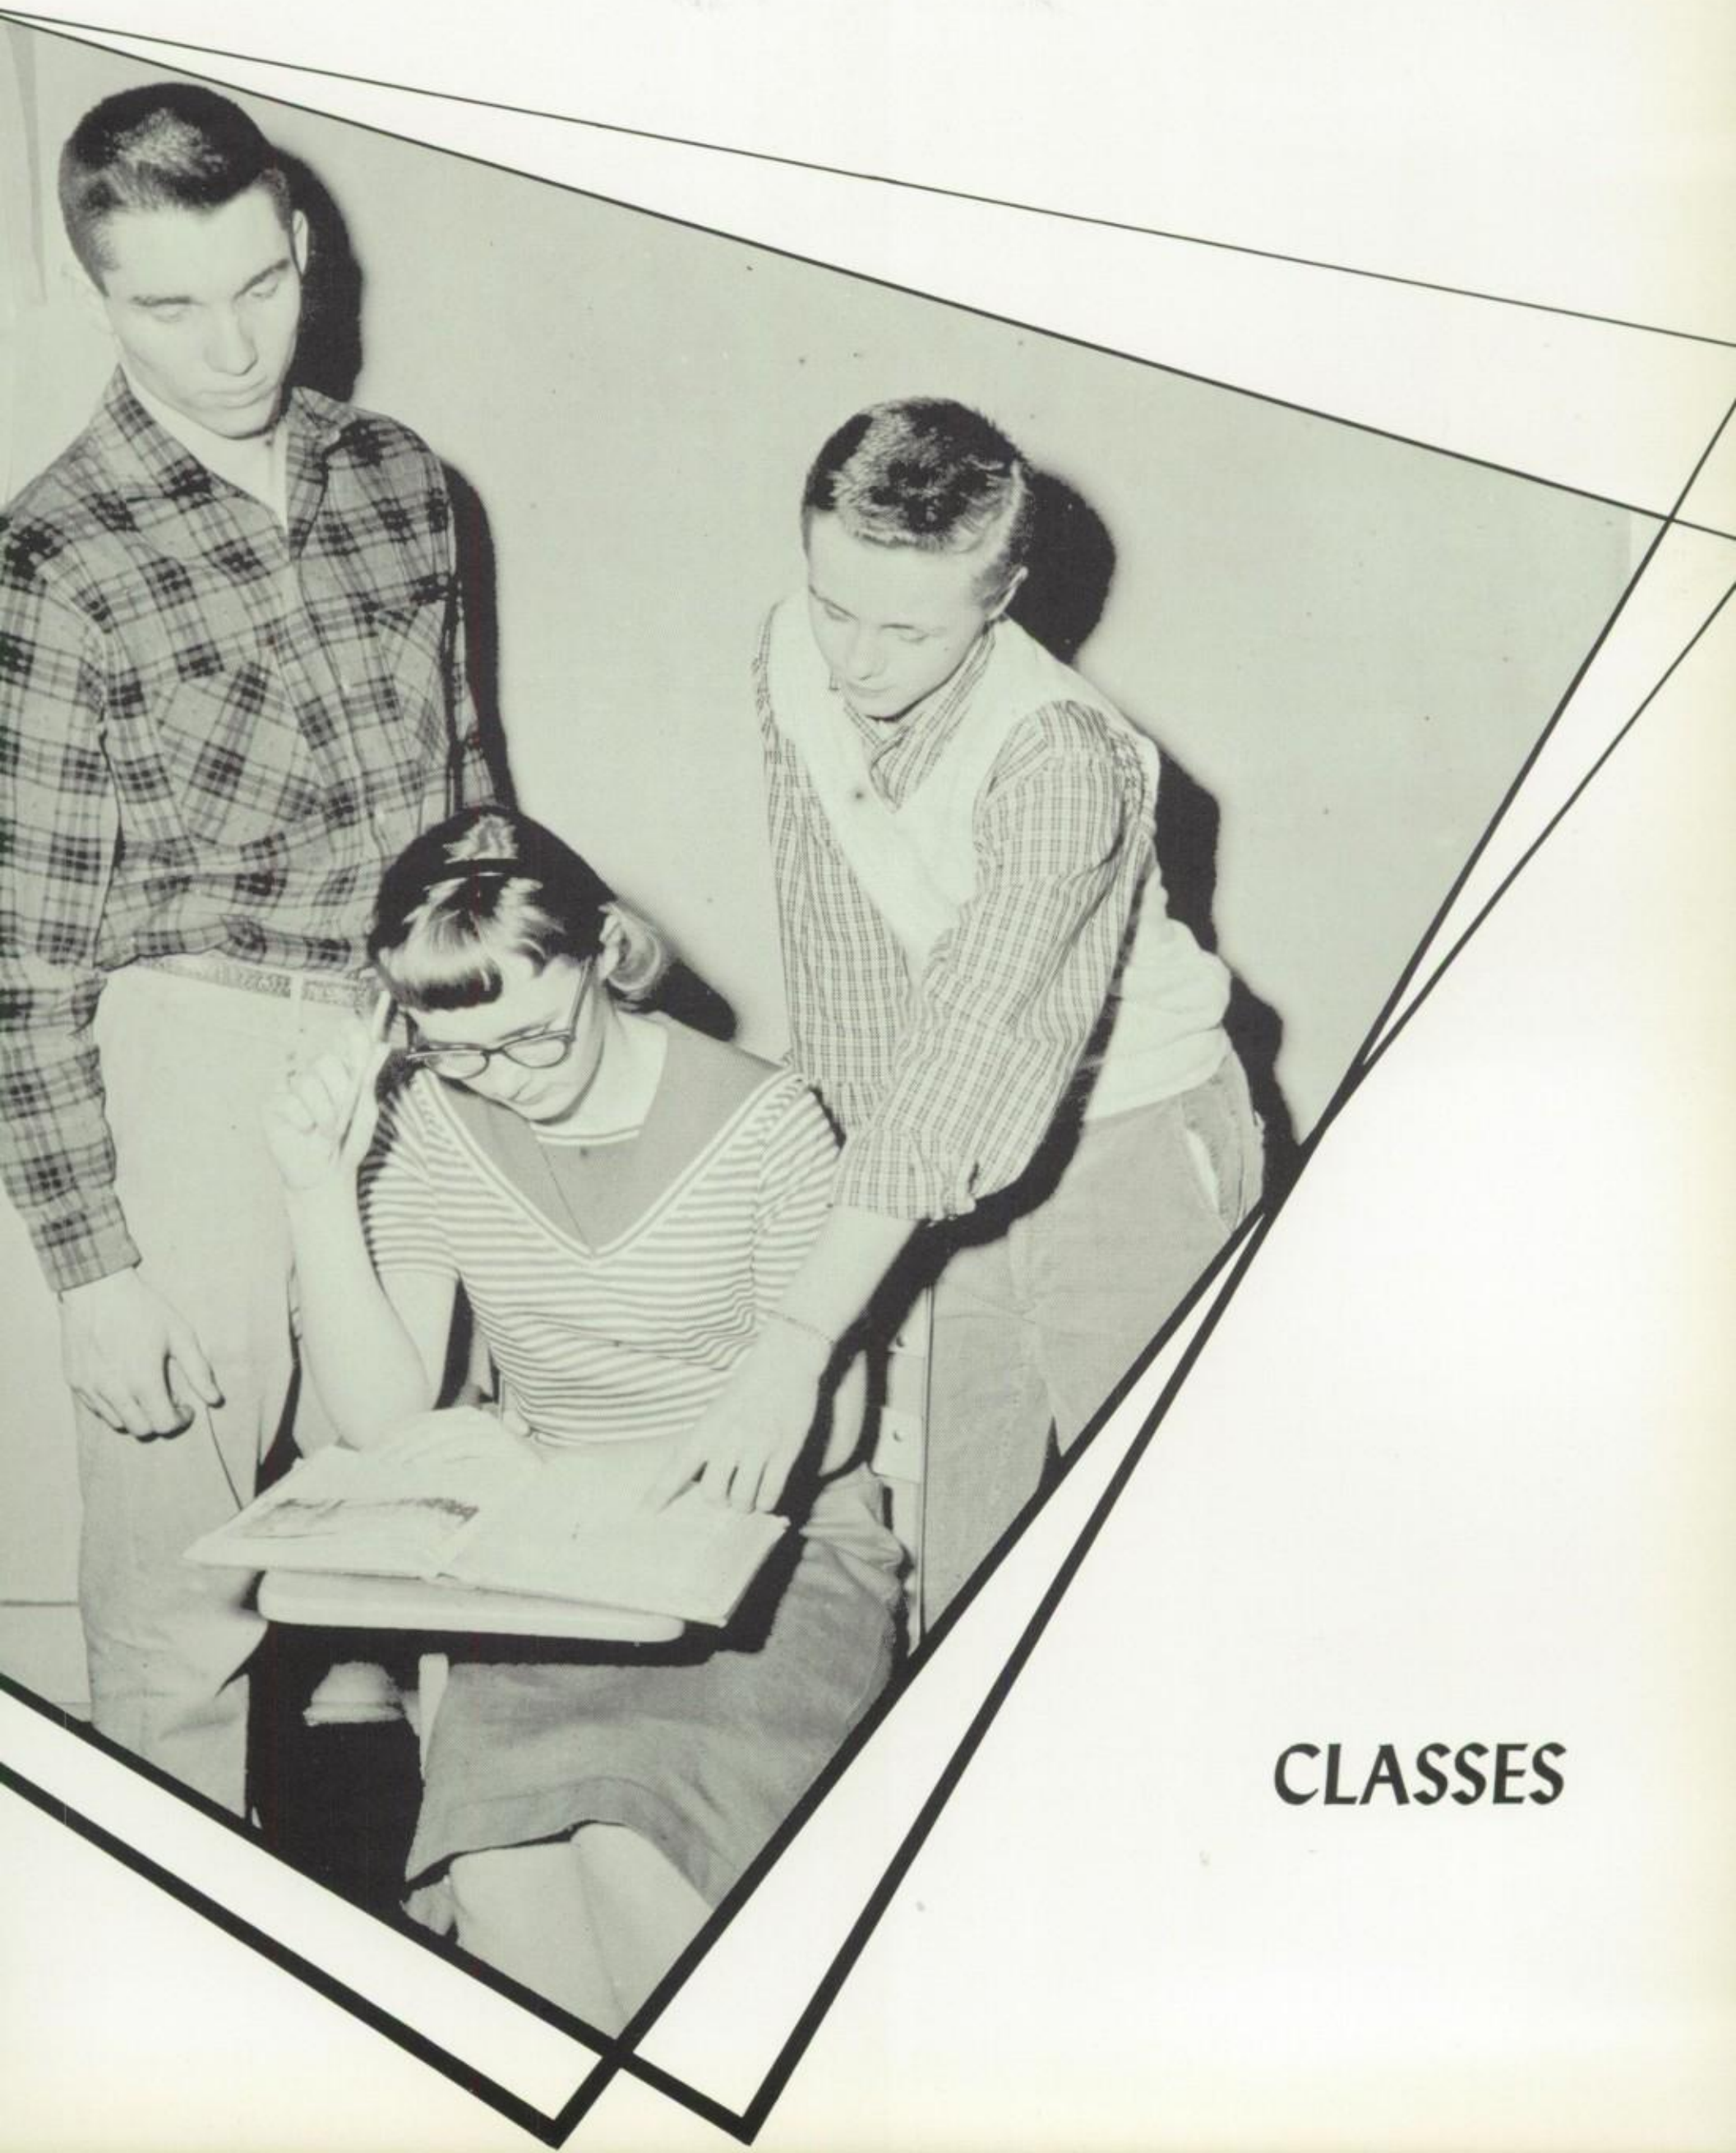


With growing expectations . . .

. . . the sun-tanned students filled the classrooms, blossoming with the excitement and stories of summer vacation experiences. Indecision vanished as seniors realized how earlier blueprints for study fulfilled requirements for future work and careers. Puzzled juniors considered the life of an upperclassman as undecided sophomores drafted the blueprint of study in preparation for their futures.

Halls hummed with expectation of "next year in the new building" as the 1475 students attended varied classes of courses offered. Splendor dotted the school year as the Senior Ball, Junior-Senior Prom, and the Sophomore Dance touched the social side of high school life. "Boosting the Maroons" topped the after school hours as MHS athletes represented their classes and school in various sports.

A community in itself, Moline High School classes chose their representatives and drafted plans for the year.



CLASSES

Planning activities for the senior class are officers, Jim Caldwell, vice-president; Clarence Taylor, president; and Elaine Johansen, secretary-treasurer.

Taylor, Caldwell, Johansen Head Senior Class

Seniors at last! With the arrival of fall, the Class of 1958 began their final year at MHS. Although unable to attend the new high school, they enjoyed the added distinction of being the last class to graduate from the old building.

The seniors soon found themselves caught up in a busy whirl of extra-curricular activities, exciting sports events, good times, and, of course, grueling homework assignments. The homecoming festivities, although dampened by the Asian flu epidemic, were thrilling for all. The National Honor Society emerged into an active organization this year. After their election, the four officers planned College Day, a ceremony for the installation of members, and a banquet, which was held in the spring.

Many hours of hard work were spent in making "The Glass Menagerie", the senior play, a rousing success. In addition, the seniors demonstrated their salesmanship by selling tickets for the play, the final high school dramatic production to be staged in the old building. The class will long remember the hilarious rehearsals that preceded the ADC Fellowship presentation. A dissatisfied sultan and lovely harem girls, products of the Arabian theme, added to the general confusion.

With the arrival of Swingout, baccaulaureate and commencement, the year came to an end. As they walked back along the aisle to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" the seniors looked with misty eyes on a flood of fond memories — all that was left of their three years at MHS. But in spite of their sadness at leaving, the graduates look forward to the future with growing expectations.

—IN MEMORIAM—

The chapel with its peaceful, quiet air seemed as if it could hold not one more person. The stately line of cars was the longest most had ever seen. On that bright, sunny day, friends from MHS turned out as Kenneth Ferry, who died in an auto accident on April 2, 1957, left for somewhere as glorious as the sun — as magnificent as friendship.

Quiet, yet known by most at MHS, he will always be remembered. Kenny, who knew the great outdoors, loved more than anything to be in it. Serving God was a part of Kenny, for he entered into the work of his church as a member of the youth fellowship and choir. His concern for others showed in his great love for his family.

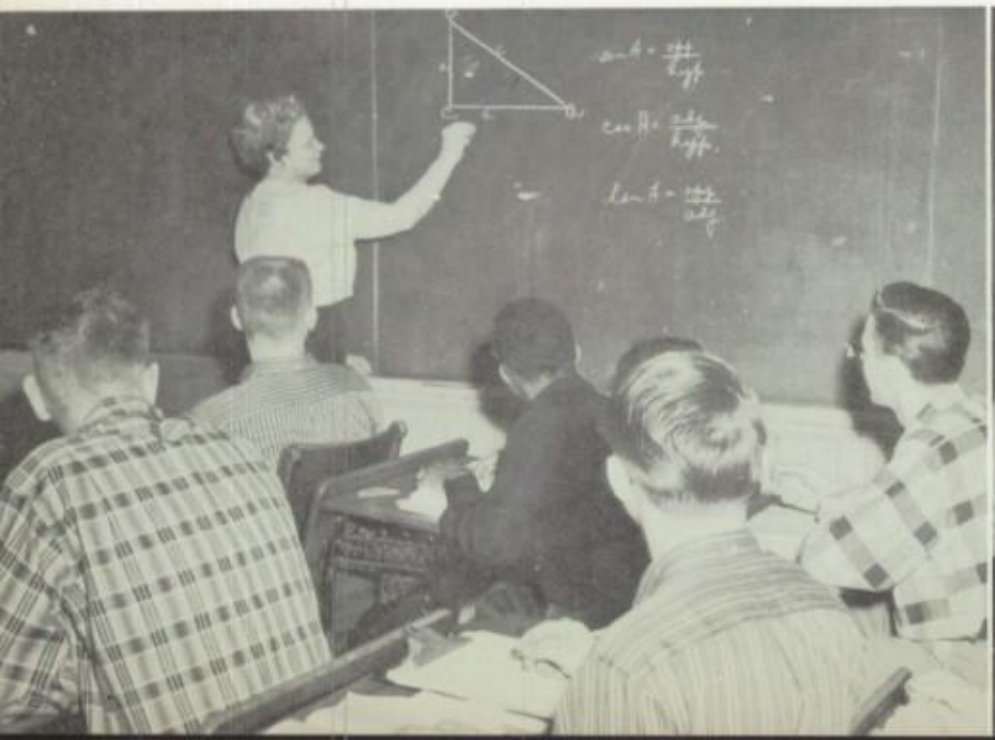
"'Ollie and Oscar haven't had algebra' is a clever way of remembering the sine, cosine, and tangent functions of a right triangle," Mrs. Jones instructs her trigonometry class.



"Watch the oscilloscope for a sine wave," directs Mr. Haas, physics instructor, as he demonstrates how trigonometry applies in physics. (For the uninitiated, an oscilloscope pictures sound waves.)

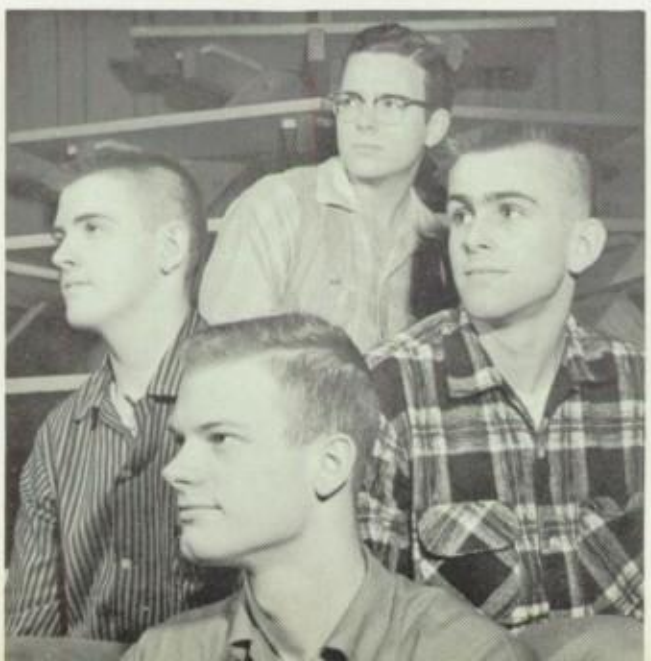
Looking hopefully to the future are Jim Elmer, John Peterson, Chuck Johnson, and Rhod Hawk, who rated high on the Merit Scholarship test.



"Here's the college that I have chosen," relates Steve Thorne to Dick Marsho as they locate the colleges of their preference on the map. Steve and Dick passed both the mental and physical divisions of the NROTC exams.

Taking time out from their busy schedules for an amusing chat with Principal Lamont Hultgren are the senior class counselors and sponsors: Mrs. Iva Owen, Mrs. Jean Carlson, Miss Barbara Garst, senior girls' counselor, Mr. Hultgren, Miss Margaret Becker, Mr. Harold Griffith, senior boys' counselor, and Miss Phylita Shinneman. Mr. George Manus was unable to be present for the picture.

With mixed emotions the seniors pass through the halls of old MHS for the final time. Standing on the brink of a new world, they pause for a moment to view with a touch of sadness all that they are leaving behind. Then, with growing expectations, they look forward to the future.

College Bound Juniors

With one year of work at senior high completed, the junior class entered their second and final year in the old building. With growing expectations, they looked forward to their senior year in the new building and to the honor of being the first class to be graduated from the new MHS.

Leadership for the 530 class members came from these officers which the class had elected before the close of school last June. Chosen were Randy Munn, president; Nonie Moorhusen, vice-president; Sandy Hogg, secretary-treasurer, and Liz Livingston, Literary Board member.

The class sponsors, Miss Margaret Griffin and Miss Frances Johnson, helped them with the choosing of rings, selling of tickets for the class play, and planning the prom. Two counselors this year, Mrs. Vivian Reimers and Mr. Frank Willets, guided them in planning their programs and administered the state placement and aptitude tests.

After becoming accustomed to the increased homework required of upperclassmen, juniors began rehearsals for their class play, "Blithe Spirit," presented in October. The Christmas holidays and a much needed vacation were joyously welcomed as Santa and time brought the prized class rings.

Outstanding students in English were rewarded with the opportunity to enroll in the English Honors class and in the English Journalism class.

Even before spring officially arrived, class members were making plans for the traditional prom when the juniors host the seniors. Formals were bought, autos cleaned, and corsages ordered for the gala event.

"I wish I could have them all. Since I can't, which one shall I choose?" ponder Karen Krebill and Margaret Mueller as they look over the selection of rings displayed before them.

Sophomores Numbering 562 Members, Win

The distinction of being the largest class ever to attend Moline High School was the mark of the sophomores. Total enrollment in the class was 562. Of these 284 were boys and 278 were girls.

In the fall the sophs elected Jill King, president; Don Ruggles, vice-president; Karen Hyink, secretary-treasurer; Bill Rogers and Karen Techlin, Literary Board members. Their class sponsors, Mrs. Vivian Jones, Miss Janet Weber, and Mr. Fritz Boom, helped them with yearly events. Miss Helen Andersen and Mr. Jay Schaff, sophomore counselors, assisted by the ad room teachers, aided them in planning their subject programs for their high school career.

For those tenth graders who excelled in English and maintained a B average in their other subjects, the English Honors class was again offered. This year the instructor was Mr. De Wayne Roush.

Clubs, organizations, dramatic and musical productions, and sports, helped develop their various talents.

Highlighting spring activities was the annual sophomore dance. Prospects of enrolling in the new building next fall filled the members with growing expectations.

Aiding the sophomores through the busy year were Miss Helen Andersen and Mr. Jay Schaff, sophomore counselors, and Mr. Fritz Boom, Miss Janet Weber, and Mrs. Vivian Jones, sophomore class sponsors.

"This is the steering wheel," explains Mr. Bishop to a student as he prepares for his first driving lesson.

"Up or down?" That is the question which seemed to baffle most of the sophomore students the first few weeks of school.

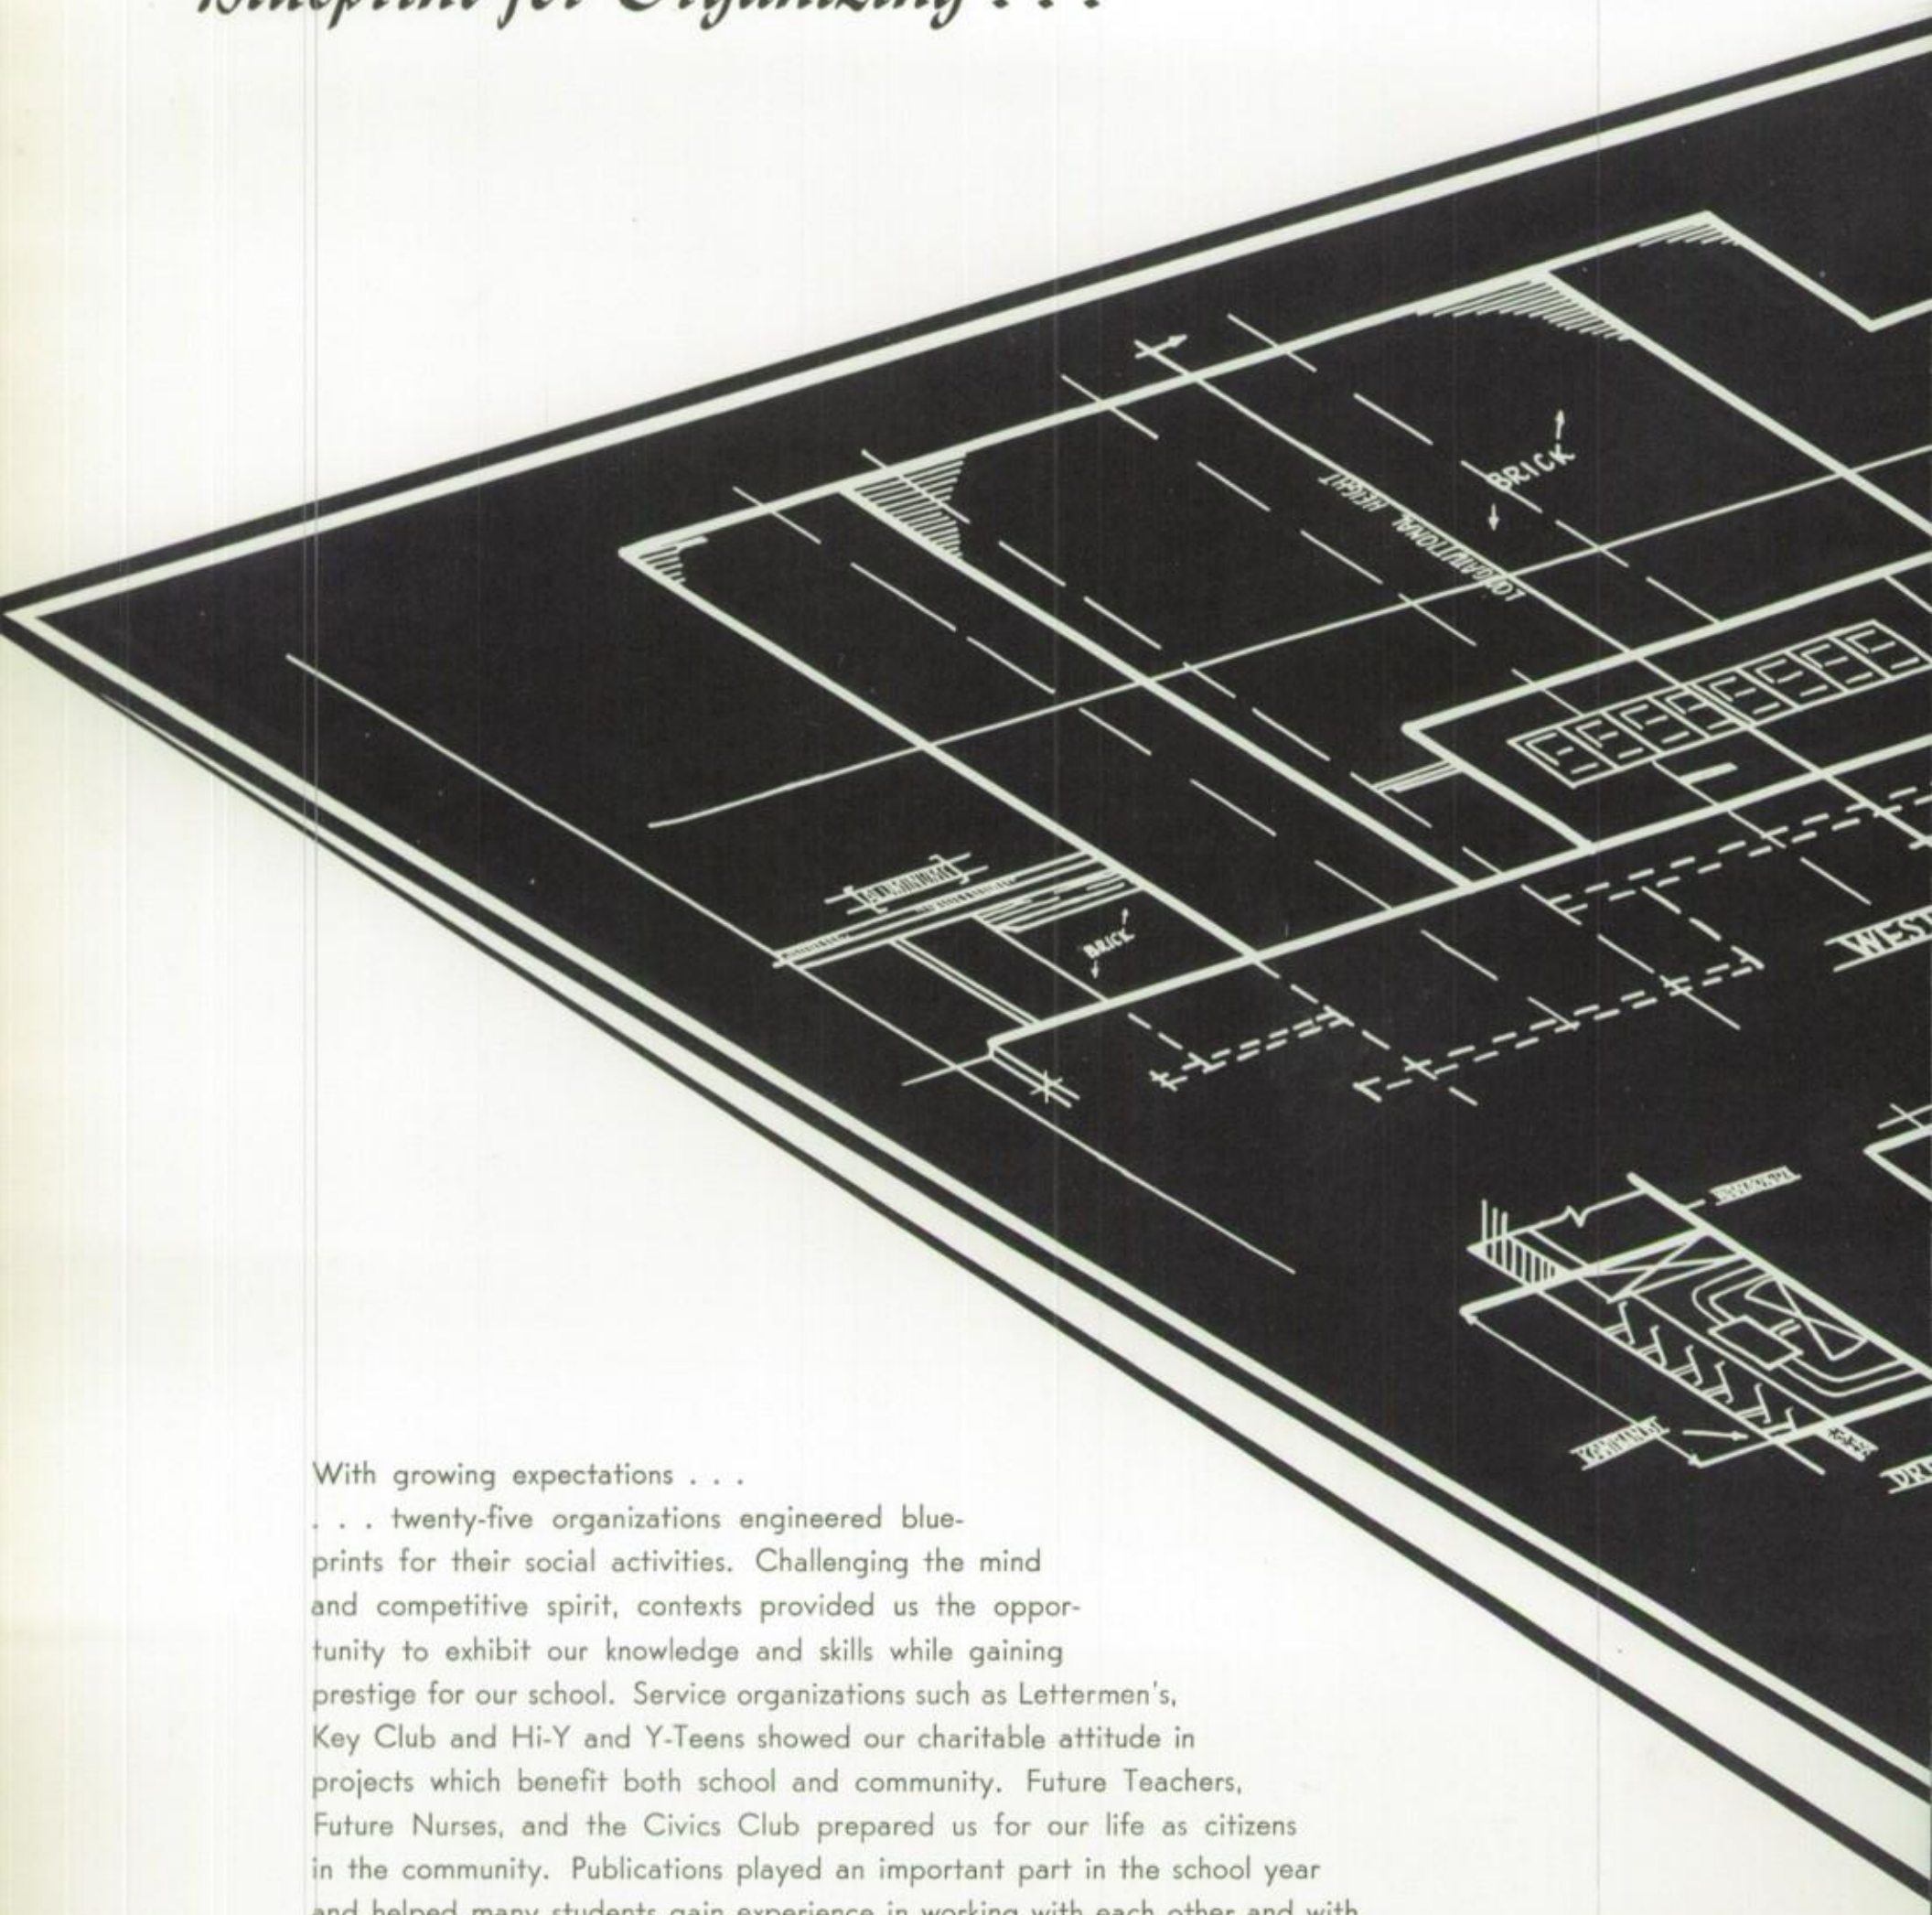
Blueprint for Organizing . . .



With growing expectations . . .
. . . twenty-five organizations engineered blueprints for their social activities. Challenging the mind and competitive spirit, contexts provided us the opportunity to exhibit our knowledge and skills while gaining prestige for our school. Service organizations such as Lettermen's, Key Club and Hi-Y and Y-Teens showed our charitable attitude in projects which benefit both school and community. Future Teachers, Future Nurses, and the Civics Club prepared us for our life as citizens in the community. Publications played an important part in the school year and helped many students gain experience in working with each other and with adults. Busy days during homecoming brought all our clubs together with driving determination resulting in an impressive coronation ceremony, a beautiful parade, and a spirited game. In the spring we pooled our talents to come up with the Senior Ball, Junior-Senior Prom and the Sophomore Dance.

KENT PETERSON
Harvard Book Award

A panel of six judges from the student and faculty selected the winning Imp entries, judging them on the originality of the selection and the style of writing. The winners were announced at the annual Literary Banquet, May 6. "The Proudest Angel" by Sandy Hogg took first place in the prose division, and "On Five Men" by Paul Ruud received top honors in the poetry division. As a result, Sandy and Paul were awarded the Ella M. Cockrell Prose and Poetry awards, respectively, at the banquet. The cover, designed by Marilyn Sanderson, was selected by a committee of students and teachers who served as judges.

Kent Peterson was given the Harvard Book Award at the Literary Banquet. This honor, made possible by Harvard University, is bestowed upon a junior boy who excels in English.

Recipients of first place awards for the Imp cover, poetry and prose, respectively, are Marilyn Sanderson, Paul Ruud, and Sandy Hogg.

Looking at a winning selection in the Imp are the students receiving honorable mention for their contributions to the Imp. They are, SEATED: Bonnie Seesland, poetry; Peggy Helstrom, cover; Ann Parsons, prose. STANDING: Dennis Faust, prose; and Dick Swanson, poetry.

National Honor Society Initiates 55 members

Fifty-five seniors qualified this year for the National Honor Society. Maintaining a 3.5 scholastic average and displaying outstanding character, leadership, and service are the qualifications required for membership in the society.

Becoming more active this year than in the past, the society elected four members to serve on an executive board. They planned special projects during the year under the guidance of Miss Barbara Garst and Mr. Harold Griffith, senior counselors, and Mr. Lamont Hultgren, principal.

An induction ceremony was held at which the members were formally initiated into the society. Held at an assembly program, the induction served to acquaint other students with the society. After the initiation, members were awarded pins and certificates. In April, society members were honored at a banquet. The board also made the preparations for College Day.

Congress Pins School Spirit With Buttons

After the pleasant job of selecting sophomore and varsity cheerleaders, the student law makers tackled a more difficult assignment, the "Kick Off" dance, held after the first football game. Homecoming found Congress members knee-deep in homecoming buttons and materials which go into the making of a prize-winning float. Their creation, "Stamp 'Em," rolled away with second place in the parade. Getting down to serious business, nine members attended the Pekin District Student Congress convention at Pittsfield, Illinois, November 9.

This student governing body, under the guidance of Mrs. Iva Owen, faculty adviser, consists of one elected representative from each adroom. Masterminding the entire operation was the executive board composed of the four officers, four defeated candidates, and Mrs. Iva Owen. The Congress was formally in session during its weekly meetings Tuesday mornings in the cafeteria.

Sailing on a tide of Christmas spirit, Congress assisted the LO'T staff in selling tags for the "Share Joys, Buy Toys" campaign, served as judges for the Christmas door decorating contest, and purchased a Christmas tree which was placed in front of the auditorium.

Publishing the Maroon directories, which listed the addresses and phone numbers of students and faculty at MHS, is another example of the many Student Congress services.

Second semester saw representatives selling basketball buttons, organizing an after game dance, and helping with the March of Dimes and Red Cross campaigns.

A group comprised of five representatives from each of the nine local high schools participated in the Quint-City Student Congress. Kent Peterson was elected to preside as Parliamentarian at the meetings. In October, radio and television station WHBF donated a half hour of time to the Quint-City Student Congress.

"Where do you think these should go?" question several Student Congress members as they put the finishing touches on the Christmas tree in front of the aud: Jo Velon, Mary Murphy, Judy Sheley, Bob Graham, Diane Kline, Sandy Harrelson, and Bev Vincent.

Plowing through stacks of telephone numbers and names, committee members alphabetize the entire population of MHS for Maroon directories. Busily at work are Judy Sheley, Charlsa Gaskin, Slyvia Anderson, chairman; Mrs. Owen, adviser; and Jo Velon.

Lit Board Directs Literary Minded Students

Checking on the secretary's report are the officers of the Literary Board: Paul Ruud, president; Elaine Johansen, secretary; and Virginia Jones, vice-president.

With an eagerness to be democratic, the Literary Board of fifteen members has the responsible task of selecting the editors and managers for the three publications at MHS. In addition to two representatives from each class, the Board is made up of three officers chosen at large and current editors and managers of the LO'T, Imp, and M staffs.

The impressive banquet in the late spring, which honors those students who have shown excellence in some phase of literary activity, is an important project of the Board. Deadlines, by-lines, and cues are forgotten for a gala evening of awards and recognitions.

Through the Literary Board, he work of the creative writer, debater, or Quill and Scroll member is brought closer together. With this unifying organization the literary department occupies a prominent place in the cultural life at MHS.

President Paul Ruud and Adviser Miss Barbara Garst look over the plans for the annual Literary Banquet.

Imp Publishes Novel Prose, Poetry Selections

Featuring prose and poetry written by MHS and Community College students, the Imp was edited by Deanna Gursky. This literary magazine, published every spring, was founded in 1942 by Ella M. Cockrell, who was then head of the English department. This year the Imp reached its sixteenth year of successful publication.

With originality as a major standard, a faculty-student committee selected the writings to be published. A second committee of judges consisting of faculty members and students chose the best prose selection and the best poem. The writers of these received the Ella M. Cockrell awards at the annual literary banquet.

The student submitting the best design for the cover of the Imp also was honored at the banquet. Honorable mention was awarded in both the literary and the artistic fields.

Mardee Melin and Kent Peterson, juniors, served as assistants to the editor. While accomplishing their duties they were trained for possible editorship next year.

Leafing through old Imps is Imp Editor Deanna Gursky.

Assisting the editor this year in the editing of the 1958 Imp are Mardee Melin and Kent Peterson.

Selecting the content and the cover of the Imp was the duty of the student members of the Imp Editorial Board and the prose, poetry and cover committees; Sandy Green, Mardee Melin, Nancy Sohner, Dave Gibson, Dorothy Hayes, Deanna Gursky, Elaine Johansen, Marianne Corelis, Sue Olson.

"Next week we've got to get organized," quips Dave Arnold M co-editor as he reminds Sandy Green, M co-editor of the nearby deadline.

Staffs Combined Efforts Produce 1000 Ms

"Wow! It looks like we have oodles of M subscriptions," exclaims Nancy Sohner, subscription manager, to Anne Peterson, index editor, Melanie Babich, business manager and Connie Phillips, advertising manager.

"Don't crop off his arm," "Bleed that picture," and "Cut that copy" echoed through the staff room as the M staff pushed to make their deadline. Actually the staff isn't as brutal as these terms suggest; they are used in the process of producing the M.

Throughout the year cameras were flashing constantly to record the events of the school year. Because of the crowded conditions, the staff was faced with the problem of finding a time and location to take pictures. Another problem confronting the yearbook staff was that of financing the M. Football programs were sold at the five home football games and ads were sold to local business firms to make up the difference between subscription receipts and the cost of printing.

Striving to live up to the first place rating earned by last year's annual, the staff worked as a unit under the able guidance of Miss Clara Carlson to produce one thousand yearbooks.

"Mary Murphy is dreaming about having her sports section completed," jokes Dick Marsho, assistant sports editor.

Assisting the staff this year were the M understudies, SEATED: Bobbe Patterson, Karen Radcliffe, Sandy Hogg. STANDING: Luan Peterson, Virginia Jones, Kathy Oehler, Betsy Staack, Connie Lundeen, Carole Carlson, Robbie Helfrich, Gerry Gustafson.

Wondering how to crop a picture for the Fine Arts section are Sharon Marshall, copy editor; Dorothy Hayes, activities editor; Penny Pruitt, fine arts editor.

Chaotic Deadlines Keep Editors Jumping

The co-editors-in-chief worked with each of the section editors to write and edit copy, plan pictures and design layouts. Assisting the editors were members of the junior class who served as understudies and ad-solicitors from all three classes. From these students, the editors and staff were chosen to edit next year's annual.

Anticipating the completion of the new high school and the varied school projects through the year, the editors chose "Growing Expectations" to be the theme of the 1958 M. The blueprint was used to carry out the theme, by showing that just as blueprints are made to construct a building so plans are also made for the development of the student.

Bubbling forth with many new ideas and helpful hints received at the NSPA conference held in August at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago, staff members who attended helped solve many production problems.

Combining layout ideas for the faculty and class sections are Pat Anderson, faculty editor; Bev Vincent, sophomore class editor; and Pat Hansen, senior class editor.

"That's a good shot," decides Bob Gardner as he discusses one of their many photographs with Jeff McFadyen and Gerry Gustafson, M photographers.

Top man on the totem pole is Jim Quilty, editor-in-chief, who beams his approval of the staff's work.

Reporters 'On The Go'

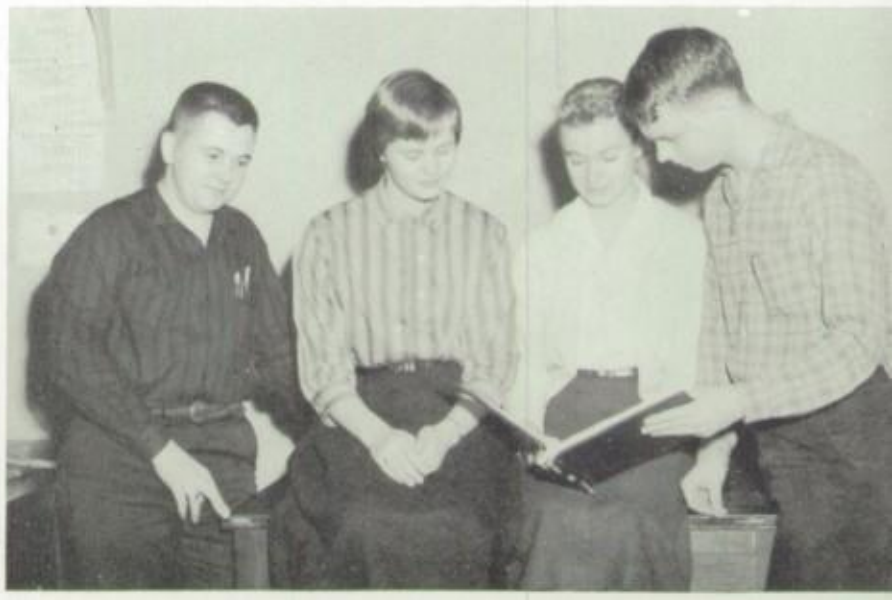
"Make that cut three columns," "That head is the wrong size" and "There's a big hole in the middle of my page" are familiar cries echoed every other Thursday in the staff room at LO'T deadline time.

The unending task of keeping the student body up on the latest and last work in news and views in and around MHS was carried out by the Line O'Type, Moline High School and Community College mouthpiece.

Staff members did not just "happen:" they were selected from applications submitted at the end of their junior year, these budding journalists worked year round "to keep the presses rolling." Throughout the summer they solicited ads and worked on the first issue of the paper so that it could be distributed the first day of school.

News comes to the students through the LO'T news editors, Dave Gibson and Marianne Corelis.

"Great cartoon, Green!" exclaims Nancy Sohner, feature editor, to Virginia Jones, assistant feature editor and news bureau editor, and Sandy Green, cartoonist.



Money, money, money! There's always the money problem between Jeff McFadyen, photographer, Mary Ann Lindquist, exchange editor (second from right), who constantly spend the money, and Elaine Johansen, advertising manager; John Masengarb, business manager, who try to balance the budget.

"Now I'm a real cowboy," says one of the little tots who was present to receive the toys from the Student Congress-LO'T Christmas project. Dorothy Hayes and Nancy Sohner enjoy the antics of the youngsters as Santa Claus, Gary Brown, listen to an eager little girl's Christmas list.

"BIG money is needed to buy BIG toys for the Share Joys-Buy Toys project," explains Jim Quilty, LO'T editor to Kent Peterson, representing Student Congress and Marianne Corelis and Nancy Sohner of the LO'T staff.

To Publish Current School News Events Bi-Weekly

Training and experience was gained through the English-Journalism class where the novices were given the opportunity to learn through assisting the staff.

Sixteen issues were edited this year plus a special homecoming edition. The money from subscriptions and advertising was used to finance the expense of printing the paper.

The warmth of Christmas lights reflected in the eyes of the many children made happy again this holiday season by the LO'T — Congress ('Share Joys, Buy Toys') campaign. Toys and clothing were purchased with the money received from the sale of tags.

The news bureau, which keeps the public posted on school activities, chalked up another successful year of reporting the high school news to the Moline Daily Dispatch.

Last, but not least, are the last page editors, Dick Marsho, boys' sports; Sue Olson, college page; and Kris Carlson, girls' sports.

LO'T King and M Queen

BOB GRAHAM BEV VINCENT

MHS Hails Royalty

The court of Queen Elizabeth was never more splendid than the MHS stage as it awaited the appearance of the royal majesties, the 1957 M queen, Beverly Vincent; the LO'T king, Bob Graham; and their court of attendants.

Thursday, October 10, was the magic day when the auditorium reeled in a heady atmosphere of soft music and anticipation as Pat Hansen and Kris Carlson opened the impressive ceremony by the lighting of the candles. Pages Sandy Green, M co-editor; and Jim Quilty, LO'T editor; then stepped forward to announce the senior students who received honorable mention. Subjects were majestically entertained by the performances of soloists, Nancy Langbehn and Paul Ruud, accompanied by Penny Pruitt; and the Girls' Sextet, accompanied by Dana Patten.

The royal standard bearers, sophomore and junior attendants, then entered the spotlight carrying the loving cups and scepters. Meanwhile, a backstage drama was being enacted by ten nervous girls and boys who listened anxiously to hear their names and the positions they held in the court announced by LO'T editor, Jim Quilty and the M co-editors, Sandy Green and Dave Arnold.

Climaxing an eventful coronation ceremony was the presentation and crowning of King Bob and Queen Bev as their court of attendants beam with admiration.

Waiting anxiously to join the other royal couples in the homecoming parade are the sophomore attendants: Spiro Dellos and Linda Ewert; and the junior attendants, Nancy Reed and Jerry Brotman.

Homecoming Festivities Excite School Spirit

Pride filled the hearts of Moliners who crowded the downtown streets to witness the royal train as it rolled along in a fleet of magnificent coaches. The cavalcade "reigned" to a halt at the pep session where cheerleaders led students to a high pitch of excitement which carried over to the game. However, while Moline's spirits were high, the score was not equally impressive, as the Maroons suffered a defeat at the hands of Alleman, who replaced East Moline at the last minute because of the flu epidemic.

Hearty Maroons picked themselves up, brushed themselves off, and set out to enjoy the after-game dance where members of the Girls' Athletic Association had transformed the high school gym into an elegant ballroom. An ornate crown suspended from the ceiling radiated streamers to all points of the gym. Here it was that loyal subjects were granted a final review of their sovereigns and court to end a fairy tale weekend.

Rolling off with first prize in the parade is the Youth for Christ Club's entry.

Let's go, Moline . . . Let's go! Cheerleaders lead the spirited crowd in a pep rally at Stephens' Square following the parade.

There's no doubt as to the club these boys belong with the numerous array of Ms visible on their sweaters. The officers, Bob Graham, secretary; Ray Ott, president; John Staack, assistant secretary; Dave Arnold, treasurer; and Gary Brown, vice-president, have guided the activities of the Lettermen's Club throughout the year.

Lettermen Promote Community Projects

Keeping fans up to date during sports events or getting a frightened little Johnny reunited with his frantic parents are services rendered by the public address system which Lettermen donated and installed at Browning Field last fall. Under the direction of Mr. Sam Drake, the group purchased a cover for the scoreboard and banners for the newly formed Mississippi Valley Conference, which were hung in the field house. Putting their heads and efforts together, Lettermen published and sold programs for all home basketball games and hung, shoved and piled coats in their check room at Wharton Field House. Keeping track of dual track meets and grade school track meets at Browning Field, assisting at wrestling meets, and tacking notices of athletic events on their bulletin board are a few of Lettermen's many services. Being shrewd businessmen, members were able to support their numerous school and community projects by collecting admissions at all the home "B" games and selling programs.

New this year was the forming of the Lettermen's ad room where business for some thirty MHS award winners was transacted. Meetings for all members were held at Butterworth Center.

Discussing the final plans for the Dad-Daughter Play Night are the GAA officers: Kris Carlson, secretary; Elaine Johansen, recording secretary; Sandy Green, vice-president; Mrs. Jean Carlson, adviser; Dorothy Hayes, president. Absent from the picture is Bobbe Patterson, treasurer.

GAAers Practice Teamwork, Perfect Skills

Two of the basic purposes of the GAA are to instill within its members the spirit of good sportsmanship and teamwork. Under the guidance of Mrs. Jean Carlson and Mrs. Alice Wilson, GAA members participated in an organized athletic program designed to develop these qualities. Their numerous social events and projects were planned by the GAA Board, comprised of five officers, sports managers, assistants, and publicity chairman.

Throughout the school year, teams formed by members held tournaments in bowling, volleyball, basketball, and alley speedball. Moline GAAers also competed with high schools throughout the state in postal meet tournaments. In February, the top ten bowlers took part in the postal bowling meet, and the five highest scores were entered in the state contest. In March, the girls entered the basket shoot and in April they participated in the swimming meet.

New members were quickly initiated to GAA activities during homecoming. Selling mums, preparing a float, "Beat the Panthers," which copped third place in the parade, and sponsoring the homecoming dance, kept the girls busy. In order to stimulate interest in GAA, the girls organized a play day for ninth grade girls, the first such event at MHS.

The first social event was a traditional get-acquainted picnic to welcome new members. In February, Mom and Dad may have suffered that "ache all over" feeling a few days — but not with misgivings, if their brief discomfort originated from active participation in the Mother-Daughter Play Night and the Dad-Daughter Date Night.

In keeping with the spirit of the holiday season, the club purchased two Christmas trees for needy families and held a Christmas party for members. Highlighting the party were the formal initiation and presentation of sports awards. Four types of awards are given: the pin, numerals, an M, and two state awards, the I, and the state map. The highest award requires one hundred-fifty hours of participation. New this year, the officers were presented with traveling pins which will be passed from year to year.

Two events marked the closing of the year: the Mother-Daughter banquet and the farewell picnic honoring seniors. At the banquet, a resume of the year's activities was given and the Merit Awards were presented. Determined by the GAA Board, these winners were selected on the basis of outstanding sportsmanship, leadership, and responsibility. Next year's officers were also installed and new members were initiated.

Y-Teen Objectives Combine Fun, Fellowship

Donning the traditional comic costume of blue jeans and bobbypins, nervous initiates bowed in mock reverence to their "big sisters" who made life humorously unbearable on that unforgetable day of initiation.

Y-Teens, with its wide wholesome appeal to MHS girls, started the season with the largest membership in its local history. Sponsors were Mrs. Iva Owen, Mrs. Marie Waller and Miss Kathy Patterson. Because the aims and objectives of Y-Teen work were jeopardized by the size of the organization, the members and sponsors formed two separate units, a senior-junior group and a sophomore group.

All members gathered at a picnic supper in September to welcome new members. In October, the meeting was led by a panel of girls who tossed around "do's and don'ts" of social behavior. During Brotherhood Week in November, a movie, "Three Religions," was shown to familiarize members with the three major religions of the United States. In November, the annual formal dance, Golden Nocturne, saw starry-eyed members and their escorts swaying to the airy music. During December, the senior-junior group sponsored a chili supper, went caroling, and participated in the YWCA's traditional Hanging of the Greens. The sophomores selected "The Meaning of Christmas," a spiritual theme, for their first meeting.

At their respective January meetings, the older and younger groups chose the topics of "Vocations" and "Care of the Hair." The February program, "The Art of Make-Up," helped many a sophomore catch the eye of a male. "Dating and Early Marriages" was discussed at the March program of the sophomore group. With the arrival of spring, Y-Teens were filled with enthusiasm over their style show, which, revealing the latest in fashions was especially designed to dent Dad's pocket book.

At a festive banquet in April, next year's officers were installed in a beautiful and solemn ceremony. The new officers and board members of each club then assumed their responsibilities and planned their May meetings.

Keys Open Door to Future Leadership,

The serious, business-like expressions of the Key Club members disappear as they take time out from their regular meeting at Butterworth Center to smile for the photographer.

With growing expectations, the Key Club looks forward to years of service to school and community as their primary objective.

Sponsored by the Moline Kiwanis Club, the members, under the direction of faculty adviser, Mr. Archie Swanson, learned to develop qualities of leadership. This experience proved invaluable when they cooperated in the muscular dystrophy drive, in selling peanuts for needy children on "kids' day," and in flipping pancakes and carting trays for the Kiwanis pancake supper.

The blueprint followed by the active Keys included guiding lost persons to their lost seats at football and basketball games, publishing a calendar which noted each school activitiy, and serenading lunchers in the cafeteria with recorded music.

As part of the international organization of Key Clubs, they sent five members to a fall training conference in Chicago and representatives to the state conference in Peoria.

The plans for the Key Club's activities were drafted during evening meetings at Butterworth Center. Members also met as an ad room during ad periods.

Bombarding Mr. Archie Swanson, Key Club adviser, with calendars which were sold by the club are John Ericson, Ben Gaskin, Lowell Strombeck, Bob J. Johnson, and Bruce Huston.

"Hurry and close that suitcase or we'll be late," Steve Brooks reminds Dennis Wellman as they prepare to leave for the statewide Key Club convention.

Paul Bohy, Larry Spiegel, and Don Sullivan discover that tying "usher" ties often requires a little assistance.

"Joy to the World!" exclaim the trio of angels adorning the top of Key Club's prize winning Christmas door as Tom Hokinson, Barrie Peterson, Gil Davis and Dan Roman add finishing touches.

Draft Service Projects

"You should listen to this record," urges Frannie Neir to Grant McKerney as he jokingly "listens" to one of the variety of records played by the Key Club during lunch hour in the cafeteria.

Proud Key Club members smile as they look through the pile of books received during their drive to swell the library at Arrowhead Ranch. The members are Dan Hyland, Ken Exline, John Peterson, Ron Swanson, Paul Ruud Jim Stuart, Doug Bendle and Tom DeJonghe.

Plans for the Kiwanis "Peanut Day" are mapped out as Key Club members, Bruce Harris, Craig Corson and Dale Weaver discuss ideas with Kiwanis representatives, Mr. Ted Burkland and Mr. Milt Ericson.

Falcon- Mu Eta Sigma Hi-Ys Promote

Clad in their club-purchased black sweatshirts, the Falcon Hi-Y met Tuesday evenings at the YMCA with Mr. John Bell, club sponsor.

The Falcons were among the seventy-five Hi-Y members who took part in Moline's first City Youth and Government program on December 5. Citizens of Moline were held at the mercy of this day-long administration headed by Stuart Nelson, mayor; Jeff Buck, city clerk; Bill Hodge, city treasurer; Dick Wolff, fire chief; Dave Arnold, police chief; Bruce Peterson, Jerry Tappendorf, Tom Reilly, Ward Johnson, Ron Best, Bill McCormick, Don Fritz, Jim Quilty, Bill Haywood, Bill Rodgers, Tom DeJonghe, Larry Willits, and Randy Munn were aldermen.

State Representative Robert Austin spoke at the luncheon where election results were revealed. Before taking office, the boys met with Mayor Arnold Smith, after which they proceeded to their various assignments. The youthful law makers did more than a day's work in a mock council at which time twelve ordinances were discussed.

State Representative Ralph Stephenson spoke to the group after a dinner given at the YMCA by the Y Men's Club.

Citizenship, Fraternity, Sponsor Mardi Gras

Building fraternity among the young men of MHS was the goal of the Mu Eta Sigma, a senior Hi-Y, under the direction of their sponsor, Mr. Robert Bennett.

To promote their plan in interesting more of young America in its responsibilities as citizens, the Hi-Y held a Youth and Government Conference in Evanston and a later program at Springfield, where representatives from each of the Hi-Ys presented bills to the state legislature. Spokesmen from each of the clubs were Stuart Nelson and Gary Hawkinson, Mu Eta Sigma; Tom DeJonghe and Jeff Buck, Falcon; and Ward Johnson and Jerry Ozanne, Illini.

Jon Melin, vice-president; Tom Stutz, treasurer; Bill Perry, sergeant-at-arms; Gerald Kramer, chaplain; Dick Marsho, secretary; Stuart Nelson, president.

With authentic costumes and activities a real New Orleans atmosphere prevailed at the Hi-Y Mardi Gras.

"Think that will fit in your mouth, Stu?" Bill Hodge and Jeff Buck ask Stuart Nelson at the dinner given for them on the day devoted to Youth in Government.

Guiding the junior Hi-Y throughout the year was the task given these boys: Jerry Brotman, president; Bill Haywood, secretary; Randy Munn, treasurer; and Ward Johnson, chaplain.

The formation of the two new Hi-Y organizations was of great interest and value to the young men of MHS this year. The sophomores, uniquely titled Spartans, were under the guidance of Mr. Gordon Taylor.

The junior group had the equally impressive title of Illini Hi-Y. These 25 boys, under the direction of Mr. Jack Coder, laid the plans for their organization in the late fall, and in January nominated and elected their officers.

Reaching the objectives of team work and spirit through a social outlet the two clubs added their might to make competition in the Hi-Y Olympic Games even rougher for the senior groups. Placing second behind first place Mu Eta Sigma with 91 points, the Illini scored 54 points. The Falcon Club turned up in third place, ahead of the sportin' Spartans who tallied 36 points, telling the juniors to look out for this sophomore group in next year's games. Members of the two clubs also took their parts in the Holy Week Services.

"All in favor say 'aye'," says Chuck Doerr, president to Quinton Ford, secretary; Tom Reiley, treasurer and Bruce Peterson, chaplain. Absent from the picture is Jim Parsons, vice president.

YFC Maintains High Goals For MHS Students

Good Looks, Examine Dem Bones, the Story of Christmas, and Live for Christ were the outstanding topics of this year's meetings. Highlighting the years gatherings was a joint meeting of all area Youth for Christ Clubs which employed the hard-hitting title, "Master, the Tempest is Raging."

The club aimed its sights on many goals and never wavered from its course while planning the programs. These goals included raising the moral standard of high school students by examples, reaching the unchurched student with the doctrine of Christianity as a way of life by testimony, and encouraging fellowship and social living on the high Christian level.

The club raised money in cooperation with other groups to sponsor a YFC club in a foreign land with the hope to someday be able to independently sponsor a group of their own. Equal enthusiasm was displayed by members in creating their float "Put on the Whole Armor of God" which rolled off with first place in the Homecoming parade. Headlining events on the social calendar was a banquet held February 11 with the theme "Tail-Spin Hearts Social."

YFC organized their own Quiz Team made up of club members who met still local and state competition at Youth For Christ Rallies. This Youth For Christ Club is part of a nationwide move to bring the high school student to a higher moral level.

Civics Members Today -- Citizens Tomorrow

Briefing the Fall Civics Club officers on their duties is President Clarence Taylor. Officers are: Ron Best, secretary; Carol Davis and Marcia Danielson, co-treasurers; Joe Ewert, vice-president.

Students at MHS are given the opportunity of observing their government in action through the Civics Club.

Civics Club is comprised of seniors who are members of the government classes. Participation in the club, either in the fall or in the spring, depends on which semester students are enrolled in the course. Under the sponsorship of Miss Helen Andersen, Mr. George Manus, and Miss Leona Day, the club meets usually two to three times during the semester.

Crowding this year's agenda were many trips including tours through the Rock Island County Court House and the Moline City Hall. Members also gained valuable knowledge of politics by conducting class elections. Campaigning to promote an awareness of the varied services performed by government in the community, the organization shouldered the responsibility of planning some special assembly programs for important holidays.

Mayor Arnold Smith was guest speaker at the first fall meeting. The body of his speech was concerned with the sewer referendum and its effect upon Moline. At the second meeting Illinois State Senator Morris Muhleman explained his part in the Illinois Senate. He closed his talk with a plea to youth, stating it is their duty to learn from the mistakes and achievements of their government officials so that they may insure a continuation of a free and democratic way of life.

"We'll need your judgment, most wise Cicero," stated the winners of the district Latin contest before they advanced into sectional competition. They are John Peterson, Martha Sievers, Jeff Buck, Linda Parsons, Kent Peterson, Linda Neuwerk, Dave Wilson, Sandy Hogg, and Ron Swanson.

JCL Acquaints Members With Aspects Of

Echoing through the halls of MHS can be heard the voices of Junior Classical League members enthusiastically joining in on "Amo, Amas, Amat; we're a happy-go-lucky lot!" This cheer is by no means a new sound in the school, for the Latin Club has been active since 1940 when it was organized to further interest in Latin and the Romans. With a record membership of one hundred forty, the club this year renewed its national charter.

Delving into Roman life and all aspects of Roman culture is the purpose of the Junior Classical League. JCL brings out many interesting and useful ideas through such activities as plays, papers, and panel discussions.

Miss Fern Slusher and Mr. Ralph McMinn are kept busy in guiding the many JCL activities. Entering the state Latin contest is an important part of JCL's program. Three entrants are allowed from each year of study; this year ten competed in the district test with nine advancing to the sectional exam.

Beginning their activities with the election of new officers in September, JCL held five additional meetings, the last of which was the club's annual picnic. Correct parliamentary procedure was stressed, and under the leadership of the executive officers, short business sessions were held before each meeting. Varied and interesting programs featuring speakers, Latin songs, plays, and papers on Roman life were presented at each meeting.

Peons, Conquistadors Share World Interests

Spanish speaking students spent several enjoyable evenings learning to converse in Spanish and learning Spanish customs under the supervision of Mr. Mace Gordon. The newly formed segment of the Spanish Club, "los conquistadors," The Conquerors, discovered a most amiable way to cement relationships south of the border. The group composed of second year students held monthly meetings during which "amigos" conversed only in Spanish.

The "peons," or regular Spanish club including first and second year pupils, reached a total membership of almost one hundred members.

Tipping their sombreros and berets to the promotion of interesting harmony, the Spanish and French clubs held a joint Christmas party during the holiday season. Breaking of the traditional pinata highlighted the evening's fun.

"Vamous muchachos!" (Go boys go!) was the rousing message on the tags sold by the members of both clubs for the East Moline games. In this way the club members received a nickel credit on their fifty-cent semester dues for every two tags they sold.

Climaxing the year's activities was a gala banquet at Short Hills in May at which time hard working, high ranking students gained recognition. Certificates were given to all students having maintained an A average for four semesters in Spanish, and a cup was awarded to the second year student with the highest average for two years.

French Club Frolics In Berets And Smocks

Caught chuckling over a joke in a French newspaper are the French Club officers: John Peterson, vice-president; Paul Ruud, treasurer; Todd Snow, president; and Nancy Sohner, secretary.

Monthly meetings of French Club this year brought out the cultural and economic position of France in the world today. Berets and smocks were required attire for the new members who were initiated amid the riotous antics typical of the French "stamping on the grapes" and the "Can-can."

In a practical moment the club sponsored a tag sale and later an after-game dance. Members bade farewell to Miss Marcia Mankowski, former French teacher, at a gay bon voyage party during class. They wished her the best by playing gay French music, decorating the room with colored streamers and presenting her with a token of farewell. Miss Helen Piehl took over Miss Mankowski's classes for the remainder of the year.

"C'st se bon," said club members of the delectable menu featured this spring at the annual French Club banquet which furnished a crowning touch to the year's activities. Following the banquet officers for next year's club were installed.

A look of complete delight covers the face of Miss Marcia Mankowski as Todd Snow presents her with a farewell gift from the students in her two French classes.

Cadet Teaching Headlines FTA Activities

A teacher's life is not an easy one, as 75 MHS faculty members will testify, but its rewards in personal gratification and service are far reaching and of great importance in the lives of us all. The Alice Wheelock FTA started their activities last fall with a picnic, which increased the interest of many students in FTA, especially those with hearty appetites. Singing and gaiety combined to make the picnic a success.

However, the club had a far more fundamental sigficance. A greater insight as to the importance of teachers' positions in the world today was gained by the members who attended the Northwest Region workshop at Augustana. The members also participated in the Blackhawk Division FTA, which was held several times during the year. Scholarships, various colleges, and the qualifications necessary for a successful college student were topics of discussion at FTA monthly meetings.

A spudnut sale held in December and a bake sale in January were the main fund raising projects of the organization this year.

Cadet teaching, the principal activity of the senior Future Teachers took place during the second semester. Not to teach the cadets to teach, but to help them discover whether or not they would choose the teaching profession as a life's work was the purpose of the program. Seventeen seniors, under the supervision of the sponsors, Miss M. Fern Slusher and Miss Frieda Schnowske, discovered that it takes more than a degree to become a successful teacher as they gave daily assistance to an instructor in some of the Moline elementary schools.

Going over the list of cadet teachers are officers of Future Teachers' Club: Judy Sodeman, president; Jo Velon, vice-president; Nancy Arnold, attendance secretary; Barb Wilson, treasurer; and Barb Susin, secretary.

"See anything interesting?" Another toy seems to have caught the interest of this little boy as the other children at the Augustana Speech clinic are working diligently.

FNA Prepares For Rewarding Profession

A pretty, cheerful, and capable nurse is the best remedy for any ailment, and Future Nurses Club has interested many such young ladies in nursing as a rewarding profession.

Helping with the dental inspection in the fall was just one of the many projects the forty girls in the Future Nurses Club tackled this year. On Saturday mornings a committee headed by Barbara Nelson entertained the children in the speech clinic at Augustana College. During the Christmas holidays they treated these children to a party given in their honor.

The FNA also enjoyed a party as Mrs. Henss entertained them at a Christmas party in her home. The members enjoyed playing games and discussing future plans.

The club, under the guidance of Mrs. Geneva Henss, school nurse, visited several hospitals in the local area. From these visits and from nurses who spoke about various hospitals, schools, and the field of nursing, the girls gained much valuable information.

"Cleansing a wound is of primary importance," explains Mrs. Henss, FNA sponsor, as the club officers demonstrate the proper procedure. Officers are Judy Peterson, secretary; Mary Ann Lindquist, president; Connie Phillips, corresponding secretary; and Julie Wahlgren, treasurer.

Home Ec Meetings Feature Feminine Fashions

Want to catch your man? Many girls were given just such an opportunity, using the tricks and techniques revealed at the Home Economics Club meetings throughout the year. A wiener roast, chili supper, and come-as-you-are party were held. That the way to a man's heart lies through his stomach is common knowledge but since a new hair-do never hurts, girls were given helpful tips from a local stylist as just one of the varied programs which headlined the club meetings. Moneymaking projects were also undertaken in order that the club might purchase something for the department. The club held an after-game dance in the gym and a candy sale to fulfill their goal.

Under the direction of Miss Lela Adams, Mrs. Annette Bonnell, and Mrs. Helen Manus, a special Christmas party was held. The girls proved charity begins at home by providing the makings of a scrumptious Christmas dinner and other treats for a needy family in this area instead of exchanging gifts. Miss Betty Mattingly of the Christian Friendliness Association worked with the Home Ec Club on this project.

DE Members Learn And Apply Sales Techniques

"Chicago, Chicago was a wonderful town!" and a grand host to the Distributive Education Club, who highlighted the year's activities with a visit there in mid-May. The group of eighteen were given free reign in the morning for shopping and sightseeing in the "big city," where they no doubt put their sales resistance to good use. Visiting the Merchandise Mart and Maxwell Street, they observed and studied sales techniques to add to their own well-stocked store of ideas.

Other activities for the year included the area banquet held at Kewanee in October, a Christmas party, and a spring picnic. During the holiday season the group made and sold festive Christmas corsages. They were also put to work selling tags for one football and two basketball games. A club-sponsored spudnut sale rounded out the year's moneymaking projects.

"Service" is the theme of club work, and the members under the direction of Miss Ruth Vertrees, lived up to their motto by working fifteen hours weekly in local stores as a part of their Distributive Education course.

Books Challenge Library, Debate Clubs

LIBRARY CLUB . . .

"That'll be two cents, please!" is a familiar request of student librarians directed to those with overdue books. Under the guidance of school librarian, Miss Kathleen Curry, Library Club offers its members the opportunity to learn the basic functions of a library. Working during free periods student librarians find sorting, shelving, checking books, and assisting students all in a day's work. Armed with tape, glue, battered books, and ideas, these eager workers tackle daily the never ending job of repairing the handiwork of MHS students, and designing attractive displays to accumulate points toward one of the three achievement awards presented each year to the students with the most points. The club served as a gracious host at the annual faculty tea during National Book Week, and enjoyed a Christmas party, a horseback riding party, and a picnic. A doughnut sale and a tag sale served as money makers for the club.

DEBATE TEAM . . .

The team was in a huddle, the coach, Mr. DeWayne Roush, was at its head, they all got together, and this is what they said: "Resolved: That United States Foreign Aid Should Be Substantially Increased." Using this topic as their fight song, the Moline High School debate team talked their way to a crushing victory at the Geneseo debate meet and placed second in the Quint-City meet. The team kept in shape by selling tags, sponsoring a bake sale, and an after-game dance, breaking training only once for a pizza party. At weekly practice sessions both varsity and junior varsity squad members learned the necessary speech techniques and formed their cases for the year's debates. Members of the team were carefully selected by Coach Roush on the basis of scholastic achievement, speech ability, and sincere interest in the study of argumentation.

Camera, Rifles 'Focus' Sights On Targets

CAMERA CLUB . . .

With plenty of film and a world of subjects from which to choose, the Camera Club set out across hill and dale on a field trip designed to give the young shutterbugs a chance to enlarge upon their photographic proficiency. Before attempting this roadwork, the members, under the supervision of Mr. William Haas, were given a chance to learn the art of developing and printing in the club's darkroom where the group met twice monthly. Upon returning, the footsore crew set to work developing their shot.

The next step was a "third degree" in which the members gave each picture a thorough going-over, offering helpful criticism where it was needed.

Camera Club members were responsible for many of the pictures enclosed within these pages as they led the list of unsung heroes in the battle to put out this annual.

RIFLE CLUB . . .

Residents of the Logan School area have learned to remain calm in the face of what would seem to be an enemy attack. Every Tuesday night they brave the sound of gun shots as the MHS Rifle Club "opens up" on another session. The club, under the supervision of Mr. Warren Fuller, aims to instruct its members in the ways of rifle safety and skill. In an effort to prevent a battle of the sexes, the boys practice from 7 to 8 p.m., and the girls from 8 to 9 p.m. However, club meetings are held jointly. Several meets were held with other high schools in this area to give members a little stiff competition.

At attention and ready to lead Rifle Club in its activities are John Staack, president; Dale Johnson, secretary-treasurer; Julie Bennett, vice-president.

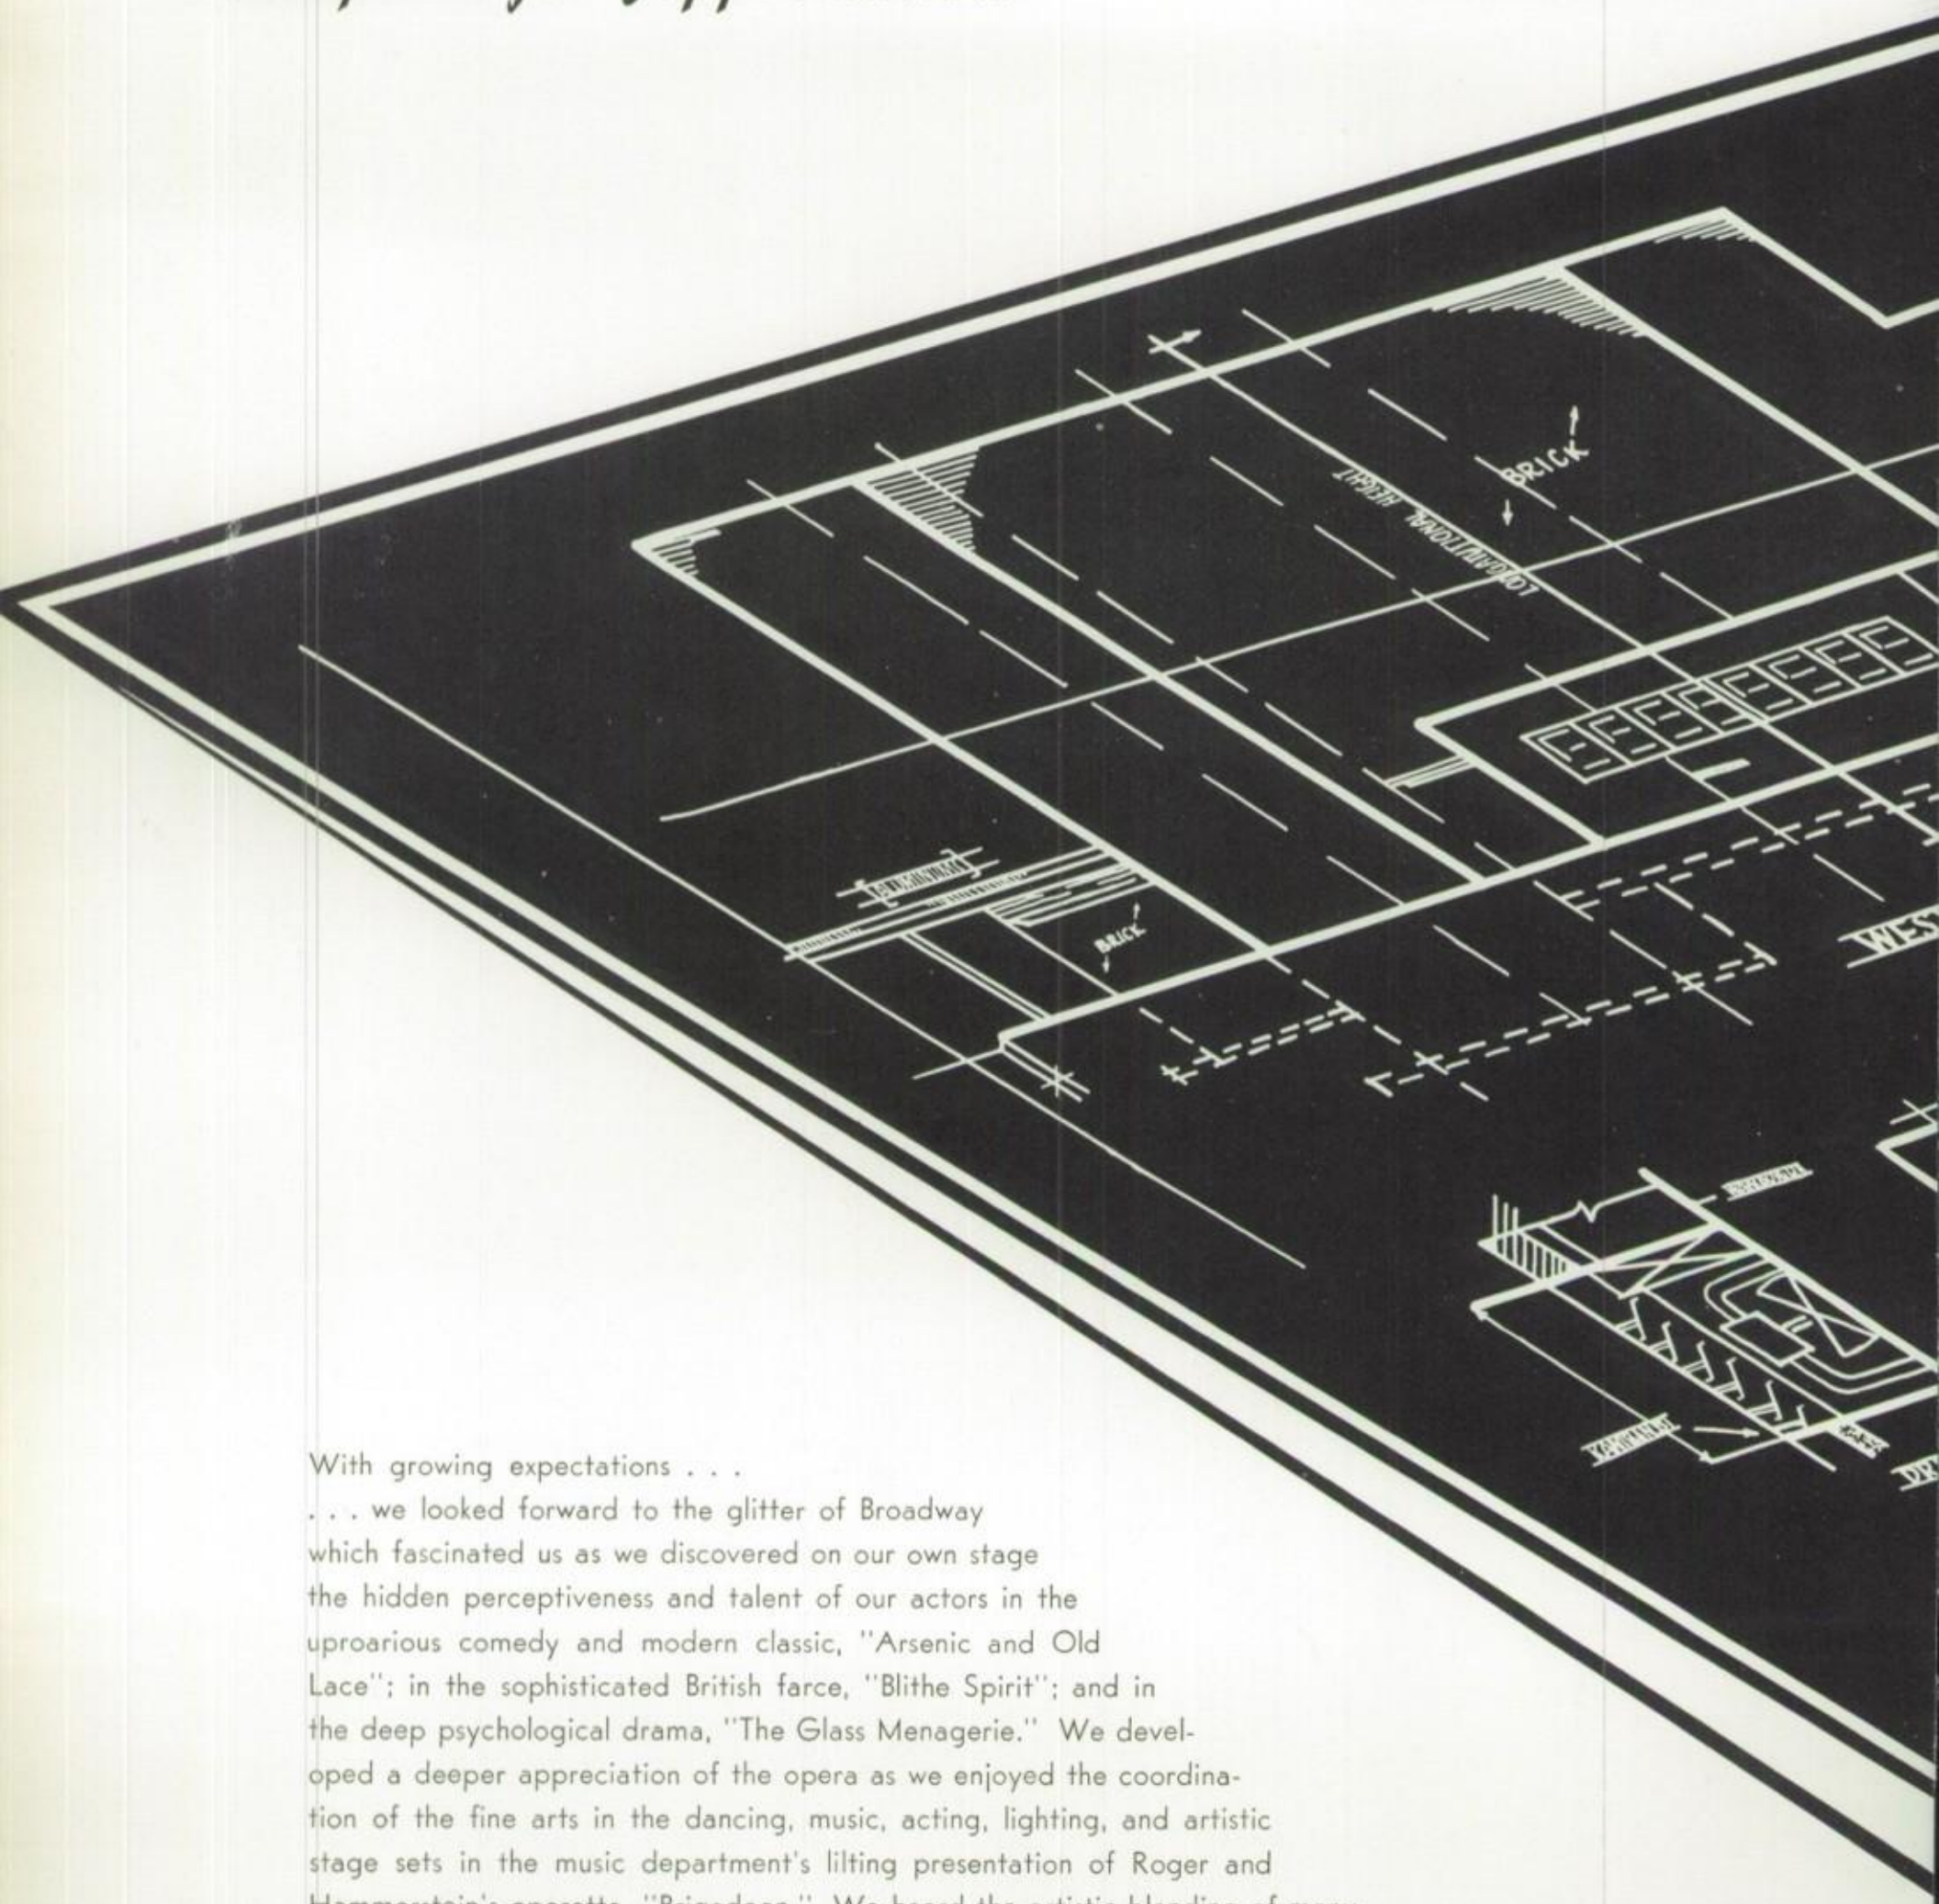
Blueprint for Appreciation



With growing expectations . . .
. . . we looked forward to the glitter of Broadway which fascinated us as we discovered on our own stage the hidden perceptiveness and talent of our actors in the uproarious comedy and modern classic, "Arsenic and Old Lace"; in the sophisticated British farce, "Blithe Spirit"; and in the deep psychological drama, "The Glass Menagerie." We developed a deeper appreciation of the opera as we enjoyed the coordination of the fine arts in the dancing, music, acting, lighting, and artistic stage sets in the music department's lilting presentation of Roger and Hammerstein's operetta, "Brigadoon." We heard the artistic blending of many voices in "High Notes of Harmony," "One Night of Melody," and Christmas Vespers. With smiles we will always remember the humor and splash of hilarity brought to us when the seniors presented the ADC-Fellowship production.

FINE ARTS

Gathered under the watchful eye of a Grecian goddess are the Fine Arts Club officers, Janice Johnson, president; Kathy Oehler, secretary; and Sharon Marshall, treasurer. Absent from the picture is Don Light, vice-president.

"Taking a breather" after a Fine Arts meeting are the club sponsors, Mr. Herbert Reid, Mr. Arthur Krane, Mr. Donald Moeller, Miss Barbara Garst, and Mr. DeWayne Roush. Absent from the picture is Miss Margaret Becker.

Fine Arts Offers Program

Fine Arts Club welcomes students interested in any phase of fine arts to participate in its activities. Members of the club not only gain experience in fine arts but seek to promote greater interest in this field.

Selling Fine Arts Club season tickets was one of the first projects on their calendar. In February the club presented a humorous production, "Arsenic and Old Lace," and sponsored an after-game dance.

Students from Moline High School and other local schools provided entertainment for the meetings. Dramatic talks, singing, and advice on backstage make-up were just a few of the topics presented for the enjoyment of the members.

Weary after a long rehearsal for a fine arts production, Mardell Anderson leans on the piano and draws a deep breath.

of Varied Interests

A talent show patterned after Arthur Godfrey's was also given.

Each spring, at the Fine Arts banquet, officers are installed, and awards are presented to students in five fields of fine arts: vocal, dramatics, art, stage production, and instrumental.

A board consisting of the four officers, a representative from both the sophomore and junior classes, and the club sponsors, Miss Barbara Garst, Mr. Arthur Krane, Mr. Don Moeller, Miss Margaret Becker, Mr. DeWayne Roush, and Mr. Herbert Reid select the award winners. Recipients of the gold loving cup awards are chosen on the basis of co-operation, service, talent, and their contributions to the school and community.

Audiences nearly "died" laughing at Joseph Kesserling's hilarious comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace," presented by the Fine Arts Club. Under the able direction of Mr. DeWayne Roush, this modern classic repeated its Broadway smash success on the Moline High School stage October 24 and 26.

Play-goers will long and fondly remember the two spinster sisters, Abbey and Martha Brewster, who cultivate a peculiar taste for arsenic in their tea. Serving this choice delicacy to old gentlemen, they find need to dispose of their departed guests in a rapidly filling basement cemetery. Caretaker of this most unusual mauseleum is their delightfully unbalanced brother, who believes himself to be Teddy Roosevelt.

The plot thickens as still another brother, Jonathan, returns from his wanderings accompanied by a lengthy criminal record, the disreputable Dr. Einstein, and a somewhat cumbersome dead body. Maintaining a small degree of sanity amid riotous confusion, Elaine Harper and Mortimer Brewster provide romantic interest.

As many of the actors made their first dramatic appearance in this production, they should feel proud of its triumph as one of the many delightful comedies produced on our stage.

Blasting out news of his arrival, Teddy Brewster (Ron Schroeder), who believes himself to be Teddy Roosevelt, announces his intentions of finishing the Panama Canal to Mr. Gibbs (Chuck Bergland) and Dr. Einstein (Larry Ruggles) while lawman Steve Brooks is ready to throw a monkey wrench in the works.

Love's eternal triangle was never wackier than this isosceles composed of a befuddled husband Charles (Grant McKernie), his infuriated wife Ruth (Debbie Clymer), and a "blithe spirit" (Mardee Melin).

"I can drink you under the table any day," Charles Condomine (Grant McKernie) tells his wife Ruth (Debbie Clymer).

Two + One Spirit x Chaos = 'Blithe Spirit'

A haunting comedy, "Blithe Spirit" by Noel Coward, was presented December 5 and 6, under the direction of Mrs. Katherine Moore.

With mediums as a main course and hysteria for dessert, Charles Condomine, a successful English novelist and his wife Ruth, entertain their friends, Dr. and Mrs. Bradman. The author invites Madame Arcati, the ovaltine drinking, bicycle riding mesmerist, who, unaware of his plan to gather material for his book, conducts a seance summoning the spirits of the dead. The only spirit she musters is that of Charles's first wife, Elvira. She displays a fiendish capacity for creating utter chaos by frightening Edith, the Cockney maid, into falling down the stairs and keeping Ruth in hysterics. On this note of ghostly confusion the play revolves.

Ruth, the long suffering wife, carries on in the true "stiff upper lip" English tradition by resigning herself to housing her unseen boarder and attempting to have Elvira shipped back to that "other world." Elvira wants to kill her former husband so that he may join her, but the fates play a cruel trick and Ruth is killed instead.

To everyone's surprise, Edith the maid, is responsible for the appearance of the ghosts, which are eventually driven away, restoring peace to Charles.

Madame Arcati (Jo Velon) tries hypnotism as a means of interrogating Edith, the maid (Bonnie Seesland) while Dr. and Mrs. Bradman (Steve Brooks and Nancy Bergston) watch curiously.

Senior Cast Presents 'Glass Menagerie'

Members of the cast take time out for social purposes and to discuss the script.

Last of the high school plays presented February 20 and 21 on the old MHS stage was the senior class play, "Glass Menagerie" by the renowned Broadway playwright, Tennessee Williams.

Degradation, shattered dreams, and a collection of tiny glass animals contributed to the plot of this drama. The setting is a dingy St. Louis apartment.

Amanda Windfield, the mother who wished to see her shy, crippled daughter Laura married, had been the "belle of the ball" when she was girl. Amanda could not face the reality that Laura was crippled.

In her determination to find Laura a husband, Amanda persuades her son Tom to bring home a "gentleman caller" for Laura.

Amanda Windfield, who had once belonged to a prominent Southern family, through her marriage had lost her wealth. Coupled with Laura's handicap, Amanda withdrew from reality and turned into a nagging mother. She took everything out on Tom, who, in an attempt to disregard unpleasantness, lost himself in the movies. Laura, shy and withdrawn, found solace in her collection of glass animals.

"It was this glass animal and you that helped to bring me into reality," Laura (Kathy Blecker) explains to Jim, her gentleman caller, (Dick Wolff).

Seniors Spend Days In 'Arabian Daze'

Centered around the theme, "Arabian Daze," the twenty-first annual senior class ADC Fellowship production was presented April 24 and 25 in the MHS auditorium.

Composing the twenty-two acts and the chorus were approximately one hundred twenty-five senior students who rehearsed and practiced their acts under the able direction of Miss Barbara Garst.

The production centered around an Arabian sheik who was quite bored with life. In an attempt to find gaiety and entertainment, he searched the world over to find talent — the talent being the different acts which the seniors presented.

The writing and actual producing of the script was left in the hands of the senior class and the steering committee, aided by Miss Garst. The steering committee was composed of Janice Johnson, Carol Davis, Gayle Bruch, Kris Carlson, Elaine Johansen, Debbie Clymer, Bob Graham, Todd Snow, Dave Arnold, Tom DeJonghe, Ron Best, Jeff Buck, Joe Ewert, Don Fritz, and Jerry Fiagle.

"Arabian Daze" will long be remembered by the seniors as one of the highlights of their senior year at MHS.

Clarence Taylor's rocking imitations of well-known singers delighted ADC audiences.

Cinderella was never like this, but the modern version called "Cinderella, or just Another Fairytale" rollicked the audience with their interpretation of the classic.

"Stop the bubble machine!" shouts Pat Mayhew as she and her accomplices do a lively pantomime to Lawrence Welk.

Maybe diamonds are girls' best friend, but this act was certainly the boys' best friend of the ADC production.

"Oh Diana, won't you please be in ADC with us?" plead Jeff Buck and Tom Potter, emcees for the production.

"Jeannie's Packin' Up" is made easy with the help of the large female cast of "Brigadoon."

Music, Dancing Designs Enchanted 'Brigadoon'

Through the mists of the Scottish Highlands emerged a lovely enchanted village which charmed the audiences on March 27 and 28 and whisked them to a "Rip Van Winkle" land of gay carefree people who awake every hundred years for a day of fair. This was the story of two Americans, Jeff Douglas and Tommy Albright, who found in Brigadoon, gaiety, tragedy, and tears, but most important a love that grows from the simple things of just being together or holding hands while walking through the heather.

Hearts thrilled to the unforgetable music by the team of Allen Lerner and Frederick Leowe — the rousing songs sung by the hearty townspeople on MacConnachy Square, the exciting and suspense filled sword dance, and the tender romantic duets, "It's Almost Like Being in Love" and "The Heather On the Hill."

Tragedy and suspense marked the "chase" scene where a villager attempted to break the magic spell of enchantment and met death.

The heart of those who had ever loved went out to Tommy and his Scottish lass, Fiona, whose love was torn by time and space but proved great enough to conquer each.

While Maggie (Carole Sanders), Harry (Spiro Dellos), Charles (Paul Ruud), and Jeannie (Jody Marquis), dance for them, Meg (Mary Haemer), Jeff (Grant McKernie), Tommy and Fiona discuss the approaching wedding.

With bowed heads and solemn silence, the male cast of "Brigadoon" pays respects to their departed friend, Harry Beaton, played by Spiro Dellos.

Looks of wonderment and fear cross the faces of the people of "Brigadoon" as Harry Beaton (Spiro Dellos) warns them of his plans to leave the town and break the enchantment surrounding it.

Two Hundred Voices Blend

Long known for its excellent choirs and their public performances the MHS vocal department has achieved success through the efforts of their able director, Miss Margaret Becker.

Made up of approximately two hundred voices, the singers are divided into one mixed chorus, two girls' choruses, and the operetta workshop and dancers. Throughout the year this department worked long and hard to prepare for their numerous performances. All groups participate in every program in some capacity.

First on the year's agenda was "High Notes of Harmony" in November, which featured the orchestra spiced by the choirs, who added just the needed amount of variety. Turn-about characterized the Christmas Vespers in December, the Christmas gift that MHS annually presents the community. In this event all the choirs combined to present the holiday program. There two of the choirs were arrayed in holly and pine boughs as a living Christmas tree. "Brigadoon" — Rogers and Hammerstein's colorful operetta was presented by the music groups in March. The choirs also sang for the Y-Teen, Hi-Y Easter Holy Week services. Last on their busy schedule was "One Night of Melody" where the groups presented the music of the famous composing duos, Gilbert and Sullivan and Rogers and Hammerstein. The operetta workshop was featured in this presentation as they enacted "Trial by Jury" by Gilbert and Sullivan.

Dancers, Sextet Create Swingin' Rhythm

"One, two, three, kick" is heard as the newly formed group of operetta dancers perfect an intricate reel or a graceful waltz. The troupe became established in their first year when they practiced every day to perfect each routine. The sixteen girls, under the capable direction of Carol Sanders, gave outstanding performances with graceful loops in "High Notes of Harmony," "One Night of Melody," and "Brigadoon."

The swish of full skirts and the blend of harmonious voices easily identified the sextet.

Practicing on their own time, the girls displayed exceptional talent in perfecting arrangements of professional quality. Some of their most well known selections were "Around the World," "Bidin' My Time," and an old favorite with a new rock 'n' roll twist, "Ole Man River."

White blouses and full felt skirts made up the winter costumes of this group. In the spring they wore light green frocks with dark green sashes. Winning smiles, and lilting voices warranted a "first" for the sextet from the judges in the district music contest, and sent them on to state competition.

These gals had a busy schedule throughout the school year performing for functions at Butterworth Center, the YMCA, the YWCA, and in our auditorium. Acting as good will ambassadors, they represented our school in several exchange programs with other Quad-City schools.

Always ready with a song are the members of the sextet: Diana Sellers, Tobi Marshall, Loretta Kammerman, Marilyn McFarland, Mary Haemer, Mary Yohn, and their pianist, Dana Patton.

With a sparkle in their eyes, and with a song in their hearts, this group has long been favorite entertainment for numerous organizations. Included in the Tonettes are Loretta Kammerman, Tobi Marshall, Jan Johnson, and pianist, Penny Pruitt.

Tonettes, Scenery Display Exotic Color

The curly-topped Tonettes have been a favorite entertainment for numerous organizations and their functions. Originating in the fall of 1956, these three senior girls and their accompanist have become well liked throughout the school because of their beautifully blended voices and originality. With sparkle in their eyes and clever actions, the Tonettes are identified with the songs, "Gonna Get Along Without You Now," "Tonight You Belong to Me," "You'll Never Walk Alone," and "Where or When."

Lively brushes, blushing with many colors, toiled busily to provide scenery for this year's productions. Under the direction of Mr. Donald Moeller, students combined their talents to design and interpret the settings of the various plays.

Creating a theatrical atmosphere in front of the auditorium Mr. Moeller and clever students create large, brilliantly lighted signs to publicize coming attractions.

Teamwork, as always, is helpful here as Mr. Don Moeller, art instructor, and Peggy Helstrom paint scenery for "The Glass Menagerie."

"Be careful, you're going to drop it!" yells Melanie Babich to Anne Peterson and Bev Woods, while attempting to display an important sign announcing the senior class play.

Symphonette Accompanies Scottish Operetta

Symphonette is the name the orchestra chose this year for their twenty-one piece group of musicians. This group has had a busy year furnishing music at school plays, numerous performances for students and the public, and playing at the June graduation exercises. They have put in many hours of practice under the able direction of Mr. Herbert Ried.

Light classical and musical comedy selections were presented at "High Notes of Harmony" in November when the symphonette performed at its big concert appearance, assisted by the operetta workshop and the girls' choruses. A capsule version of this performance was presented at several junior and senior high schools in the Quad-Cities during the remainder of the year.

Perhaps a minor, but important part of the schedule of the symphonette, is providing music before performances and plays and during each intermission.

A Scottish musical, "Brigadoon," was probably the highlight of the year. The Highland Fling, performed by the operetta dancers, stole the show, as the Symphonette provided the orchestral music.

Looking over a new arrangement are the officers of the Symphonette: Virginia Jones, secretary-treasurer; Jonna Wilkens, vice-president; and Chuck Hoffman, president. Seated is Mr. Ried, conductor.

Delightful music fills the air as the orchestra ensemble, consisting of Linda Parsons, Verna Hammond, and Grant McKernie, rehearse one of their arrangements.

Triple Trio, Scan Singers Blend Velvet Voices

Sixteen lively, lovely girls, talented in both dancing and singing as well as the ability to speak Swedish, well describes the group known as the Scandinavian Singers. Miss Margaret Becker, director, instructs these young ladies in tunes sung in the Scandinavian language. Donning their bright and vivid costumes made up of red stockings, black skirts, striped aprons, white blouses, and various bright colored vests, this group is both colorful to see and enjoyable to hear. They have performed in "One Night of Melody," "High Notes of Harmony," and the Christmas Vespers.

Nine girls practicing weekly under the direction of Miss Becker, formed another musical group, the triple trio. Accompanied by Nancy Sims, they wore black skirts topped with white sweaters when performing.

Both the Scan Singers and the Triple Trio have performed at programs outside of school and at such school productions as "One Night of Melody," Christmas Vespers, and "High Notes of Harmony."

Grinning broadly are these pert lassies who headed the Scandinavian Singers this year: Bonnie Suitor, president; Dorothy Fuller, secretary; and Nancy Sims, vice-president and treasurer.

Rhythmic Routines, Stimulating Marches

"Left, right, left right," quietly accented each of the seventy-one band members on chilly evenings last fall as they stepped briskly onto Browning Field at the half of football games to perform lively marches and novelty routines.

This group, the largest musical organization at MHS, supported the gridders at four home games and the game at Rock Island. Varying their program, the band entertained with themes of transportation, television shows, "Noah's Ark," and "Droodles," under the direction of Dr. Willard Starkey.

Contributing to the electric atmosphere at Wharton Field House during basketball season, the band performed for seven home games plus one appearance at the regional tournament. The concert season entailed engagements at Monmouth, Galesburg, Knoxville and Kewanee, their concert; the spring festival; and an assembly program.

Several band members displayed exceptional talents as soloists or as parts of ensembles at district and state contests. Chuck Hoffman represented the band at the All-State Music Activity at Peoria. Six members participated in a music clinic in Davenport last fall.

Highlighting the year's band program was the formation of a clinic in co-sponsorship with the junior high school bands, which featured the State University of Iowa Woodwind Quintet as a performing group and its members as clinic instructors.

In full dress the band is at attention and ready to begin a concert at Wharton Field House.

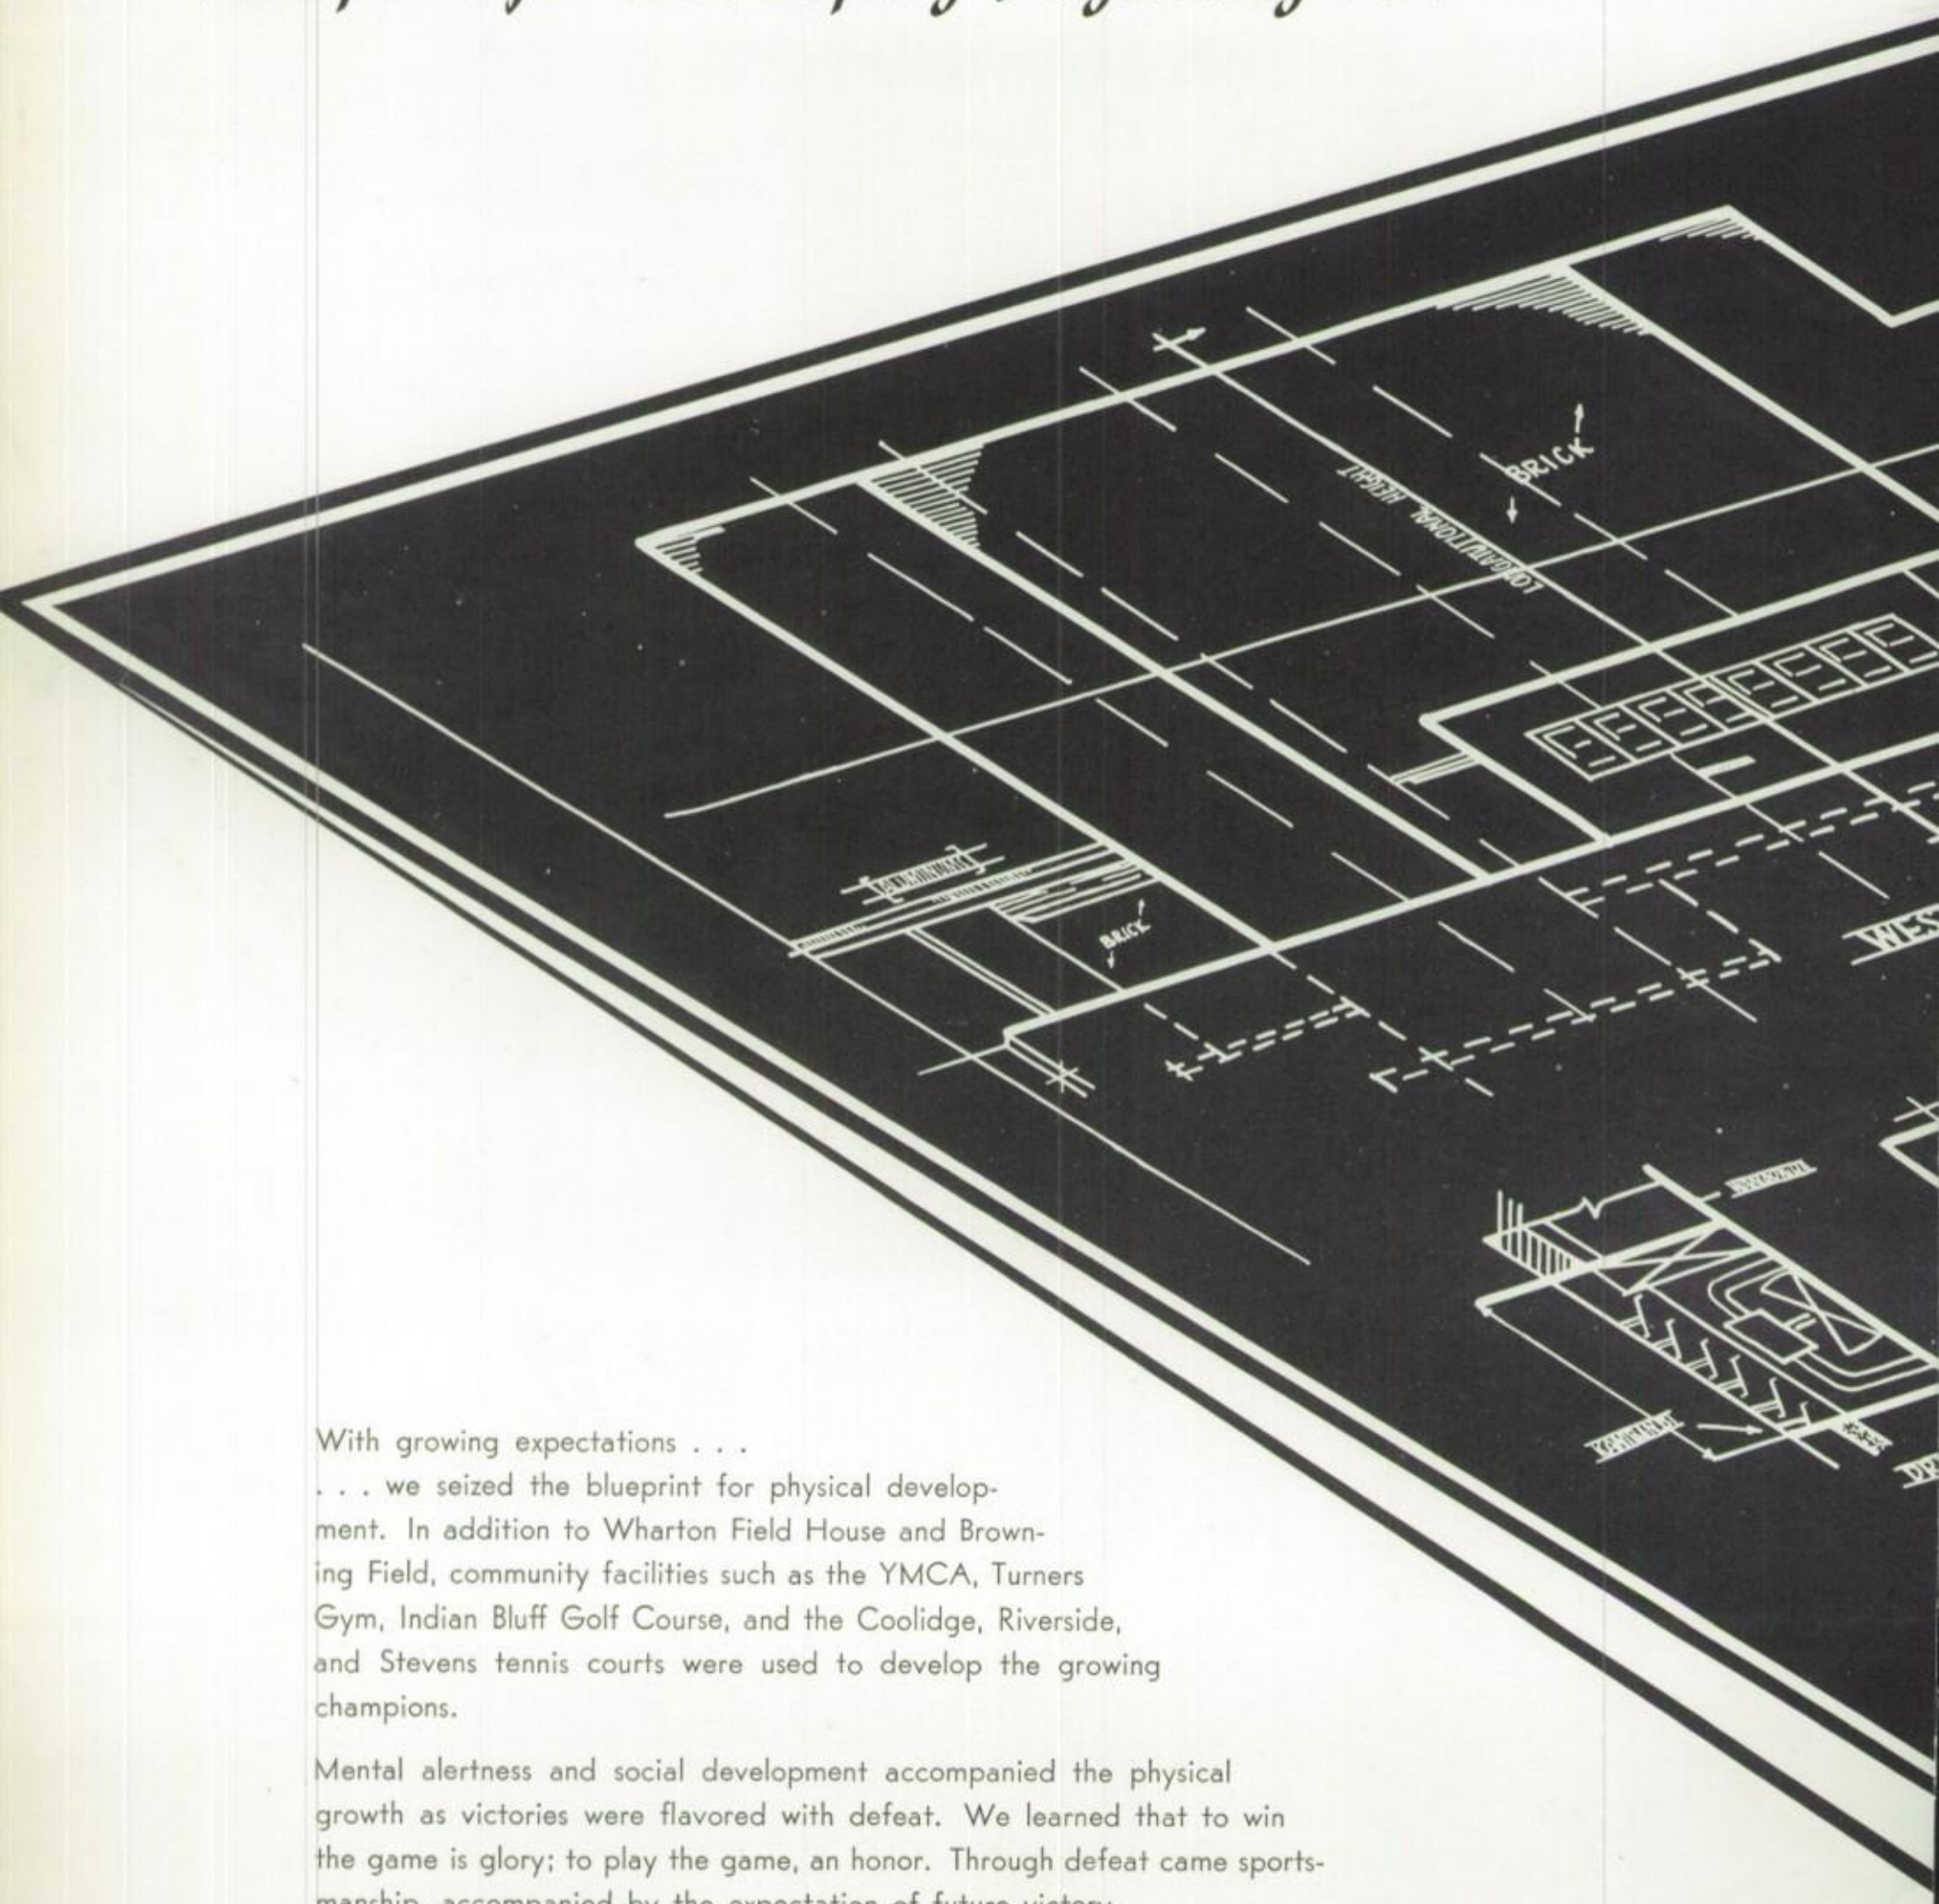
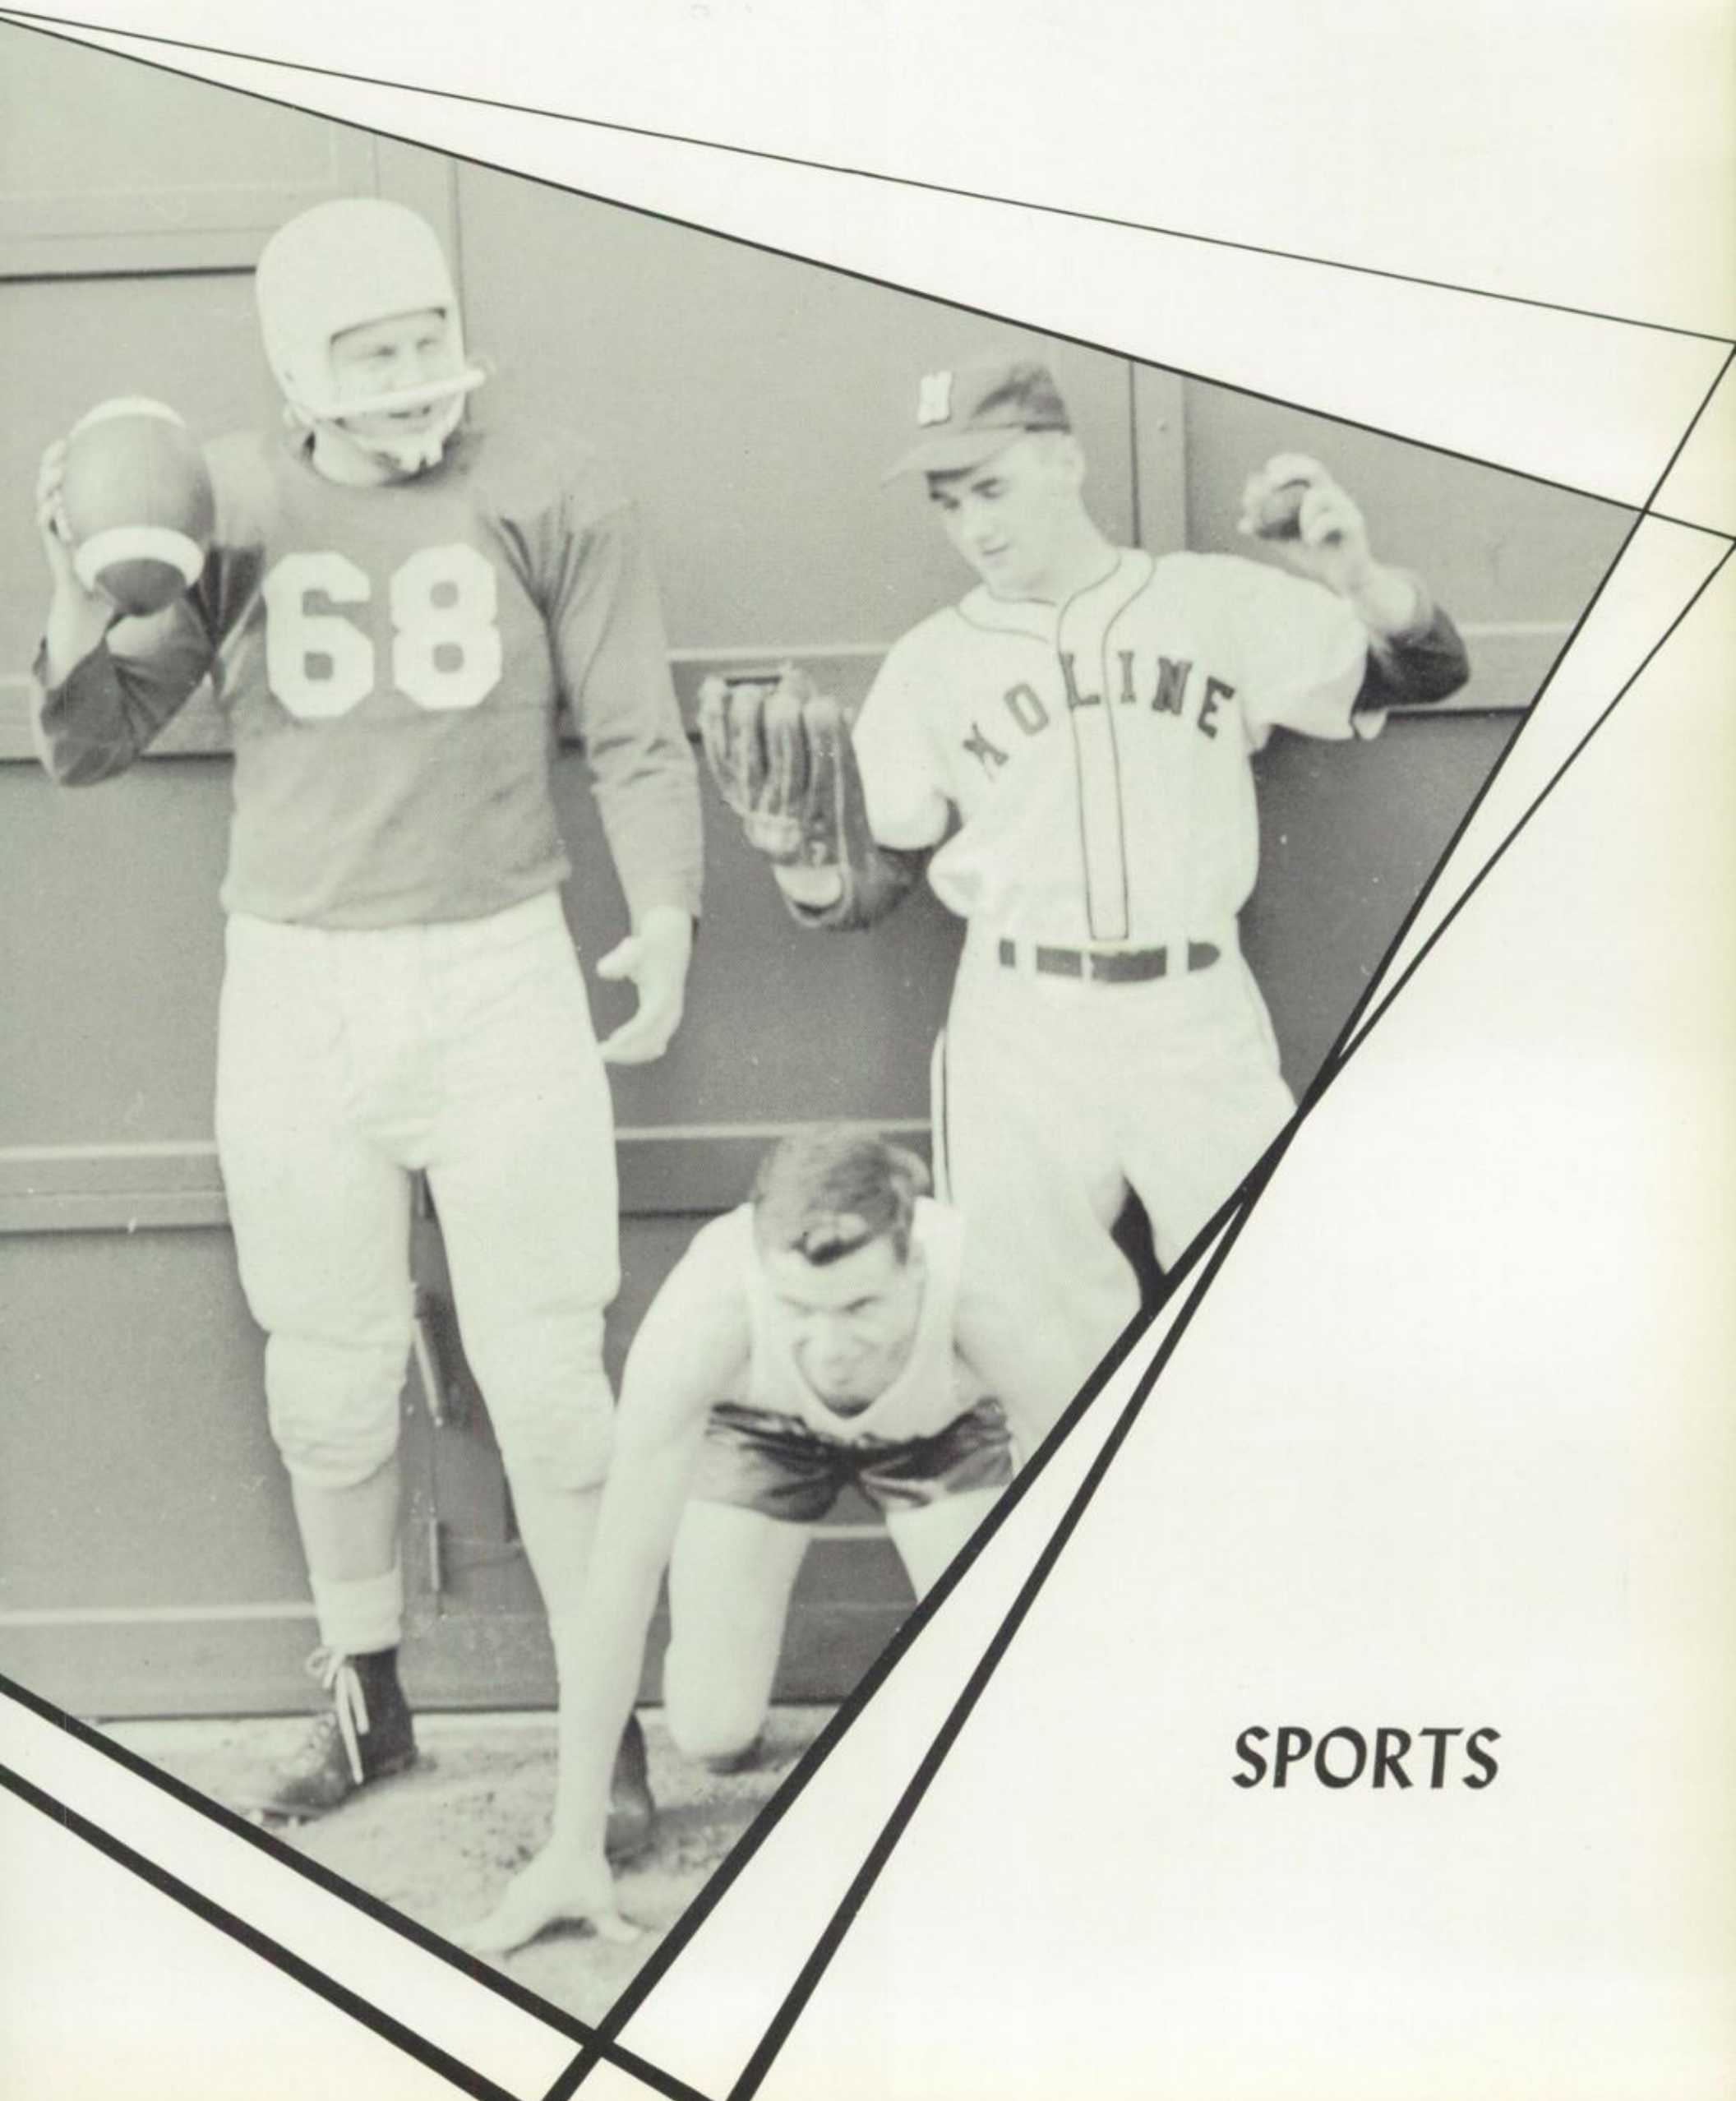
Blueprint for Developing Physically . . .



With growing expectations . . .
. . . we seized the blueprint for physical development. In addition to Wharton Field House and Browning Field, community facilities such as the YMCA, Turners Gym, Indian Bluff Golf Course, and the Coolidge, Riverside, and Stevens tennis courts were used to develop the growing champions.

Mental alertness and social development accompanied the physical growth as victories were flavored with defeat. We learned that to win the game is glory; to play the game, an honor. Through defeat came sportsmanship, accompanied by the expectation of future victory.

Venturing into the fields of baseball, basketball, cross-country, football, golf, gymnastics, swimming, tennis, track, and wrestling, each one found the sport which appealed to his individual interest.



SPORTS

"Maroon and white, fight, fight!" commanded the varsity and sophomore cheerleaders as they radiated enthusiasm and spirit in leading the student body at pep assemblies and games.

In mid-September, hopeful girls tried out for varsity and sophomore cheerleading positions in their respective assemblies. Principal Lamont Hultgren, the counselors, coaches, Student Congress representatives, and the cheerleading sponsor, Mrs. Jean Carlson judged the girls on their appearance, rhythm, timing, grace, poise, enunciation, and student response. After the votes were tallied and the regulars had been announced, they and Mrs. Carlson chose the five alternates from the junior girls who previously had tried out.

Promptly at 7:30 every Monday morning, twenty sleepy-eyed cheerleaders reported to the gym to work on cheers — old and new. Under the supervision of Mrs. Carlson, the girls strove for perfection.

Every week a different member of both squads was given the opportunity to serve as captain whose job it was to choose the cheers for her pep assembly and game. Last spring, the varsity and sophomore groups, respectively, chose Julie Bennett and Joyce Thorngren to be honorary captains. Varsity cheerleaders were presented in the spring with an M and the sophomores received numerals.

MHS Yell Belles Urge Maroons To Victories

Each year the athletic department gives the Cheerleading Club a sum of money. This year the money went for the purchase of new uniforms for the varsity squad. Last year's newly donned outfits were given to the sophomore cheerleaders. After choosing the design of the skirt, the five varsity regulars selected a pattern. Mrs. Harley Moorhusen and Mrs. Galeno Panicucci, mothers of Nonie and Luanne, made the skirts to fit the girls.

Pleated knee length skirts were fitted to the hip line. To complete the uniform, the girls chose white crew neck sweaters. Medallions representing maroon megaphones with the word Moline printed in white across them were sewn on the fronts of the sweaters.

Dressed in their new costumes, the varsity group added new sparkle to the games and created more spirit. Wearing their new outfits for the first time at the Moline-Galesburg game, the girls really roused team spirit since the Maroons defeated the Silver Streaks.

Backing the Maroons throughout the year are the five varsity cheerleaders: Julie Bennett, Bev Vincent, Mary Murphy, Nonie Moorhusen and Luanne Panicucci.

Penny Clymer, Sally Holcomb, Joyce Thorngren, Nancy Rosborough and Pam Bell, the spirited sophomore regulars, cheer the Little Maroons on to victories.

Sparkling sophomore alternates, Jill King, Margi Eihl, Karen Hyink, Sandy Harrelson, and Pat Lievens practice for perfection.

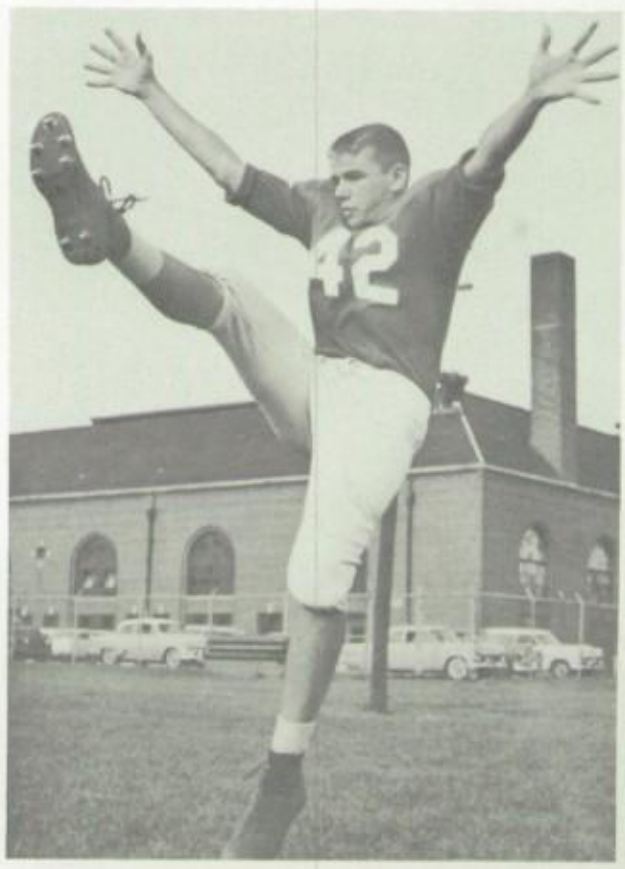
Varsity Squad Enters New Conference Play

Ending his fourth consecutive year as head football coach at MHS is Coach Archie Swanson. A graduate of Moline, Coach Swanson previously coached baseball and sophomore football before taking over the varsity football position. A chemistry teacher at MHS, Arch holds a master's degree from the University of Illinois.

Again guiding Moline's B team to a successful, six win-one loss, season was Assistant Coach Fritz Boom, completing his second year of coaching at MHS. A former football player for the University of Illinois, Boom previously handled all sports at Coal Valley Junior High. In addition to coaching, he teaches geometry and algebra.

Bill Baltzell completed his first year as Coach Swanson's assistant this season. Last year he was an assistant to the sophomore coach, Joe Vavrus. Coach Baltzell attended East Moline High, where he played on the baseball, basketball and football teams. While attending Western Illinois State Teacher's college, he lettered in these three sports. Mr. Baltzell also teaches driving and safety classes and assists in baseball coaching.

Opening the '57 season with the Dubuque Rams, the Moline Maroons drew first blood with Al Scott scoring the initial varsity touchdown of the infant season. Making their bid to tie the score, the Rams bulled their way into Moline's end zone for a TD. Late in the final period Maroon quarterback, Jeff Buck, plowed over from the two-yard line for six points. Placekicker, John Staack, made good to give the Maroons a 14-6 victory.



Punting deep in opponents' territory was a chore accepted by back, Bob Mason.

Taking time out from practice, coaches, Jack Coder, Archie Swanson, Fritz Boom, and Bill Baltzell look over prospects for the Maroon eleven.

Maroons Post 3-5-2 Record

In the opening quarter against Thomas Jefferson, the Maroons took advantage of Jefferson's fumbles as Bob Graham and Ron Best scored two quick TD's. Breaking a tie score in the fourth quarter, Jeff Buck scored for a 21-14 Maroon victory.

High scoring and wide open offense highlighted the third game at the Rock Island stadium. The Maroons and Rocky's Booker Edgerson had an exciting scoring duel but the Rocks emerged victorious with a score 33-26. The Rocky Stadium jinx had proved successful for the twenty-first year in succession.

With renewed confidence the Maroons hosted an exceptionally big Washington eleven from Cedar Rapids. Although the Warriors were the first to score, Bob Graham, Ron Best and Tom Seitz each crossed the end zone; Washington could repeat but once. The final score stood 21-13 for the third Maroon victory.

Homecoming spirits dropped when the flu epidemic entering the Panther's cage caused East Moline to withdraw. A last minute scheduling of the Pioneers reduced spirits more as Moline fell 34-7 before a powerful Alleman crew.

Iowa City, the next opponent scheduled, could only tie a 7-7 deadlock. Grabbing a 7-0 first quarter lead, the Little Hawks made it stick until the fourth quarter when Moline speedster, Tom Seitz, rambled 83 yards for a touchdown. John Staack converted and the deadlock stood.

Everything was in favor of Davenport as the injury and flu riddled Maroons met a powerful and undefeated Blue Devil team. Good defensive play by some unseasoned underclassmen and by linebacker Curt Kave almost ruined the Blue Devils homecoming but fell short at 7-0.

"Come on, fall down," pleads guard, Curt Kave, as he wrestles a Dubuque back to the ground.

Miracle Pass-Touchdown Ties Final Game

Clinton, the leading offensive team in the conference, was next on the Maroon schedule. With the score tied 7-7 in the final period, Clinton's Gary Lorenz scored two TD's providing the margin 20-7.

With the intent to avenge the breaking of their 43-game string of victories the year before, East St. Louis came to Moline. The first half was all Moline as they took a quick 7-0 lead. An inspired Flyer crew came out of the dressing room the second half to score two touchdowns which were enough to win 13-7.

The final game of the campaign proved to be the most exciting of the up and down season. Trailing 7-0 by virtue of an East Moline touchdown in the last minute of play the Maroons had 32 seconds to score. Two running plays ate up all but nine seconds and by the time the play was in motion time had run out. Jeff Buck faded back and threw a 38 yard pass to Tommy Seitz who carried the remaining distance for the TD. John Staack converted his 15th extra point in 17 attempts for a tie and an exciting climax to the season.

With a look of determination, Maroon halfback, Al Scott, begins another of his power drives which were greatly missed when Al, in mid-season, moved to Arizona.

Rugged tackle, Bill Bump, takes his position on the line as he prepares to put the crush on the opposing linemen.

Several individual honors were received by the varsity football squad. Elected as honorary team captain at the close of the season was senior back, Bob Graham. Ron Best received the best sportsmanship award and Joe Ewert was voted the most improved player. Not only was senior tackle, Gary Brown, voted the most valuable player but he also was named a member of the first team of the Mississippi Valley All-Conference squad.

Resigned to his fate, Blue Devil, Tom Kenyon, halfback from Davenport, is about to join his fallen comrades as Terry Poston (27), Chuck Larvenz and Curt Kave move in for the kill.

Moline's sophomore gridders repeated last year's soph record by piling up two wins, five losses and one tie during the 1957 season. Coach Tom Kienle, starting his first year at the soph coaching post, replaced former Coach Joe Vavrus. Offering assistance were Coaches Dale Pauley and Dick Lewis.

Both Little Maroon wins were over Clinton's River Kings. Although this year was the first in the newly-formed Mississippi Valley Conference, the sophs met no new foes.

Rugged Quad-City area contests were responsible for the Little Maroon's five defeats. Rock Island tied the sophomores once while Davenport tripped them twice. Defeating the sophomores were East Moline, Alleman and Galesburg, adding one loss apiece.

Occasional practice sessions and scrimmaging with the varsity and 'B' team highlighted the training schedule for the 40 sophomore gridsters as they hopefully prepared to step into varsity positions.

Following the final game, halfback, Carl Davis was chosen honorary captain as 24 of his teammates received the sophomore numerals.

Snipes, Ought Eights Clinch Intramural Title

Nearly one hundred fifty boys took part in the two intramural leagues, guided by Coaches Fritz Boom and Jack Coder. In the senior league, the Snipes, led by Bill McCormick, won the hard fought race while Alan Larsen's Ought Eights ran a close second. Bob Bebber took individual scoring honors for the season by dumping in 174 points. He was followed by Dennis Smiddy with 163 and Jeff Buck with 154. Carl Fisher took the individual free throw honor by sinking 43.

Larsen's Ought Eights fought off a valiant last game surge of Neil Olson's Kats to take top place in the junior-sophomore league. Jerry Brotman's Pansies and Rich Jones' Jerky Jockies were third and fourth, respectively. Gene Braggs copped the scoring crown by getting 162 points. Following him were Al Larsen with 130 and Doug Willard with 129. Braggs also scored the most field goals by getting 71 tallies from the field.

Assistant football Coaches Fritz Boom and Jack Coder with their assistants, Larry Spiegel, Tom Hokinson, Norm Stoehr, John Goranson, and Gerry St. John, take time out from scoring and timing.

Bennett Finishes First Year As Tanker Mentor

Under the direction of the new Coach Bob Bennett, the Moline swim team completed its season with a four-win, seven-loss record. The team's wins were over Muscatine, 42-42; (forfeit) Monmouth, 67-14 and 56-22; LaSalle-Peru, 52-34. Its losses were at the hands of Washington of Cedar Rapids, Muscatine, Janesville, Wisconsin, and two each to Clinton and Burlington. This year's team was well balanced with uniform performance in all events, the advantage of which was evident in the number of wins.

Practice began in late October at the YMCA pool. The team swam an hour a day after school five days a week with extra sessions on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Practices included a two or three hundred yard warm up, starts and turns, time trials, "pulling" and "kicking," and sprints.

Events in the meets were the 40-yard free style sprint, 100-yard free style, backstroke, butterfly, and breast stroke. Others were the 200-yard free style, individual medley, medley relay, and diving competition.

Seniors lost by graduation were Larry Ruggles, George Wendt, Doug Bendle, Lorne Edwards, Gary Hawkinson, Chuck Ydeen, Jim Huyser, Tim Bennett, Ken Ahlstrand, Bob Bixler, Dave Arnold, and John Peterson.

'Bob And Ray' Lead Harriers To Best Season

Capturing first place crowns in the Mississippi Valley Conference Cross Country Meets at both Cedar Rapids and East Moline, the Moline Harriers were ushered back to MHS by the proud fans.

Leading the way at the district meet in October were Bob Lindrud and Ray Ott, seniors; and Dave Jackson, sophomore, placing first, second, and third, respectively. Major returning lettermen this season were Bob Lindrud, John Vershaw, and Ray Ott, all seniors. Stiff competition faced the harriers as they trotted against Rock Falls, Rock Island, East Moline, and Davenport.

Running the hilly, wooded course at Riverside Park, the harriers trained for the 1.9 mile meet event by running from five to ten miles each night.

Receiving major letters for their outstanding performances were seniors, Bob Lindrud, Ray Ott, Duane Olivier, John Vershaw; junior, Bill Burgess; and sophomores, Dave Jackson and Dave Johnson.

Through the coaching of Gene Shipley and encouragement of the senior manager, Tom Stutz, the Moline squad finished the dual meet season undefeated.

As the MHS squad, featuring the Bob and Ray combo, entered state competition, spirits were high, and their fans were well rewarded as Ray was crowned the state champ and Bob placed a close second.

Placing ninth in the state finals at Urbana in November, the MHS squad ended with a record which surpassed all previous harrier standings.

Senior lettermen, Bob Lindrud and Ray Ott, let the harriers to their best year. At the state finals the Bob and Ray combo took over as Ray was crowned state champ with Bob pacing a close second.

Maroons End Successful Season With 22-6 Record

Led by the brilliant coaching of Jack Foley and Bill Bishop, Moline's spirited Maroons entered tournament play with 18 wins and 5 losses. Geneseo took the position of first-round foe to meet the Moline Five. After topping the Maple Leafs, 67-42, Moline came back to drop the Pioneers of Alleman, 51-48, giving the Maroons a final-round regional berth. Favored Rock Island fell before the surging Maroons as Moline grabbed their own regional crown, 55-54. Geneseo was the site for sectional play as Moline stacked up another win over the Alwood Aces, 49-29. The Maroons were knocked out of tournament play by the Fulton Steamers, 70-62, in the final game at Geneseo.

Last year's Illinois champs, West Rockford, invaded Wharton Field House for the first game of the 1957-58 season. Moline countered the Warrior cagers with Vern Johnson, Bob Lindrud, Bill Parsons, Tom Potter and Hap Catterton to drop the champs, 51-47. In Moline's first game of the newly-formed Mississippi Valley Conference, Dubuque toppled before the Maroons, 64-67.

The Valley Conference is composed of the four Quad-City schools, Moline, East Moline, Rock Island and Davenport; and these Iowa schools, Dubuque, Iowa City, Jefferson and Washington of Cedar Rapids, and Clinton.

Moline's traditional first tilt with Rocky was played at the field house. Moline lead, 23-21, at half-time and held a slim margin during the third quarter. Rock Island slipped ahead in the fourth quarter by pulling out the Maroons' defense and driving in for short baskets to drop Moline, 53-43. Only one week after the Rocks' game the Maroons met their old rival East Moline on the same battlefield. Last-minute driving pulled the Maroons into the lead, 40-37, to gain their first Quad-City victory.

Iowa City's Little Hawks were the Maroons' next foe at Iowa City. After holding a lead throughout much of the game, Moline's defense collapsed and allowed the Little Hawks to pick up the win, 43-41.

Rocky's Don Nelson (51) and Wayne Poston try desperately to secure the ball from Moline's Bob Lindrud as Bill Parsons (23) and Al Eastland (31) help their teammate. Spirit was high as the Maroons upset Rocky at the field house, 55-54.

Without the hard-working managers the varsity squad would have been greatly handicapped. Taking time out from their numerous duties are Bob Boyum, Paul Rouse, Dale Dumas, and Alan Larsen.

Ending the old year in traditional manner, Moline met Davenport, Iowa State High School champions. After a seesaw contest the score was knotted at the end of regulation play. Likewise after one overtime, the score was again tied. The second extra period deadlocked leading to a sudden-death overtime. Moline cautiously grabbed the rebound and worked the ball around until Tom Potter drove up the middle for a lay-up, sending the Maroons ahead, 53-51.

Moline avenged their early season loss to the Rocks by stunning them to the tune of 44-43. A last-second bucket by Hap Catterton sent the Maroons ahead to stay for their twelfth win of the year. The regular season ended with Moline making the long jaunt to Quincy where the Maroons dumped the favored Blue Devils, 63-62.

A new idea appeared this year as the Maroons each bought matched jackets and trousers for games away from home. The Maroon jackets have basketball insignias and the gray pants and black ties finish off the outfit. Coaches Foley and Bishop also wore the same kind of outfit.

"It's mine and I'm going to keep it!" Hap Catterton seems to be saying as Alleman Pioneer Darrell Bartz, interferes.

Maroons Upset Rocky, Capture Regional Crown

Both the spirit of the team and the fans was high as the Maroons entered tournament competition. Tension spread throughout Wharton Field House as the Maroons battled against the Rocks. Moline overcame their tough opponent by one point to win the regional trophy. Geneseo was the site for the sectional tournament where Moline dumped Alwood, 49-29. Losing to the Fulton Steamers, 70-62, the Maroons placed second in the sectional.

Stevens Leads Sophomore Cagers to 19-4 Record

Starting slow, the sophomore cagers threw off an early season jinx to compile a sparkling 19-4 record. The beginning slump was marked by upsets in two of the first three starts. The losses were dealt to the sophs by both East and West Rockford. Directed by Coach Al Stevens in his second year of Maroon sophomore mentoring, and on the floor by Brad Baraks, captain of the team, the Little Maroon quintet smoothed off rough edges and proceeded to a successful season. In winning nineteen games the underclassmen swept both the Quad-City Conference and the New Mississippi Valley Conference titles.

Outstanding players on the season's sophomore squad include the two top scorers, Baraks and Alan Carius, who maintained 13.7 and 13.2 points per game averages, respectively. Don Rose, also a consistant starter throughout the sophomore season, sparked the team with skill in rebounding and shooting. After a slow start little Larry Hultgren hit his pace and gave the cager outfit added scoring punch that helped tally a 19-4 record.

In the latter part of the season the sophs polished up on form. Losing only to Clinton in an overtime, they gained needed experience to boost the next year's squad. Others eyeing varsity team positions next year are Denny Dhabalt, Dick Schluter, Bill Carius, Craig Petrilli, and Don Hull.

Coach Moore Guides Team To Victories

Girls' tennis is becoming an increasingly popular sport among the MHS girls each year. This year under the able coaching of Mrs. Kay Moore, the team composed of ten girls, played twelve matches with the three other Quad-City high schools. Six matches were played in the fall, two with each of the schools. In the spring the remaining six matches were played. At the end of the season the Quad-City championship is determined from the records of all schools participating. At the close of the full season the MHS team had a record of three wins and three losses.

Starting the year without a coach, the team had to postpone two matches and as a result had a late start. The three wins of the fall season came in two singles matches with Davenport and East Moline and in a doubles match with Rock Island.

Holding down first team positions were Linda DeBacker and Carol Davis, seniors; Bev Bergstrom, Mary Bergerson and Janet Burkland, juniors; and sophomores Karen Hyink and Bev White. Other members of the team were Joan Peterson, senior; Sandra Denen, junior; and Marianne Rosenberg, sophomore.

Practice resumed on the Calvin Coolidge and Riverside courts in early April with the spring season beginning later in the month. Playing Davenport in singles, the netsters lost 1-6 but came back to beat East Moline 4-2 in the second singles meet with Carol Davis, Janet Burklund, Bev White and Mary Bergerson posting wins for Moline.

Racketmen Capture First in Quad-City

Convinced of the truth of Coach Ken Johnson's philosophy that "tennis is the finest conditioning sport of all sports," the sixteen boys of the net squad worked tirelessly to end the fall season with a four and two record in dual meet competition. This was accomplished by beating Davenport and East Moline each twice and losing twice to Rock Island.

In Coach Johnson's first year of coaching at MHS, his racketmen placed first in the Quad-City doubles tournament and third in the Quad-City singles tournament.

All nine senior members participated in fall meets. The group included Ken Ahlstrand, Bob Bixler, Stu Nelson, John Olson, Bill Parsons, Larry Ruggles, Dick Swanson and Ron Swanson. Two juniors, Jim O'Conner and Alan Van Hull, also saw action in meets. Peter Holm, junior, and Gary Grissom, Jim Light, Kent McChesney and Charles Stang, sophomores, practiced with the others but did not take part in inter-school games.

"Takes two to tangle," groans Dick Parrish as he squeezes his Orion opponent.

"This is called wringing out the towel . . .," Coach Vavrus explains to wrestling managers, Larry Spiegel, Jerry Koester, Mike Langbehn, John Steemburg, John Schenk, and Dennis Faust as Coach Taylor watches the demonstration.

McLean Leads Maroon Grapplers to State

Moline won three first place wrestling titles when Gary Brown, Norm McLean, and Gary Young again helped out by winning the first places at the sectional meet in Rock Island. Dick Parrish, Bill Sunlin, Dave Hyland, and Bruce Peterson also won themselves a place in this meet by putting Moline as a team in second place.

After successfully competing in the district and sectional meets, Gary Brown, Gary Young, and Norm McLean were eligible to go on to the state championship at Arlington Heights. Brown and McLean got through the first round of the state meet but were eliminated later. Brown went the farthest by winning two matches and losing two; however, neither one was able to place.

In the district contest, Norm McLean was the only one successful enough to win a first place medal. Moline came from behind to win a third place title for the school. Dick Parrish, Larry Neff, Randy Munn, Gary Young, Norm McLean, Dick Horneck, Bill Sunlin, Dave Hyland, Bruce Peterson, and Gary Brown all successfully placed in the district meet.

Brown racked up a total of 95 points winning 22 matches, losing 5 and getting pinned but once. He was also Moline's high point man. Young, ranking second in points, got a total of 78, winning 18 matches, losing 5 and tying 2. McLean placed third with 55 points, winning 15 and losing 6 matches. He also won three major wrestling letters.

Only four major lettermen will leave the squad, Gary Brown, Norm McLean, Bill Sunlin, and Gary Young.

Coaches Joe Vavrus and Gordon Taylor directed Moline's wrestling squad this year to an eight-win, six-loss record.

Maroon Linksters End Successful Season

Moline's golf team boasts a record of four wins and only one loss last fall in competition with the local Quad-City teams. The loss was to Davenport.

Basing themselves at the Indian Bluffs golf course, one of the toughest in the area, the golfers put in many hours after school preparing for the year's matches under the direction of Coach Jack Dye. Dividing into foursomes, the 19 turfmen alternated in playing nine practice holes "at the Bluffs" each evening.

In addition to playing the Quad-City teams, the links men also played against Dubuque, Clinton, Galesburg, Kewanee, Iowa City, and Washington and Jefferson of Cedar Rapids, and participated in the district and state tournaments and the Kewanee invitational.

Consisting of ten linksters with a solid backbone made up of the top five players, Doug Willard, Bill Marthens, Craig Gober, Gary Elias and Joe Ewert, the team was favored to win the Quad-City meet in the spring season.

The powerful Maroon linksters jumped to an eight-stroke lead in the first round with Jim Mellinger, Marthens, Gober and Ewert posting a total of 150 at the Arsenal Golf Club. Second round action was scheduled for the Oakwood Country Club. In the conference play, six golfers are entered from each school with the scores of the four golfers having the least numbers of strokes totaled as the team score.

Climaxing the golf season, Coach Dye, in his second year as links mentor, awarded major letters to Elias, Ewert, Gober, Mellinger, and Willard. Elias was chosen by his team mates to serve as honorary captain.

Considering that this year's team lost their four top golfers through graduation last year, the fall and spring seasons were successful. Next year's team will rate high in experience, since only Ewert and Elias of the top five will be lost through graduation.

Moline Muscle Men Triumph in Three Meets

Completing their second year at MHS the gymnastics team finished in good form. With 57½ points the team captured first at the University of Iowa and placed sixth at Arlington Heights. In a dual meet with Marshalltown, Iowa, Moline won 93-32. At the University of Illinois the gym team edged Carmi 72½-71½.

Under the direction of Coach Bob Bennett this year's team increased to 25 members over last year's eight. Practice sessions were held at the Moline Turners sixth periods. Numerous exhibitions were made by the team in addition to their meets.

Senior Larry Drain was high scoring man on the team at interscholastic meets scoring in parallel bars, flying rings, still rings, trampoline and side horse. Junior Don Peck, scored high in still rings, parallel bars and high bar. Other high scorers were Paul Jefford, Dale Murty, and Bob Johnson.

At the first annual state gymnastics meet held at the University of Illinois in Urbana, the maroon "muscle men" team copped the seventh place trophy. Paul Jefford took eighth place honors on the side horse, Wayne Findlay placed tenth on the horizontal bars, and Larry Drain took eleventh place on the still rings. In the preliminary competition, Don Peck placed twelfth in the "all-round" and still rings. Others entered in state competition were Jay Franey on the parallel bars and Bob Johnson on the trampoline.

Lost next year because of graduation will be Paul Jefford on the parallel bars and the side horse, Wayne Findlay on the high bar, Jay Franey on the parallel bars, and Larry Drain in all-around divisions.

Gymnastic apparatus used in the events include parallel bars, flying rings, still rings, trampoline, side horse, high bar and long horse. Other events are tumbling, free exercise, and all-around.

Coach Gene Shipley, with the bulk of last year's strong track crew returning, awaited an equally successful year. Clinton, an annual track power, was picked as the team to offer the Maroons their stiffest competition. Though Clinton topped the thinclads in the Mississippi Valley meet and slipped past Moline by only 4/5 of a point in the Davenport Relays, Moline beat the River Kings by six points in a dual meet. Other big meets entered were the Quad-City and Sterling relays.

With standout distance runners, Ray Ott and Bob Lindrud paving the way, the Maroons thoroughly surprised Rock Island by humiliating them, 143 to 47. Early in the season Coach Shipley took Tom Seitz, Chuck Larvenz, Duane Olivier, Carl McSparin, Bill Hill, Ott, and Lindrud to the Oak Park relays. Lindrud was unable to enter because of last-minute illness but Ott went on to get second place in the mile, worth four points.

Walter Bunning, filling his eighth year as field-events coach, assisted Shipley. Jack Foley was in charge of the weight men. Special mention should be given Mr. Lawrence Olivier, whose nightly presence encouraged the boys by giving side tips and timing the various running events.

"You take it from here," orders Dick Schluter as Tom Hook starts his 220 yard sprint in the half-mile relay.

Returning 'Mound-Men' Lead 'Diamond' Squad

"Pssst! Let me pitch next game, coach." Coach Bill Bishop leaned an open ear to right-hander, Ron Best as "southpaw moundman," Dick Doerr, pleads with assistant coach, Bill Baltzell.

"Now where is that ball?" It's a blurred scramble for the ball as Maroon diamondmen move in "to catch 'em at home."

Starting the season strong Moline's diamondmen raced off with a doubleheader from Monmouth, 3-1 and 9-4, and single wins from East Moline and Dubuque, 11-2 and 12-4, respectively. Although boasting only two returning lettermen, Jeff Buck and Jim Wallaert, the 1958 baseball squad still showed balanced power with many returning substitutes from last year's team.

Head coach Bill Bishop and his assistant Bill Baltzell, tackled a rigorous 19-game schedule including nine games in the Quad-City Conference with the remainder being played in the new Mississippi Valley Conference. Of the eight teams in the Valley Conference two, Clinton and Iowa City, were not included on the season schedule.

Last year's squad, with a nucleus of eight returning lettermen, copped the Quad-City Conference championship. Prospects are high for a repeat performance with four returning men from last year's mound crew. Playing their first year with the varsity, Bill Masengarb and Bob Mason have taken over two outfield positions.

"Come on babe, put 'er in here," pleads Catcher, as Shortstop Jeff Buck prepares to "paste the old apple."

Coach Lou Nachbauer tried to line up more tilts than the scheduled seven games in order that the sophomore squad might gain needed experience for varsity action next year. With 32 boys out for sophomore ball, Coach Nachbauer looked forward to his third season at the soph reins.

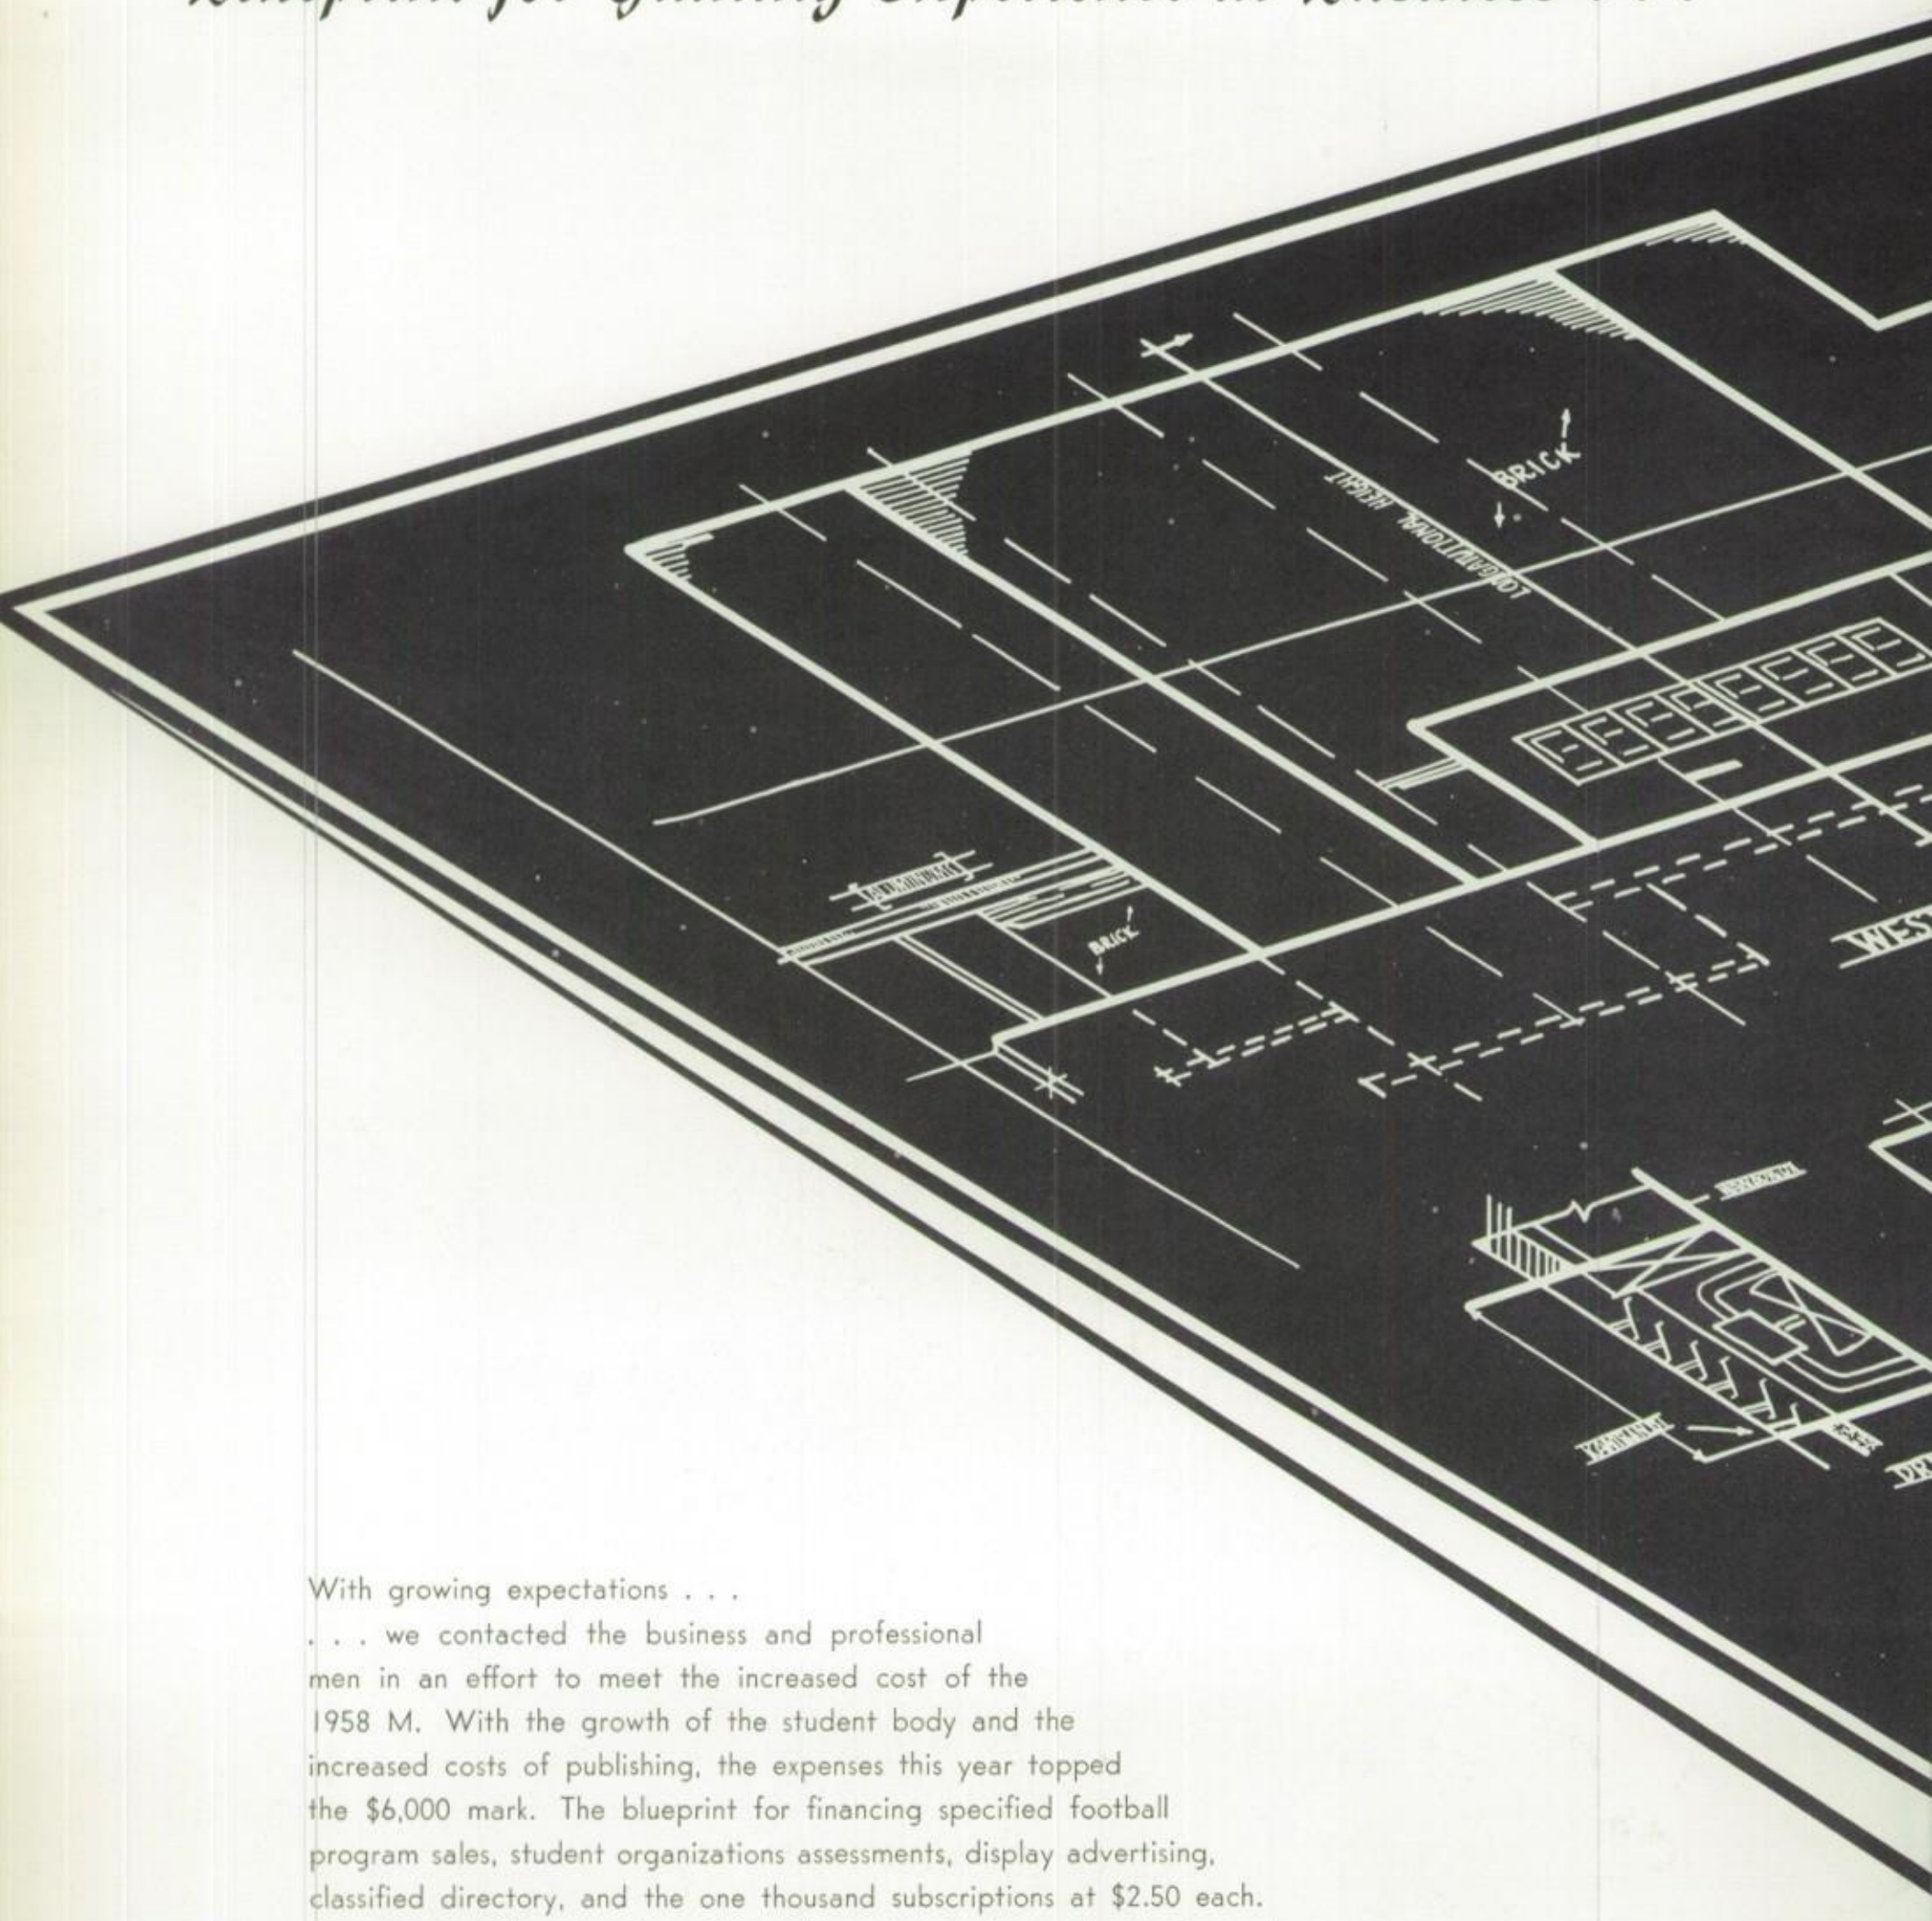
Blueprint for Gaining Experience in Business . . .



With growing expectations . . .
. . . we contacted the business and professional men in an effort to meet the increased cost of the 1958 M. With the growth of the student body and the increased costs of publishing, the expenses this year topped the $6,000 mark. The blueprint for financing specified football program sales, student organizations assessments, display advertising, classified directory, and the one thousand subscriptions at $2.50 each. In contacting the advertisers the staff members gained a knowledge and understanding of the business and professional world.

MOLINE PUBLIC HOSPITAL SCHOOL OF NURSING

The school of Nursing at Moline Public Hospital offers a 3-year program for women only. It is fully accredited with the Department of Registration and Education in Illinois. Affiliated with Moline Community College, the school offers courses in the basic sciences: Anatomy and Physiology, Microbiology, Chemistry, Psychology, Physics, and Sociology, for which 20 college credits are given. The nursing subjects entitle the student to an additional 40 hours of college credits towards a degree, if she might choose to further her education.

Moline Public Hospital is fully accredited by the Joint Commission for Hospital Accreditation. It offers an approved 2-year course in the School for X-Ray Technicians.

Interested young women should contact the Director of Nurses. Freshman Students are admitted to the school in September of each year.

A HOME

At the left are listed several of the milestones in your career after high school graduation. They may not be listed in the correct order for each of this class. But most surely they will occur to a large number of you as shown.

Be that as it may, whenever you arrive at the milestone of a new home of your own, you are invited to come to Consumers to select permanent-type building materials. For Consumers' reliable materials will take you trouble-free through the many remaining milestones of your lifetime.

A TIME FOR REFLECTION

Perhaps now . . . upon the eve of your graduation, it would be appropriate to spend a few minutes reflecting upon the life you are preparing to leave.

Parading in front of you at this moment may be the faces of friends you have made . . . the good times you have had (and the rough ones, too) . . . the athletic events . . .

You can't bring them back except in your memories and through the pages of this book . . .

a book that will, in a short time, become more valuable to you than just a mere number of printed pages. It will become your mirror . . . a mirror that will help bring back the hallowed days . . .

in your times of reflection.

CONGRATULATIONS

. . . to the GRADUATING CLASS of '58

AND AS YOU LEAVE
HIGH SCHOOL —

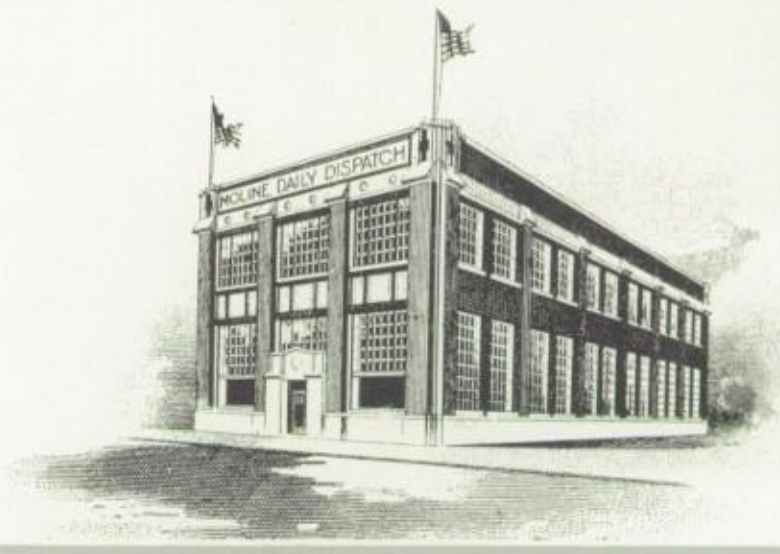
- Your Pals
- Your Friends
- Your Teachers
- Your Coaches

. . . may you be ever mindful of the pleasant years spent at Moline High. We also wish you continued success in whatever line of endeavor you choose to enter.

And last, but not least,
remember the FOUR FREEDOMS —

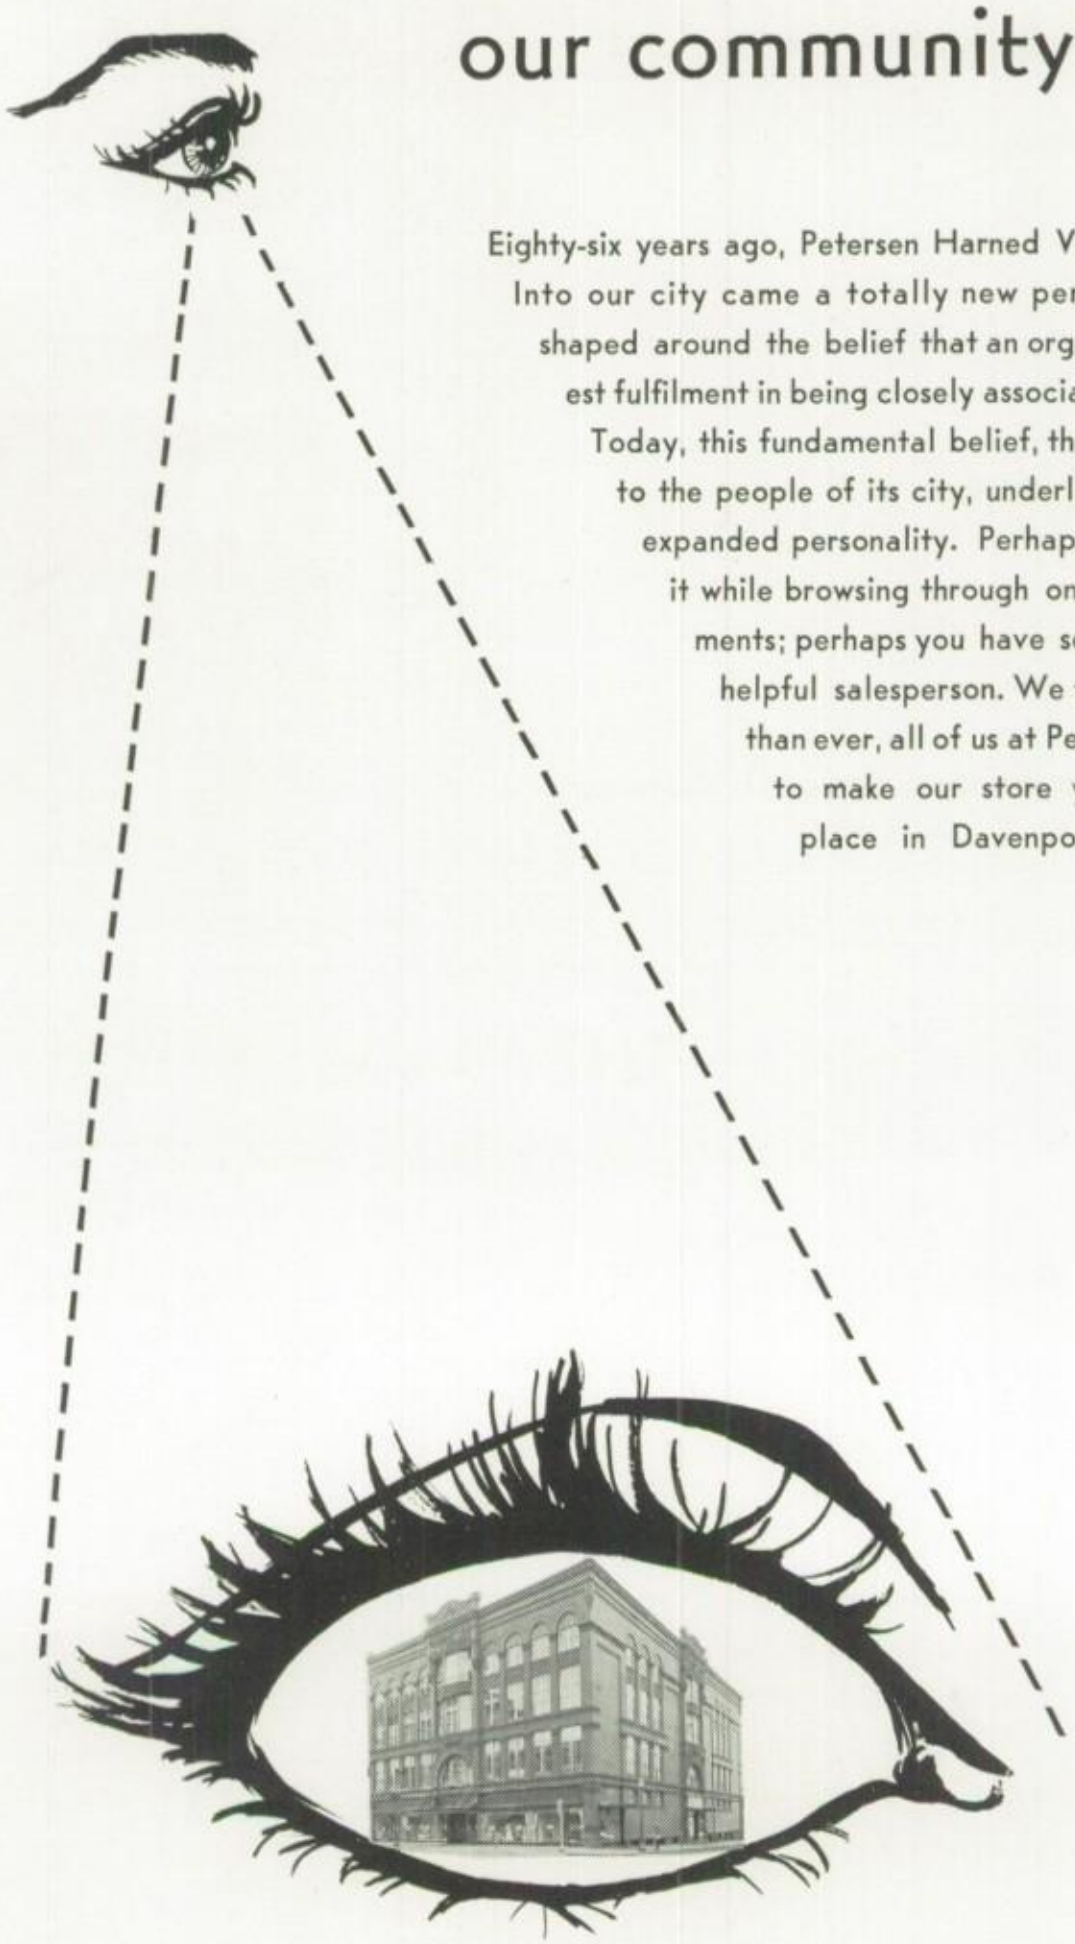
- Freedom of Worship
- Freedom of Speech
- Freedom from Fear
- Freedom from Want

Fight for them wherever you may be . . . so that every man, woman and child may henceforth live in peace and security.



The Moline Daily Dispatch

We see ourselves and our community as one



Eighty-six years ago, Petersen Harned Von Maur was founded. Into our city came a totally new personality, created and shaped around the belief that an organization finds its greatest fulfilment in being closely associated with its community. Today, this fundamental belief, this sense of responsibility to the people of its city, underlies PHVM's broadened, expanded personality. Perhaps you yourself have felt it while browsing through one of the many departments; perhaps you have seen it in the smile of a helpful salesperson. We truly hope so! For, more than ever, all of us at Petersen's are determined to make our store your favorite shopping place in Davenport.
